Subject Town Hall Meeting - Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial
Location Barnard Auditorium - LBJ
Show Time As Tentative

The Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Commission and the General Services Administration will be the Department of Education's guests on Thursday, September 14 at 2 p.m. to provide an update on the Eisenhower Memorial (Memorial).

For those who are not familiar with the planning for the Memorial, the selected site includes the plaza area in front of the Department of Education Building. Construction of the Memorial, designed by noted architect Frank Gehry, is expected to kick off this fall. Come to the Town Hall Meeting and learn more about this important project, and about the impacts and benefits to the Department of Education that it will bring. There will be an opportunity to ask questions at the end of the presentation.

This event will also be broadcast live on Mediasite and EDstream at the following links: HYPERLINK "http://mediasite.ed.gov/Mediasite/Play/4aab3cfa4e e64aa8ad5812c3924d149a1d?catalog=f9af039e-2ea3-4efb-9e35-f87c3777de0b"Mediasite and HYPERLINK "http://edstream.ed.gov/webcast/Play/f6df788fc7d54 6e7a46d7d8c07f390eb1d"Edstream.

Subject Making a Living in the 21st Century and the Implications for U.S. National Human Capital Strategy
Location Secretary's Conference Room (OS Managed)
Show Time As Tentative

Ms. DiFrancesco will recap her work presented at Harvard in Spring 2016 on the underlying shifts in the labor market and what the macro global trends will mean for the future of work in the US. She will explore the fundamentals elements of a human capital strategy, the goals of a national strategy and the implications for public policy including education, immigration, job training and healthcare. This session will be a comprehensive look at the value of human capital to the US economy and how to make investments in human capital that can maximize the value to the American people.

Speaker Jeanne DiFrancesco is the author of the ProOrbis® Method and serves as the Chief Executive Officer of ProOrbis, LLC, as well as an executive advisor to a wide range of ventures in aerospace, cyber security, energy, and life sciences. Ms. DiFrancesco is one of the world's leading experts in the economic valuation of intangibles including assets such as human capital, brands, technology, intellectual property and missions for the government and non-profit sectors. With over 30 years of executive and strategic level experience, Ms. DiFrancesco has

Importance: High

Thank you for volunteering to serve as a PO Coordinator/Alternate for the Department's 2017 Combined Federal Campaign (CFC). The theme for this year's campaign is "Show Some Love". As you know, CFC makes it possible for charitable organizations to provide a myriad of supports and services to their communities, and it is the largest and most successful workplace fundraising campaign in the world. With universal giving, you can designate a contribution to any of the 20,000 charities nationwide in the CFC catalog.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Now that the CFC donor portal is operational, ED's CFC efforts will be ramping up very quickly. First and foremost, we need each of you to begin identifying employees in your organization to serve as key workers. Key workers are essential to each PO's efforts to reach their individual goals, as well as to the overall success of the Department's campaign. For that reason, it is imperative that you recruit enthusiastic and motivated key workers who will go above and beyond to help ensure that your organization meets these goals.

There are currently two training sessions scheduled for Coordinators/Alternates and key workers and we strongly encourage you and your key workers to attend one of the sessions. There are a lot of changes to CFC this year, so even if you have served as a Coordinator or key worker in previous years, there is still new information that you will need to know. The information for the training sessions is as follows:

Tuesday, November 7, 2017 at 1:30 p.m. in LBJ room 1W126

Wednesday, November 8, 2017 at 10:00 am in LBJ room 1W114

Since training is scheduled for next week, we ask that you send the names of your key workers to Keisha Canty by COB Wednesday, November 1st and that you share the information about the training with them. We will send out a meeting invitation for the training, but in the meantime it would be helpful if you and your key workers could block off some time on your calendars to attend one of the sessions.

We will also be scheduling a preliminary meeting with you to discuss the campaign and kick-off, as well as share the Department and individual PO goals.

If you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to reach out. Thanks!

Subject Meeting w/ General Counsel of DePaul University, Jose Padilla

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Location TBD

Show Time As Tentative

Rob Lehman and his client Jose Padilla (General Counsel of DePaul University) would like to learn the Secretary's/your perspective on higher ed policy. Just a meet and greet—no ask. Rob is a friend of Dougie and Dougie asked you to do this meeting.
From: "Lehman, Rob" < HYPERLINK "mailto:Rob.Lehman@wilmerhale.com" Rob.Lehman@wilmerhale.com>

Subject: Possible meeting with you
Dougie,
I hope you're doing well. I wanted to see if you might be willing to meet with me and the General Counsel of DePaul University, Jose Padilla. Jose is interested in learning your perspectives (and the Secretary's) on higher education policy. Jose is in town and available on Monday, November 13th or Tuesday, November 14th: from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00. I don't believe at this time there is any ask, just a meet and greet. I will also take him over to meet with David Cleary who is Sen. Alexander's Staff Director on HELP Committee.
Thank you so much for considering this request.

Time 10:00 AM – 11:00 AM
Subject All-Staff Meeting and CFC Kick-Off Event
Location Barnard Auditorium
Show Time As Tentative

Dear Colleagues,

Please join me on Thursday, November 16, from 10:00 to 11:00 a.m. (Eastern Time), in Barnard Auditorium for an All Staff meeting and the official kick-off of this year's Combined Federal Campaign (CFC).

This meeting will encourage you to "Show Some Love" and seek out charitable causes that you may identify with and can support as the holiday season approaches. This will also be a good opportunity to meet and hear updates from our new senior staff members throughout the Department.

I look forward to seeing many of you there.

Thanks,
Betsy

Good afternoon,

We hope that you were able to attend today's All-Staff Meeting/CFC Kick-Off event and Charity Fair. We had a great turnout and the event went really well.

Now that we have officially kicked-off ED's campaign, we would like to meet to talk about the campaign moving forward and hope you can join us for the meeting on Tuesday.

Thanks!

Patrick and Chris

"Diversity is the one true thing we all have in common. Celebrate it every day." - Author Unknown

The Diversity and Inclusion Council's mission is to embrace and work to achieve a culture that promotes diversity among employees and supervisors of the Department; to encourage collaboration, flexibility, and fairness; and to leverage unique views throughout the agency so that all individuals are able to participate and contribute to their full potential.

Everyone,

I invite you to join me in continuing our quest to attract, recruit, and retain a diverse and inclusive workforce that represents the people we serve, America's students. The first 2018 D&I Council meeting is scheduled for Thursday, January 18, from 1:30 – 3:00pm.

Under the new charter, each POC has a senior leadership seat at the table, for the POC leader or his/her SES designee. If you are unable to attend, please let me know who will be attending for you. We really need leaders with passion, creativity, and energy, to help us make a difference in 2018!!

Employee and Affinity Group Council Members,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Welcome back! I look forward to working with you as well as we kick off the 2018 season! Let's go!

The agenda, updated charter, and any other prep materials will be added to this invitation by Friday, January 12.

Thanks in advance for your commitment and support,
Denise

Hello,

Thank you for working with us as we retrofitted the conference room. I would like to meet with you and your team to review some of the functionality, and to cover how to schedule Skype for Business meetings in the space. The attached guide covers the touch panel operations which can be used as a reference.

The room's Skype for Business account is listed in the invite as a participant. This way when we review the room we can see how the Skype for Business scheduling works first hand.

When we meet I would also like to receive a list of team members you would like managing reservations managed for the space. Also, if you would like the room mailbox hidden from the Outlook Global Address List.

Thanks again,

Justin

Hello Jason

I hope this email finds you well – I'm sure it finds you busy!

We met last June, when I brought formerly homeless students to meet with you to discuss their educational challenges and their successes. It was a great experience for our students, and a few of them even wrote about it, HYPERLINK "https://www.schoolhouseconnection.org/on-being-noticed-feeling-safe-and-finding-strength-in-community/" here.

I'm writing to see if you might have time for a short meeting. I'd like to brief you on a new national campaign to improve high school graduation rates and post-secondary attainment for children and youth experiencing homelessness. Much of the campaign will focus on implementing the excellent new provisions for homeless students in ESSA. We will be joined by three other national organizations on the campaign, including America's Promise Alliance and Civic Enterprises. The launch will be the opening night of SXSW EDU.

In addition, we are close to finalizing details of a national Governors Challenge on Student Homelessness, in partnership with the National Governors Association, which we hope to announce at the campaign launch.

Lastly, I'd also like to share some thoughts about current inter-agency collaborations, particularly with respect to HUD and HHS.

Thanks very much for considering this request!

Take care,
Barbara

Gift Funds Team,

This meeting will be canceled this week, since most of our team will be out of pocket. Please remember to review the updates to the process that Morris sent out and remember that the White House Initiative on Excellence in Hispanic Education Emmanuel Caudillo will attend the meeting next week. He is coming in so we can explain the process to him and answer any questions he might have. See you all next week.

Dear Dr. Wooten and Ms. Dickinson,

Thank you for this introduction and for facilitating this possible interaction---the educational leadership of both states greatly appreciate the continued support and excitement that the US Department of Education emits under the leadership of Secretary DeVos! I did talk to our scheduling staff and they have informed me that the group could meet with you/OCTAE/possibly Secretary DeVos to present key SREB findings anytime on Wednesday (4/11). If we could also swing a photograph with Secretary DeVos this year (this particular group wasn't able to do this last year, but another group we also serve, the Rural Community College Alliance, was able to get a photo last year with Secretary DeVos---so it has been something that this group has been asking for, but we understand that the Secretary's schedule is extremely busy), that could happen anytime Monday (4/9) after 10:30 AM, Tuesday (4/10) anytime except 1 PM-3 PM (when Senators Shelby and Cochran's staff will be hosting the congressional briefing that releases key SREB findings), or Wednesday (4/11) anytime.

I can send a list of the names of attendees and the institutions they represent if you need that for security purposes. I will be sure to promptly respond to anything that you need from me. If there are times that work but are not proposed above, please feel free to let me know, and I will try my level best to communicate this and make it work.

Thanks again!

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Subject: Alabama/Mississippi Community Colleges // Southern Regional Education Board

Dear Mr. Botel,

I hope you are doing more than well. As you may remember, last year, you had helped the Alabama and Mississippi Community College Policy Fellows, a group of administrators from all 39 community colleges in the states of Alabama and Mississippi, meet with key officials in the US Department of Education (Lynne Mahaffie, Kim Ford). Thank you for that wonderful and insightful opportunity, as our states' educational leadership felt greatly inspired by the interaction. This year, the research arms of this group, the University of Alabama's Education Policy Center and Mississippi State University's Stennis Institute of Government, have been invited by Senator Shelby and Senator Cochran's staff to release findings from the latest study of Pell Grants (commissioned by the Southern Regional Education Board) at a Congressional Briefing next Tuesday (4/10) at 1:00 PM in the Dirksen Office Building. Due to this unique event, Presidents from the community colleges of Alabama and Mississippi, the Administration of the states' flagship institutions, and the President of the Southern Regional Education Board will all be in Washington. I was wondering if there would be any possibilities for one or both of the following.

(1) Top Administrators in this group also present findings from the SREB study to Hon. DeVos, Jason Botel, other top officials in the Department on the afternoon of April 11, 2018 (or any other time during 4/9-4/11)
(2) Administrators and Presidents from all 39 Community Colleges of Alabama and Mississippi, Presidents of Flagship Institutions of AL/MS, President and Administrators of the Southern Regional Education Board take a quick photograph with Hon. DeVos and Assistant Secretary Jason Botel on the afternoon of April 11, 2018 (or any other time during 4/9-4/11)
I fully understand that your schedule and the Secretary's schedule are very full and beyond busy, so I totally understand if you have to decline this invitation. As you know, I truly value the work that the Department carries out under Secretary DeVos, so I just find it my moral responsibility to keep you abreast of any opportunities for positive community engagement.

I do have control over the group's schedule, so I can move things around if there are better days/times. The group will be in Washington from Monday (4/9) at noon to Wednesday (4/11) evening. The group's schedule will prioritize the US Secretary of Education's schedule and predilections should any interaction be possible. I can be sure to accommodate any requests or directives that you may have.

Thank you so much for your help over the past year. And thank you for your continued dedication to uplifting the citizens of our nation through education and access. It is only a select few who continue to fight the good fight, despite the many significant challenges.

Take care,

Al

Adding room number.

Hi all – the purpose of the meeting is for Exec Sec to learn more about how you track and respond to invitations or scheduling requests. As we have been working on Freedom of Information Act requests that include invitations to the Secretary, we realize it would be helpful to know more about your processes, so that we can determine whether you might have responsive records to incoming FOIA requests. Thanks!

Dougie and Nathan,

I wanted to connect you with Todd Chewing, Executive Director for the NHGOP. Todd will be coordinating all logistics for the event with Ms. DeVos on 5/14. Before going back and forth over email about this event, I suggest we all get on a call to walk through the day and what will be needed during the lead up. Does everyone have time tomorrow to get on the phone and chat? I am free up from 930 – 330. Please let me know what works best for everyone and I will circulate a number for us to use.

Looking forward to working with everyone on this.

Show Time As Tentative

Good afternoon,

Please see the attached documents containing the data points we will discuss during the HR StatED meeting. As you'll recall from our prior correspondence, the HR StatED meetings will be held quarterly to discuss the data points surrounding accomplishment of human capital objectives as well as any challenges and resource needs.

If you have not done so already, please confirm whether or not you will be able to attend the meeting by COB Wednesday, May 9, 2018.

We look forward to a collaborative discussion as we kick off the first HR

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

StatED Leadership meeting.

Regards,

Bianca

Subject: Phone Call with Sec. DeVos & Mr. McNerney

Hi Ellen –

I hope this message finds you well. By way of brief introduction I work Secretary DeVos at the U.S. Department of Education.

Sec. DeVos sat with Mr. McNerney at the May Kennedy Center Board of Trustees Luncheon and is interested in following up with their conversation by phone.

Would Mr. McNerney by available the afternoon of Tuesday, June 5 by chance? The Secretary is free at 4:30 p.m. EDT.

My contact information is below should you prefer to discuss by phone.

Thank you –

Sarah

Pre-meeting to discuss Stillman College issue prior to call with hill -- 7E312 and participant (b)(6)

(b)(6)

Updated: we'll be meeting in OUS Conference room 7E312.

Hi Everyone,

OLCA received a request from the Ed and Workforce Committee Majority (Foxx) staff requesting to speak with Don Watson, ED's Executive Director of the HBCU Capital Financing Program, on "the fate of Stillman College". Specifically, they want to learn any options available to Stillman in receiving continued forbearance on their delinquent loan repayment and what may happen to the College if no other options are available. It is our guess that Stillman is putting pressure on Congressional members to intercede on their behalf and we may hear from others.

Don let us know that Stillman had requested continued forbearance on this debt in a letter to the Secretary and recently learned that ED does not have the statutory authority to provide a forbearance option.

(b)(5)

Please let me know if you have any questions or if others should be included in this discussion.

Thank you.

Regards,
-Scott

Briefing: The Condition of Education and Indicators of School Crime & Safety with NCES -- Barnard-LBJ and Online
Please join colleagues to learn about the findings in two new reports from the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), including The Condition of Education 2017 and Indicators of School Crime and Safety.

June 1, 10-11 am ET
Barnard Auditorium, LBJ Building, and on Mediasite* and EDstream* (links are below) with captioning.

The Condition of Education 2017 summarizes important developments and trends in education using the latest available data. The report presents 50 key indicators on topics ranging from early childhood through postsecondary education, as well as international comparisons and labor force outcomes.

The Indicators of School Crime and Safety report covers topics such as victimization, bullying, school conditions, student perceptions of personal safety at school, and criminal incidents at postsecondary institutions.

The presentation will include a wide range of data applicable to many ED programs, including early childhood education, elementary and secondary education, and postsecondary education.

Presenters:

Peggy Carr, Acting Commissioner, NCES, NCES overview and introduction to annual reports
Joel McFarland, Project Director, Condition of Education overview
Lauren Musu-Gillette, Project Director, Indicators of School Crime and Safety overview

Questions and Answers, moderated by Tom Snyder, Director of Annual Reports and Information Staff

NCES is mandated to report to Congress on the condition of education each year. The NCES mission is, "...to collect, analyze, and disseminate statistics and other information related to education in the United States and in other nations...." NCES strives to develop high-quality, customer-driven products and to be fully engaged with the education community to gain a full understanding of the data needs and interests of our customers.

Subject: Coming to DC, please respond

Hi Sarah, I have written three other emails regarding a 15 min visit with the Secretary without any response to date :). I am coming to the NASBE Conference and will be available June 8 and 9 if she can see me. She told me that she would meet up with me and this is my next and probably last chance this year to come to DC on State of Alaska business. Her opportunity to right a wrong done by the prior administration to keep a Christian college from closing is upon us....please respond if we can meet or at least find a phone call conversation to bring her up to date on the issue. This is a critical matter. My thanks- blessings, Keith

Jan,
Good evening. It was great to speak with you yesterday about CHEA. At this time we are not able to give an answer on your summer workshop, but hope to be in touch in the next week or so.
In the meantime, due to scheduling conflicts we are not able to schedule a meeting for Judith with Secretary DeVos, but I wanted to connect you to Jon Alfuth. He works with Jim Manning. We were hoping Judith might be able to meet with Jim Manning and Bob Eitel sometime in the next few weeks. Could you send Jon a few dates that Judith is available to meet and he can look to see what will work for a meeting?
Thank you,

FW: Meeting with U.S. Dept. of Education / United States Digital Service -- WDCFB6-7C101

Adding Jim and Erin in the event either are able to join the brief meeting this afternoon.

From: Ebony.Lee@ed.gov
When: 3:30 PM - 4:00 PM June 12, 2017
Subject: Meeting with U.S. Dept. of Education / United States Digital Service
Location: WDCFB6-7C101

Good morning,

Ebony received this meeting request and thought you all should join as well. The information for the meeting is below.

As a brief background, the U.S. Digital Service is a small group of technologists from leading companies in the private sector. We're engineers, product managers, researchers, and interface designers who join the government for term-limited tours of duty to help improve the digital products and services that citizens use every day. In addition to our small team at ED, there are Digital Service teams at the VA, HHS, DHS, DoD, SBA, and other agencies.

If you and your staff have 30 to 45 minutes in the next week or two, our team would welcome the opportunity to show you results of some projects we've worked on at ED and describe others we're looking forward to accomplishing in the future.

Mr. Manning will be introduced by Anne Kress, President, Monroe CC, NY.

We would like the Acting Under Secretary to speak for about fifteen minutes on the priorities and activities of the Trump Administration as they affect community colleges. There will be about 65 attendees and they know most of the basic facts about the proposed GFY 2018 budget and other items. (b)(5)

We will allow ten minutes for questions.

The event will be held in the Admiral Ballroom of the Embassy Row Hotel, 2015 Mass Ave NW.

Please let me know if you have any questions. My cell is 202.256.5721 and I check my email all too often.

David

Please see the attached speaking invitation. While we heartily apologize for the extremely short notice, we hope that perhaps you can make this event. We had hoped that Secretary DeVos could have joined us, but learned earlier in the week that her schedule did not allow it.

Please let me know if you have any questions, and we look forward to hearing back from you.

Meeting Name: MEETING: SchoolHouse Connection-Barbara Duffield
Date: June 13th 3:30PM-4PM
Location: Secretary's Conference Room– Large Group [20 people]
Purpose: The purpose of the meeting is to have a discussion with eleven students from across the country who have overcome many obstacles associated with homelessness in their preK-12 education, including frequent and unpredictable moves, trauma, deep poverty, neglect, abuse and abandonment. Despite the enormous challenges in their childhoods, the students are currently sophomores or juniors in college. Many are still struggling with instability and lack of family/adult support as they try to complete their college education. Four peers leaders who have made it through graduation also will participate.

Subject: Meeting Request - President of Trine University - June 12-13-14
Dear Sarah, Jon and Jessica,

We represent Trine University which is a private, non-profit, post-secondary institution with its main campus located in Angola, Indiana. The school was founded in 1884, and offers degrees in the arts and sciences, business, education and engineering. Trine University is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission and is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. Trine University is consistently ranked among the best universities in the Midwest by U.S. News & World Report and the Princeton Review.

Dr. Earl Brooks, the President of Trine University, will be in Washington, DC the afternoon (3pm or later) of Monday June 12th, Tuesday June 13th and the morning (before 1pm) of Wednesday June 14th. I wanted to see if we could arrange a short introductory meeting with Dr. Brooks and Acting Undersecretary Jim Manning during one of these days?

Additional background information on Trine University is attached to this email.

I greatly appreciate your consideration of this meeting request.

Sincerely,

Congressman Mike Castle (Ret.)

Subject: Hello and Meeting with California Community Colleges

Hi Jim,

I hope you and the ED team are doing well. First, many Congratulations! I was so glad to hear you were leading the Office of the Under Secretary and also imagine it matters a great deal to the ED staff to have someone who fully understands the complexities of student aid and postsecondary education at the helm.

After recently relocating to California, I just started work with the California Community Colleges. While I am excited about the work, I do really miss my ED colleagues. I will always consider it a privilege to have worked with such a dedicated and talented team both at FSA and Big ED.

I am also reaching out in hopes that you will be available to meet with the Vice Chancellor from the California Community College System, Laura Metune (CC'd here). She will be in DC mid-June for a visit if that is possible. The Chancellor's office here is doing some great work around higher education, workforce development, and financial aid that Laura was hoping to share and would also appreciate hearing if there is anything the Chancellor's office can do to support ED's efforts to ensure better outcomes for community college students.

Including staff to help schedule and also happy to fill out a formal request if that is needed.

Many thanks and hope to see you when I am next in D.C.

Topics of Conversation:

Gainful Employment (Two issues)
1 - The need for significant Department action to provide relief from the regulation prior to July 1st (Further delay, new negotiated rulemaking announced, etc...)
2 - Data corrections for two schools in PA that were provided rates from the Department under the Obama Administration that had the schools' loan debt data literally TWICE as high as it really is (Laurel Business/Technical Institute and South Hills Business/Technical School)

Borrowers Defense to Repayment - The need for the Department to provide relief on the regulation prior to July 1st (Further delay, new negotiated rulemaking announced, etc...)

ACICS (Two issues)
1 - Either provide ACICS an option to correct any concerns and remain

a recognized accreditor
2 - If ACICS is not provided an opportunity to remain recognized, then the Department needs to consider further relief to schools that are in transition pursuing new accreditation (Much like the Department recently provided to ACICS schools). We have surveyed our schools going through this transition and have some information to provide.

EAGLE HORIZON
(EH) 2017 1 v3.p...

Eagle Horizon is an annual continuity exercise that examines the federal government's ability to perform its essential functions, account for staff in an emergency, and evaluate reconstitution plans. The Federal Department's/Agencies (D/A's) are required to participate in order to meet the annual exercise requirements set forth in the National Security Presidential Directive 51/Homeland Security Presidential Directive 20 and the Federal Continuity Policy 1 (FCD-1). This exercise works to ensure federal D/A's are focusing on the Federal organizations' continuity of operations programs, while improving the agencies plans.

Please make every effort to attend.

Colleagues

This is the kick off meeting for one of the FY 2019 Budget work group meeting. As you saw in my email (attached), we are setting up four work groups made up of political and career staff that will review proposals and develop options papers around the following areas: FY 2019 proposed eliminations or reductions, school choice-related activities, higher education programs, and career and technical education programs.

Please see the attached document which describes the timeline for this work group as well as key questions that will impact the final options that we will recommend to the Secretary for potential inclusion in the Department's FY 2019 request to OMB. During this meeting, we will discuss key issues in this area, policy and budget options that could address these issues, and work assignments for finalizing our recommendations.

Subject: RE: Tunisia Minister of Education request to meet Secretary DeVos

Sambia,

Hello again from State! We've heard from the Tunisians that they are again hoping to come to town for official meetings. The Minister of Higher Education will be in DC on June 27, and has requested a meeting with the Department of Education (Topics: American expertise in education reforms - learning methods- counter radicalization programs). Given his rank, we of course would like to request the Secretary as his counterpart, but understand this is again a last minute request.

A further note: Back in April, we were expecting the Minister of Education who has responsibility for primary and secondary education (he has since been dismissed/resigned). Now we are expecting a different individual who is the Minister of Higher Education and acting Minister of Education, so he has a broader purview covering the entire education spectrum.

Again, my apologies for passing along another short-fuse meeting request, and thank you in advance for your help. Let us know what meeting we might be able to secure for the Tunisians.

Sarah

Subject: FW: Meeting Request: American Indian Tribal Colleges

Greetings Mr. Manning,
Thank you very much for meeting with Wes Huffman and me last month to talk about Tribal Colleges. When we met, I mentioned that most of the nation's Tribal College presidents will be in D.C. this month, and I invited you to come to our meeting and speak to the presidents. I had intended to send this more formal invitation weeks ago, but I failed to do so. I am very upset about that, and I apologize. I am writing today to ask whether you would be available to address the TCU presidents NEXT WEEK, on Tuesday, June 27, at about 9:15 or 9:30 a.m. (or any time that is convenient to you), to share a little about the priorities of the Department and Secretary DeVos' education agenda. I would anticipate about 15 minutes or so of remarks, and then time for a dialogue with the presidents. I realize this request is horribly late, but I sincerely hope that you are able to do this. To make your participation as easy as possible, we are meeting at a very convenient location: directly across from the Department of Education at the Holiday Inn-Washington Capitol, in the Congressional II room.

Earlier in the year, we had invited Secretary DeVos to join us, but unfortunately, her office informed us a few weeks ago that she cannot make it. As I mentioned, we hope that you can join us, as the presidents arranged their summer meeting here in DC specifically to meet with key leaders in the Administration. (Normally, we meet in DC in February, but since few Administration officials were in place at that time, the presidents decided to come back this summer.) I am also inviting Dr. James Laws from the Strengthening Institutions Division and Ron Lessard, from the White House Initiative on AI/AN Education; however, it is you from whom the presidents want to hear. We have told them about you and your critical role within the Department of Education, and they would welcome the opportunity to meet you, share a little about what they are doing, and of course, to thank you for your commitment to public service.

I am attaching a letter of invitation, along with the letter we previously sent to Secretary DeVos and a copy of the draft Executive Order on Tribal College. I am enclosing the draft EO because one of the presidents may ask about that, but they are primarily interested in the Title III program.

I look forward to hearing from you, and again, my apologizes for this horrendously late request. Thanks very much, clb

PS: When we invited Secretary DeVos, we requested that she meet with us on Monday, June 26. It turns out that Tuesday morning, June 27, is a better date for us, so if she happens to be available that morning, it would be wonderful to meet her. As I mentioned when we met, because some of the TCUs have charter schools and their own private K-8 schools, our thoughts on school choice are different from most American Indian tribes/organizations. We actually would like to figure out a way to ensure that institutions of higher education, such as Tribal Colleges, can participate in school choice strategies.

My name is Carrie Billy, and I work with the nation's 37 Tribal Colleges and Universities, which are tribally- and federally-chartered institutions of higher education serving American Indian and Alaska Native (AI/AN) students other rural residents, primarily on Indian reservations in 16 states. Would you have time over the next week or two to meet with me to discuss a few issues important to Tribal Colleges and American Indian/Alaska Native higher education issues generally? I would appreciate it. We have worked closely with all Administrations in the past, and we hope to continue working together to advance education and workforce development goals, both for AI/ANs and for the entire nation.

I am particularly interested in discussing the potential for an Executive Order on Tribal Colleges and Universities, similar to the Executive Order signed by President George W. Bush. (President Obama refused to sign a separate Tribal College Executive Order, and instead signed a broader, more vague EO on "Strengthening American Indian Education.") I am attaching a draft EO and letter that we sent to President Trump earlier this year.

Thanks very much for your time and attention, and best of luck to you in your new position. Take care, clb

BRIEFING DOCUMENT

DATE OF MEETING: Wednesday, June 28, 10am-11am

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

SUBJECT: OUS/WHIs Intern Gathering

OFFICE: 7E312

PURPOSE OF MEETING

The purpose of the meeting is to bring together the OUS and WHIs interns to meet each other and the OUS/WHIs staff.

We invite the Acting Under-Secretary to come to the gathering and providing a few remarks, mostly welcoming the interns to OUS and speaking about his work.

Tentative Schedule:

10:00-10:20a: WHI Staff and interns arrive

10:20a-10:25a: Jim Manning provides welcoming remarks

10:25-10:40a: WHI Initiatives introduce themselves and what they do

10:40-11am: Staff and interns remain to speak with each other until conclusion of the gathering.

We will have snacks for the event.

BACKGROUND SUMMARY

While each office has interns, there is no formal gathering to bring together and have them meet the other White House Initiatives. This gathering is meant as a way for the interns to meet OUS/WHI staff. The initiatives have about 1-4 interns working in their office this summer

FW: Conversations About Leading, Transition to a New Administration Part II: What We're Learning -- LBJ Education Building, 5C100

Jim, Really good to see you this morning at Union Station! Nate Bailey said he did send you an email about being on the panel for the Conversation About Leading on transition, set forth in the invitation below. Please let me know if you can be on the panel. In addition to Candice Jackson, I believe Bob Eitel will represent the political staff along with you if you are available. Keeping fingers crossed. This is a conversation of significant importance to career staff who very much want to have a collaborative relationship with political staff as we move forward in our work past the transition.

Conversation About Leading

on

Transition to a New Administration Part II: What We're Learning

WHAT

In January of this year, just prior to the arrival of the new administration's staff at ED, CAL hosted the session Transition Part I: Preparation, the results of which are attached. Both the Partnership for Public Service and the Federal Communicators Network found our approach to and the results of that conversation to be a model for how to think about and accomplish a transition. As you will see, our focus as career staff was on building relationships with new colleagues to ensure the best results for our work on one of the most important endeavors of our country – an excellent education for all its people. At the end of the conversation on Jan. 11, participants agreed that we should have another conversation a few months later about the actual transition work's successes and challenges.

In that context and with the gain of six months of perspective, we will now engage in Transition Part 2: What We're Learning. This time, a mix of senior career and political staff will lead the conversation from their perspectives on the transition to date. The conversation will be framed by the following questions, for which we gratefully acknowledge Joe Conaty as the composer:

1. What went well?
2. What hasn't gone so well?
3. What would you do differently?
4. What would you not do?

The goal of the conversation is to gain lessons for going forward together in our work beyond the transition. Joe Conaty will kick off the conversation by responding to these questions and then extend the conversation to the rest of the panel. As with all CAL sessions, the participants will also engage in the conversation by asking questions of the panel and each other, and by addressing their own perspectives on the transition.

We can get ALMOST everyone for this July 12 slot (no Kala) according to their calendars – or wait until Friday July 14 at 2:00 when it looks as though everyone can make it.
I'll share the GAO material (agenda/questions for 7/19 mtg) with everyone as soon as it arrives.

Yes please Dianne, I think that's a good idea ~ Matt Sessa and Phil Rosenfelt are must attendees at the pre-meeting.

Hey Michelle - I've run in to a couple of glitches and the 19th isn't going to work after all ☹
What dates of July were you thinking about? FYI—IF the calendars I'm looking at for ED staff are up to date-there's 1 opening the first week, July 5, 2:30pm.
After that, there's no one day everyone's here before July 17.
Let me know what you come up with – again, sorry June 19 didn't hold out.

Hi Dianne,
I am so sorry, but something unavoidable has come up for some GAO folks on June 20. As you know, working with all of these schedules is challenging. Is it possible that the relevant ED staff would be available on Monday, June 19 at 9 am? If not, I will go through the calendars and offer up some possible July dates. My apologies for having to reschedule and thanks for your flexibility. I appreciate your help! Michelle

Brian Mueller
Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer
Grand Canyon University

Brian Mueller joined Grand Canyon University in July 2008 to usher in a new era for the institution – from an entrepreneurial venture to a market-supported private university. Taking the successes he experienced as a teacher and coach at the high school and small college level as well as his 22 years of experience at the Apollo Group (the parent company of University of Phoenix), Mueller has transformed GCU from a financially-troubled university into a nearly $4 billion institution that has become a driving force in higher education today.

As the university's president, CEO and chairman of the board, Mueller is progressive and anticipatory in an industry that is slow in adapting to change. Since joining GCU, Mueller has led a reinvention of the school's academic programs to align with high-growth fields such as computer science, information technology and engineering; he has helped develop operational efficiencies and fiscal responsibility that have enabled the university to freeze tuition on its Phoenix campus for nine straight years, ensuring that high-quality, private Christian education is affordable to all socioeconomic classes; and he has led efforts to revitalize west Phoenix through a series of public-private partnerships and initiatives that have had significant impacts on the community.

Since Mueller arrived, GCU has experienced unprecedented growth. Enrollment on the Phoenix campus has jumped from less than 1,000 to 17,500, while online enrollment has gone from 12,500 to 65,000. Mueller has also overseen a $1 billion expansion of the campus through new technologies, classrooms, laboratories, athletic facilities and student amenities.

Mueller's vision for Christian education draws from his own experiences as a student, teacher and coach in Christian schools. His passion is also seen in his inspiring Chapel service addresses, which draw standing-room only crowds at GCU Arena.

Prior to joining Grand Canyon University, Mueller was CEO of the University of Phoenix Online, when it grew from 3,000 students to 340,000 students in an eight-year time frame. He was eventually president of the Apollo Group, where the university as a whole grew to more than 450,000 students. Mueller began his higher education career as a professor at Concordia University. He earned a Master of Arts in Education and a Bachelor of Arts in Education from Concordia

Hi Jessica!

What more do you need from us on this request? As I mentioned below, Lisa Wardell is the CEO of Adtalem Global Education (formerly DeVry Education Group). Adtalem has a confidential, high-profile organizational change on the immediate horizon about which Lisa would like to personally brief the Secretary. A public announcement could occur as soon as the week of July 17, so we are sincerely hoping to get just a few minutes of the Secretary's time next week.

We would sincerely appreciate anything you could do to help get this scheduled.

Hi Sarah!

You may recall that we had a meeting scheduled for DeVry Education Group's CEO, Lisa Wardell, with the Secretary back in March that needed to be rescheduled. Since then, the main issue we were hoping to discuss at the time – gainful employment – has now become somewhat moot with the Secretary's very positive step to open a new negotiated rulemaking panel.

Since then, DeVry changed its corporate name to Adtalem Global Education, and Adtalem has a highly sensitive and what it expects will be high-profile organizational change on the horizon. Could we please request just a few minutes of the Secretary's time between now and July 15 to discuss this? We do not want the Secretary to be caught off-guard by anything she reads in the news, so Lisa Wardell would like to personally brief her in advance.

Many thanks,
Chris

ATTENDEES:
Raymund Paredes, Commissioner of Higher Education, Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

John Wyatt, Director of External Relations, Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

TOPIC:
The Commissioner would like to discuss issues that may be coming up in Congress, such as making federal financial aid more effective, increasing oversight of for-profit schools and colleges, and reducing student loan indebtedness

Texas is at the forefront of efforts to make higher education more affordable, more accessible, and more accountable for results. As Commissioner, Dr. Paredes oversees our state's efforts to innovate in higher education and help our 1.5 million students in higher education complete their credential and enter the workforce.

Subject: EFC Meeting Request re: Federal Servicing Loan Recompete

Dear Acting Undersecretary Manning,

Education Finance Council (EFC) represents all five of the nonprofit Direct Loan servicers currently under contract with the Department of Education. EFC and our member organizations are concerned about the May 19th revisions to Phase II of the Department's federal student loan servicing solicitation. I am writing to request a meeting to discuss our concerns and better understand the Department's rationale for these revision.

Thank you in advance for consideration of this request. I look forward to meeting with you.

9:00 AM - 10:00 AM	use the toll free number statement of facts attached: GAO joint exit conference on improper payment risk assessment (b)(6) - Conference call

I am writing to invite you to a joint exit conference call for a GAO study about improper payment risk assessment. OCFO is the lead office on the study. The call will be held on Wednesday, August 9, 2017, from 9:00 to 10:00 AM Eastern. GAO indicates that it will provide a Statement of Facts, but none is available at this time. In the event your office wants the Department to provide written comments on them after we receive them, please get those comments to April Bolton-Smith with a cc: to Margaret Guenther and Jim Houser ASAP so that they can be incorporated in the first draft of any draft comments Exec Sec distributes for review.

Here is GAO's call information:

- Conference number: (b)(6)
- Guest passcode: (b)(6)

GAO will want a list of attendees, but will likely not be able to do introductions in a large multiagency exit conference call like this. Please e-mail Margaret Guenther if you participate in the call so she can include you in an attendee list that goes to GAO after the call. (I will be out of the office that week.)

Please do not place the call on hold if you participate. The result of that is the Department of Education's "muzak" starts to play, disrupting the phone call. That can cause us to need to hang up and start the call again using a new call number and passcode. Please keep in mind that if you need to take an incoming phone call, you can hang up on the conference call, take the other call, and dial back in to the conference call.

Thank you.

Subject: Greetings from Soldotna and ACC
Hi Mr. Manning- hoping your summer is going well and you are finding time of refreshment as we are. We have been fishing with some luck- not like other years however when they practically jump into your boat....

I have left a few messages and hope to hear back from you very soon as the months of June and July when we had hope to hear back has passed....I have a Board of Trustees' meeting coming in August and I will need to provide for them an update. The best news would be a decision made by the DOE and DOJ that would finalize the 3.25 years we have waited for the final word on this situation. We, of course, following your personal review, would ask for all requirement of funds repayment be cancelled. This would be a win-win for all involved we believe. I can explain that more over the phone as well.

Please do respond with an update. I know you have inherited a very busy schedule and I would like to take one thing off of your plate with this being over. We are praying for all of what is happening here in this situation and for your Secretary and the leadership of ED during these times of transition. My thanks, Keith Hamilton

Subject: Responding to the Invitation from Secretary DeVos

Hi, Jim:

I hope all goes well with you – for sure, I don't worry about your waking up each morning looking for something to do!

I was delighted to have the chance to meet Secretary DeVos when Vice President Pence arranged for me to present Jobs for America's Graduates to the President and her a few weeks ago. She later met with our Board Chair, Governor Phil Bryant of Mississippi. She asked Governor Bryant to arrange a time for a more detailed briefing on JAG for her and the senior leadership of the Department of Education.

Attached is the earlier communication we sent responding to that invitation in hopes she might be able to help us connect with the scheduling staff to set the meeting. I know Governor Bryant would be pleased to join the meeting by phone if his schedule does not allow him to come to Washington.

We understand that George Sifakis, Director of the Office of Public Liaison for the President (who has known us and JAG for many years), has also been in touch with the Secretary's office about encouraging the meeting when schedules permit.

As always, we are grateful for your help. Let us know if there are any other steps we need to be taking on this matter.

Hi Jessica!

Could you please give us a few dates that may work in August for a meeting for Lisa Wardell and the Secretary? As you may recall, Lisa is very interested in setting down with the Secretary to discuss her higher education priorities and how Adtalem (formerly DeVry) can be of help to the Trump Administration.

I am working on the mod to operationalize the Scorecard in NSLDS to remove the process from Budget Service/OPEPD. They should be involved in the conversation as well as me because the decision to use the 6-digit OPEID vs the 8-digit location codes for Scorecard was made at the onset of the Scorecard process and much of that I believe has to do with a significant amount of the historical data for Scorecard not being consistently available at the 8-digit level. The current mod for NSLDS to calculate Scorecard starting in 2018 is still using the 6-digit OPEID process.

Hi, not sure who needs to be in the conversation but we have received several inquires about how score card data is currently presented...one issue is campuses with mutlitple OPE ID all being combined into one score with out footnotes or explanations the other has to due with something I am less familiar with – use of 8 digit vs 4 or 6 digit codes

One such letter is attached. Can we schedule a call in the next week or two with the right folks to discuss? THANKS

Kathleen, I hope you had a good 4th. Would it be possible in the coming weeks to have one of our clients (American Musical and Dramatic Academy) come meet with you on their concerns about GE. They are a nonprofit certificate granting school that is located in New York City that largely gets tripped up by the rule since their graduates are aspiring actors and performers that may struggle initially to obtain employment that allows their cohorts to meet the GE thresholds.
Likely attending on their part would be their CFO and general counsel. We are flexible given your schedule and realize time around the public comment meetings may be hectic. Thank you for considering this request. Alex.

Hi Everyone,

Confirming our pre-meet this afternoon to discuss the request for in-person hill briefing from the House Education and Workforce Committee and the House Appropriations Committee about the Loan Servicing Solicitation which will be scheduled in September.

FYI, we received the following from the Appropriations Committee asking if we can discuss the following at the hill briefing:

"Student Loan Servicing.-The agreement directs the Department to permit borrowers who are consolidating their student loans to choose from among all Federal student loan servicers when choosing a servicer for their new consolidated loans. The Department is expected to make common performance metrics available to borrowers to help guide their decision for which servicer to select. This will allow student borrowers to stay with their existing servicer if they wish to, limit unnecessary disruption for borrowers, and provide another incentive for servicers to provide high-quality service to borrowers. The Department is directed to brief the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate and the Senate Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions and House Committee on Education and the Workforce within 30 days of enactment of this Act on how it plans to carry out this directive."

Let's discuss the call this afternoon, thanks.

FW: WHI-HBCUs August Interagency Working Group Meeting -- 400 Maryland Ave., SW, Washington, DC 20202 Room 1W128

Good Afternoon All,

Today we will be hosting the August Federal Interagency Meeting at the DOED headquarters. Most of the individuals are scheduled to participate in the conference and have been actively creating content to share during the event. I was originally planning on sharing the latest updates before the conference at this meeting, but I know things are still up in the air.

Are there any representatives from DOED planning on attending the Interagency meeting today? If not, what should I tell our important partners regarding the conference?

Thanks,
Tammi Fergusson

Thanks Jim for talking with me about GAO's request to meet next Monday at 2 pm regarding their request for access to the FSA data warehouse.
Jim you indicated GAO did and would not have any sample agreements to share.

Phil and I wonder if ED should move forward with the meeting at this time or at least maybe have a pre-meeting to discuss some of the concerns FSA and OGC identified previously?

Matt, what are your thoughts on a pre-meeting? It is unclear whether ED has any new information to offer.

They would like to meet with you to discuss their concerns about the current Financial Responsibility regulations in the Student Assistance General Provisions as well as the State Authorization regs on distance ed that the prior administration put out in Dec 2016.

We understand that this is mainly a listening session for you guys, but it would be an opportunity for you to ask them specific questions or request more information to inform the Department's deliberations. This topic came up briefly in the meeting that Jim had with Dr. Keiser on NACIQI several weeks back, but we did not get a chance to drill down very far on the key issues and possible solutions.

World Skills USA Team -- Secretary's Conference Room
Subject: WorldSkills Team Visit to ED 9/12: SkillsUSA

Jim,

I hope you're staying dry in this rain. We hope you will consider dropping by when the World SkillsUSA Team comes to the Department. Please see information below and attached and also note the Under Secretary of Commerce plans to attend. Thanks for your consideration!

SkillsUSA is very excited in the opportunity for U.S. Department of Education officials to meet the SkillsUSA WorldTeam on Tuesday, September 12, 2017.

The purpose of the meeting is to provide the Acting Under Secretary Jim Manning an opportunity to meet the 11 high school and college students (and their assigned technical experts) who comprise the United States team for the WorldSkills Competition. The Acting Under Secretary will hear from these remarkable students about their journey to the WorldSkills Competition and how they became involved in Career and Technical Education (CTE). The business sector participants will explain their innovative and unique role in supporting these students and discuss the overall need for increased collaboration between the business and education sectors. This will be a celebration, recognition, and send-off for the USA World Team to compete in the WorldSkills Competition.

Acting Under Secretary Jim Manning and ED team will be able to hear and see how education and business collaboration provided extraordinary opportunities for these 11 students to compete in the 44th biennial event in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates in October. This is an appropriate send-off for these students to represent the United States of America and compete internationally. This would be a great back-to-school message for Acting Under Secretary Jim Manning to encourage students and parents about the benefits of CTE programs.

SkillsUSA fields the United States WorldTeam to compete every two years in the prestigious WorldSkills Competition in career and technical education skill areas. More than 77 countries and regions participate. In 2017, more than 1,300 competitors will test their skills in Abu Dhabi. Considered "the best of the best," contestants (ages 18-22) compete for four days in 51 occupational skill areas from economic sectors including manufacturing and engineering technology, information and communication technology, construction and building technology, transportation and logistics, creative arts and fashion, and social and personal services. Accompanied by their teachers, trainers and industry technical committee experts, these students compete before the public in contests that are run and judged by industry using demanding international standards. The competition brings together young people from around the world in their chosen professions. They represent the best students of each nation to highlight career and technical education and workforce development.

SkillsUSA WorldTeam members were past SkillsUSA Championships medalists. The SkillsUSA Championships is the national competition for middle-school, high-school and college/postsecondary students enrolled in public career and technical education programs. Each SkillsUSA Championships contestant is a state gold medalist. Begun in 1967, the SkillsUSA Championships has 6,000 competitors in 100 hands-on skill and leadership contests. SkillsUSA organizes this event, which is considered the largest skill contest in the world and the single greatest day of industry volunteerism in America, annually at an estimated cost of more than $36 million. SkillsUSA adds contests to the SkillsUSA Championships each year to meet the demands of new and expanding occupations. SkillsUSA instructional programs represent 130 different occupational areas. The WorldTeam members are a product of the American career and technical educational system.

The WorldTeam and their technical experts will be spending the morning of Sept. 12 at the United Arab Emirates Embassy in Washington, D.C. learning about the culture to prepare them for their trip. Later in the day there will be a reception for SkillsUSA business partners to meet the team.

Good morning Jessica,

I wanted to check in on the status of the Consumer Bankers Association's Board of Directors' request to meet with Secretary DeVos on the afternoon of September 12th.

We would like to discuss the current state of student lending and provide our recommendations to help ensure a vibrant and healthy student lending marketplace. We are at a pivotal moment in the future of higher education finance and our membership, which includes the market's central players, can provide valuable insight. We would also appreciate the Secretary's outlook for regulatory changes related to student lending and the management of Title IV funds as well as her thoughts about Higher Education Act reauthorization.

Thank you very much for your consideration. Please let me know if there is additional information that may help facilitate this request.

Dear Postsecondary Institution:

In an effort to provide continued support to institutions of higher education impacted by Hurricane Harvey, you are invited to join a webinar hosted by Federal Student Aid (FSA) and involving other officials from the U.S. Department of Education (ED). ED and FSA officials will provide an overview and update about ED's guidance related to Hurricane Harvey and ongoing assistance. You also will have an opportunity to share any updates about how your school has been impacted, as well as inform ED and FSA about additional guidance you may need.

Webinar link: fsatraining.acms.com/hurricane-harvey
To join the webinar, click the link or copy and paste the URL into your browser's address bar.

The capacity of the webinar is limited to 3,000 participants. The webinar "room" will open 45 minutes prior to the start of the presentation. Once the room opens, participants will see an introductory slide with the technical specifications needed to participate, information about accommodations for the hearing impaired, and directions for how to ask questions using the online chat feature.

If you want to participate via your mobile device, you will need to download a mobile app before the webinar begins. The webinar will be recorded and archived to the Disaster Guidance page on the Information for Financial Aid Professionals website for future reference.

While ED continues to develop guidance and other information to support you, we would like to highlight the following resources:

- General disaster assistance guidance for institutions with contacts for additonal information;
- Disaster guidance specific to Hurricane Harvey, including information regarding the impact of a major disaster on the administration of the Title IV student assistance programs; and
- Disaster Registration Form for schools to update the status of their campus and any adverse impacts experienced by the hurricane.

Additionally, ED developed a Hurricane Harvey web portal for further resources.

As recovery efforts continue, our thoughts remain with students and families affected by Hurricane Harvey. We look forward to your participation and to being able to offer our ongoing support.

(Note: we can trim back this list if necessary or helpful.)

Topics of discussion:

- Department priorities: Chancellor White looks forward to gaining insights into the administration's priorities for higher education, including with the pending reauthorization of the Higher Education Act.

- CSU's Graduation Initiative 2025: The chancellor appreciates the opportunity to brief Mr. Manning on the CSU's ambitious plans to increase graduation rates and close achievement gaps.

- Pell Grant Funding: The CSU is grateful for the reinstatement of Year-Round Pell. Proposed cuts of up to $3.9 billion from Pell reserve fund in FY 2018 threaten the Pell program's long-term viability and CSU efforts to improve student success. Meanwhile, the Pell Grant's purchasing power has declined dramatically over the years. Proposals such as the Senate Appropriations Committee's plan to increase the maximum grant by $100 in FY 2018 would be helpful to CSU graduation goals.

- Teacher Preparation: The CSU prepares 50% of California teachers, and 10% of nation's. The Teacher Quality Partnership program (TQP) has helped the CSU to improve all 22 of our teacher preparation programs, and to leverage additional funding from foundations such as Bechtel.

- DACA: Thousands of CSU students are "dreamers" and about how concerns related to the rescission of the DACA program are affecting students, employees and their families. The CSU supports a long-term solution to help these individuals.

The Honorable Betsy DeVos
Secretary
US Department of Education
400 Maryland Ave., SW
Washington, DC 20202

Dear Secretary DeVos -

We write to request a meeting with you on Wednesday, September 13, 2017 for California State University (CSU) Chancellor Timothy P. White and other CSU system representatives, including student leaders of the California State Student Association (CSSA).

Chancellor White would welcome the opportunity to discuss CSU's Graduation Initiative 2025, the system's ambitious initiative to increase graduation rates for all CSU students while eliminating opportunity and achievement gaps, and how the CSU can work with the Department to achieve these goals.

Dr. White is the chief executive officer of the California State University. With 23 campuses and 479,000 students, the CSU is the largest, the most affordable, and one of the most diverse four-year university systems in the country. More than a third of CSU students are in the first generation in their family to attend college, and 56 percent are students of color. Every year, over 50,000 students transfer from community colleges into the CSU. More than 220,000 CSU students receive Pell Grants, at an average of over $4300. Over half (about 47,000) of the undergraduate degrees awarded by the CSU are earned by Pell Grant recipients. These graduates go on to succeed in diverse professions that drive the state's and nation's economy, including the thousands who become teachers in California's K-12 system.

Chancellor White is available from 9:00 am to 2:00 pm. Your consideration of this request is greatly appreciated. Please respond to our Washington office at (202) 434-8060 or via email at jgelb@calstate.edu.

Please do not place the call on hold if you participate. The result of that is the Department of Education's "muzak" starts to play, disrupting the phone call. That can cause us to need to hang up and start the call again using a new call number and passcode. Please keep in mind that if you need to take an incoming phone call, you can hang up on the conference call, take the other call, and dial back in to the conference call.

Thank you.

Town Hall Meeting - Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial -- Barnard Auditorium - LBJ
The Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Commission and the General Services Administration will be the Department of Education's guests on Thursday, September 14 at 2 p.m. to provide an update on the Eisenhower Memorial (Memorial).

For those who are not familiar with the planning for the Memorial, the selected site includes the plaza area in front of the Department of Education Building. Construction of the Memorial, designed by noted architect Frank Gehry, is expected to kick off this fall. Come to the Town Hall Meeting and learn more about this important project, and about the impacts and benefits to the Department of Education that it will bring. There will be an opportunity to ask questions at the end of the presentation.

This event will also be broadcast live on Mediasite and EDstream at the following links: Mediasite and Edstream.

Federal Student Aid | PROUD SPONSOR of the AMERICAN MIND®

Dear Higher Education Stakeholder:

In an effort to provide continued support to institutions of higher education impacted by recent natural disasters, you are invited to join a call with officials from the U.S. Department of Education's offices of Postsecondary Education (OPE) and Federal Student Aid (FSA). OPE and FSA staff will provide an overview and update about their respective guidance and ongoing assistance to impacted schools. You also will have an opportunity to share any updates about how your members, affiliates, and networks have been impacted, as well as to inform OPE and FSA about additional guidance you or your affiliates may need.

The call will be held

Friday, Sept. 15, 2017
10–11 a.m. CT
Call number: (b)(6)
Participant code: (b)(6)

While OPE and FSA continue to develop guidance and other information to support those affected by the recent natural disasters, FSA has updated the StudentAid.gov/naturaldisaster page with general information for students who have been impacted by a federally declared natural disaster. We also have made schools aware of other resources that currently are available:

- General disaster assistance guidance for institutions with contacts for additional information;
- Dear Colleague Letter with information regarding the impact of a major disaster on the administration of the Title IV student assistance programs;
- Disaster Registration Form for schools to update the status of their campus and any adverse impacts experienced by a disaster; and
- Hurricane Help web portal for further resources.

As recovery efforts continue, our thoughts are with students and families affected by the recent disasters. We look forward to being able to offer our ongoing support and to your participation in this call.

Dianne,

Could you please set up an internal ED meeting with a phone line and a meeting room in LBJ to follow-up to GAO call on 9/11 about GAO accessing data derived from NSLDS? The meeting should be on 9/18 if possible.
These people should be invited to the meeting:

Manning, James; Conaty, Joe; Rosenfelt, Phil; Surprenant, Kala; Sessa, Matthew; Vierling, Christian; Appel, Jeff; Fortelny, Gregory; Tracey, me, & anyone inside ED who was forwarded the September 11 meeting invite and accepted it.

If you send the meeting out from our Exec Sec conference call calendar I could always add attachments to the meeting invite myself without circling back to you on that. I can show you how to do that if you haven't done it before and don't know how to do that.

Thank you.

Dear Mr. Manning:

The HBCU Capital Financing Advisory Board (CFAB) will hold its first meeting, an administrative meeting, this Monday, September 18, 5:00-6:00 pm, here in the Secretary's Conference Room.

I hope you would be able to briefly greet the Board members toward the beginning of the meeting and to join us for as much of the hour as you are available. I apologize for the short notice.

The Board's membership consists of six HBCU presidents; the presidents of UNCF, TMCF, and NAFEO; the Secretary's Designee (Wayne Johnson); and the Executive Director of the White House Initiative on HBCUs (TBA). I would be happy to provide additional context on the Board and its members, as well as an RSVP briefing in advance.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns. Again, I apologize for the late invitation and hope you can join us.

Good Afternoon Christina,

I apologize for the delayed response, Mr. Manning's schedule on Thursday is full, would it be possible to have Pres Hoogstra come over on Friday, 9/8; some available times are 10:30 am – 1:30 pm. Or if Friday does not work, next week he could do the following:

Monday, 9/11 = 10:30 – 11:30 am, 12:30 – 2pm or 3:00 – 4:30 pm

Please let me know if any of these options might work.
Thanks so much

Hello, Paula,
I would love to be able to speak with Dr. James Manning. In fact I could even run over to the department offices.

I have time on September 5 after 11:30am until 6pm or on September 7 between 10:30 AM and 2pm or later in the afternoon. Would any of those times work?

(My office is very close to the department offices and I would love to meet the undersecretary in person if possible.)

Subject: Invitation to the International Forum on Christian Higher Education: Dec. 31st-Feb.2, 2018

Dear Secretary DeVos,

I have an opportunity I hope that you will consider. Every four years, Christian colleges have a gathering where key leadership and presidents look to the future and get both professional and spiritual encouragement for the work they are called to do. The next one will be in Dallas, Texas, on Wednesday, January 31 to Friday, February 2, 2018. We anticipate this global conference will bring together 1,500 leaders in Christian higher education. There will be presidents, provosts, deans, vice presidents, faculty, and leaders from all other areas of campus life from CCCU institutions around the world. This gathering will include leadership from schools you already know, such as Lee University and Calvin College.

I would like to invite you to speak to this group. We are happy to work around your schedule. Your session can either be an interview setting where I would interview you with prepared questions, an address with a time or questions, or simply a speech to our larger group. We understand it's hard to predict your schedule. If you could indicate to us whether at all it is a possibility, we will reserve space in the schedule for you.

Thank you in advance for your consideration, and I look forward to hearing from you soon!

Warmly, Shirley

Subject: Meeting request of behalf of the Student Loan Assistance Center

Hi Kathleen and Jim,

Kathleen – hope you are doing well! I haven't seen you in some time, so looking forward to reconnecting.
Jim – I don't know if you remember me, but we worked a bit together on the transition team. I'm not sure we ever met in person, but we were on several phone calls together with Kent Talbert and some other transition folks. I've heard a lot of great things about you from my colleagues, including Vic Klatt, so looking forward to meeting you. By way of background, I used to work with Kathleen in Senator Alexander's office and left about a year ago to work with the Penn Hill Group.

I am writing to request a meeting with you any time on Oct 23 (pm), 24, or 25 on behalf of the Student Loan Assistance Center (SLAC). SLAC is a third party loan servicer that helps students figure out the best option to repay their student loans. As I'm sure you are aware, the third party loan servicer industry has many bad actors, but SLAC has gone above and beyond to distinguish themselves from those entities, which is one of the reasons we are requesting a meeting.

One of the ways that SLAC serves students is by accessing the NSLDS system on behalf of the student to obtain the necessary information to help them repay their loans. SLAC obtains a power of attorney in order to do this on behalf of the student. Since May 2017, a disclaimer (attached) has appeared on the NSLDS site when parties are trying to access it threatening prosecution if third party service providers accessed the system. Due to this disclaimer and to be sure SLAC is following all policies of the Administration, SLAC has suspended further operations and sales/processing pending review and resolution of the matter.

Jim, I know Bob Moran has talked to you about this issue, and he recommended I meet with you and Kathleen to gather some more information. We are trying to figure out if ED intends to keep this disclaimer in place, or if this is something that was put in place under Jim Runcie at FSA that no one has really noticed so it remains in place. We haven't been able to gather much information about the intention behind this disclaimer and which office at ED is responsible for it (either OPE or FSA). SLAC understands if the intention is to keep the disclaimer in place to shut down third party service providers. They would just like to hear a definitive answer and make the case for why they are a good actor in this industry. SLAC is also planning to rebrand their company and broaden their services beyond loan servicing, so as they transition the company, they'd like some information about ED's intention in relation to this disclaimer.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Would you both be available to meet some time on Oct 23 in the pm, Oct 24, or Oct 25 to discuss this disclaimer with SLAC? I know I am requesting the meeting early, but I know your schedules are busy and wanted to make sure to book some time while SLAC is in town.

Thanks in advance for your consideration, and I look forward to working with you on this issue.

Thanks,

MEETING ATTENDEES:

Good Afternoon Paula:

Once again, thank you for arranging the meeting with Minnesota State (Colleges and Universities) for the upcoming week. The group very much appreciates the time and looks forward to highlighting a couple initiatives that the system is undertaking which they believe could be possible candidates for continued and future partnerships with the Federal Government. Attached are two brief documents outlining the initiatives.

In addition, and without objection, we will have the following attendees (one additional from earlier request):

- Chancellor Devinder Malhotra – Minnesota State
- Ms. Jaime Simonsen – Chief of Staff, Minnesota State
- Ms. Gina Sobania – Military, Veteran, and Adult Learner Services, Minnesota State (Additional Individual)
- Mr. Andy Burmeister – DC Representative
- Lianne Endo| Federal Relations

Hi Kathleen and Jim,

Kathleen – hope you are doing well! I haven't seen you in some time, so looking forward to reconnecting.
Jim – I don't know if you remember me, but we worked a bit together on the transition team. I'm not sure we ever met in person, but we were on several phone calls together with Kent Talbert and some other transition folks. I've heard a lot of great things about you from my colleagues, including Vic Klatt, so looking forward to meeting you. By way of background, I used to work with Kathleen in Senator Alexander's office and left about a year ago to work with the Penn Hill Group.

I am writing to request a meeting with you any time on Oct 23 (pm), 24, or 25 on behalf of the Student Loan Assistance Center (SLAC). SLAC is a third party loan servicer that helps students figure out the best option to repay their student loans. As I'm sure you are aware, the third party loan servicer industry has many bad actors, but SLAC has gone above and beyond to distinguish themselves from those entities, which is one of the reasons we are requesting a meeting.

One of the ways that SLAC serves students is by accessing the NSLDS system on behalf of the student to obtain the necessary information to help them repay their loans. SLAC obtains a power of attorney in order to do this on behalf of the student. Since May 2017, a disclaimer (attached) has appeared on the NSLDS site when parties are trying to access it threatening prosecution if third party service providers accessed the system. Due to this disclaimer and to be sure SLAC is following all policies of the Administration, SLAC has suspended further operations and sales/processing pending review and resolution of the matter.

Jim, I know Bob Moran has talked to you about this issue, and he recommended I meet with you and Kathleen to gather some more information. We are trying to figure out if ED intends to keep this disclaimer in place, or if this is something that was put in place under Jim Runcie at FSA that no one has really noticed so it remains in place. We haven't been able to gather much information about the intention behind this disclaimer and which office at ED is responsible for it (either OPE or FSA). SLAC understands if the intention is to keep the disclaimer in place to shut down third party service providers. They would just like to hear a definitive answer and make the case for why they are a good actor in this industry. SLAC is also planning to rebrand their company and broaden their services beyond loan servicing, so as they transition the company, they'd like some information about ED's intention in relation to this disclaimer.

Would you both be available to meet some time on Oct 23 in the pm, Oct 24, or Oct 25 to discuss this disclaimer with SLAC? I know I am requesting the meeting early, but I know your schedules are busy and wanted to make sure to book some time while SLAC

Summary of Call with Treasury/IRS Friday Oct 13:

- The call was scheduled for 2:30-3; it ended up being 2:30-4:15.
- Treasury/IRS asked for a general overview of the IDR and FAFSA processes, which I provided throughout the call. Treasury/IRS initially referred to these processes as "programs". We clarified this by explaining that IDR and FAFSA were processes that both served Title IV programs (e.g., Direct Loans, Pell Grants, FFEL, Work Study, etc.).

Discuss a response for meeting request regarding GEAR UP -- Kathleen's office Meeting to discuss a response to the meeting request below before scheduling.

Dear Kathleen,

I am the President of the National Council for Community and Education Partnerships (NCCEP), the National Association for the GEAR UP program. I am hoping to find a time relatively soon to discuss the recent GEAR UP grant award process, specifically as it pertains to the state grant awards made. I am sure you are aware that the Department awarded a host of State grant awards that ran counter to published guidance that was issued for the competition. In summary, several states were awarded a second concurrent grant when the guidance clearly stated that multiple grants at once was not permissible. The impact of the decision/policy reversal was that some states whose awards were terminating did not receive grants and will be dismantling their impactful low-income student services infrastructure.

We have received an outpouring of concern from our state leadership as a whole about this policy, and deep distress from the states negatively impacted in this competition cycle. We are also aware that the impacted states have mobilized their political representatives to try and rectify the situation. I have had several discussions with your GEAR UP program office leadership and have offered assistance in trying to craft a solution to the issue. We do believe a viable solution exists that would suit all impacted stakeholders and eliminate the issue in the short term, allowing for greater clarity and policy review for future competitions. However, we believe time is of the essence if the Department is considering altering its award slate.

Can you let me know a time for us to either meet in person, or at a minimum by phone, to discuss our thoughts on the issue? Before the meeting, we will also provide a summary of the historical GEAR UP competition policy and the changes and inconsistencies to guidance made in the 2017 competition.

Sincerely,

Ranjit Sidhu

Subject: SUNY Meeting Request October 25

Hi Paula-

I'm looking to set up a meeting the afternoon of Wednesday October 25, with Acting Under Secretary Jim Manning and his team. The group will be several of our SUNY presidents and senior staff.

We would like to share with the Administration how a public university system can support the President's higher education and economic development agenda. We see ourselves as partners on initiatives that will help prepare our students for the 21st century workforce.

In addition, we would like to discuss the recent announcement on Title IX guidance and our work on campus safety issues. In New York, we enacted new legislation intended "to combat sexual assault on college and university campuses statewide. The new law requires all colleges to adopt a set of comprehensive procedures and guidelines, including a uniform definition of affirmative consent, a statewide amnesty policy, and expanded access to law enforcement to ensure the safety of all students attending colleges in New York State

The State University of New York is the largest comprehensive system of higher education in the United States, with 64 college and university campuses educating over 1.3 million students. Our campuses include research universities, liberal arts colleges, specialized and technical colleges, health science centers, land-grant colleges—and 30 SUNY community colleges altogether. Annually, 175,000 SUNY students receive need-based Pell Grants.

In the meantime, if you have any questions please feel free to contact me at (202) 220-1315 or alex.krigstein@suny.edu

Subject: Meeting Request / President of St. Georges University – Oct. 31 or Nov. 1

Dear Jim,

We represent St. George's University (SGU), a leading international medical school located in Grenada, devoted to delivering high-quality medical education and training to talented and motivated students from diverse backgrounds. Established in 1976, SGU has graduated more than 12,000 physicians who have practiced in all 50 U.S. states. Over the past five years, SGU has placed more doctors into U.S. residency training than any other medical school, and approximately 71% of SGU graduates entered primary care, a significantly higher rate than the 39% graduating U.S. medical schools. As such, SGU plays an important role in helping to address the shortfall of physicians in the U.S. by providing a pipeline of well-trained doctors many of whom serve as primary care physicians in disadvantaged or underserved communities. Today, SGU's graduates comprise more than 1% of the entire U.S. physician workforce.

We would like to bring in the President of SGU, Dr. Richard Olds, on Oct. 31 or the morning of Nov.1 for a brief meeting with you. We would like to discuss HEA and GE issues including:

- Policy suggestions related to Gainful Employment issues, including quality standards and their uniform application to all institutions.
- Higher Education policy for eligibility of US student loans to foreign medical school students which is based on merit and not an arbitrary fixed number.
- Our ongoing work with Ed & Workforce and HELP establishing quality metrics to hold foreign medical schools in the federal student loan program to high standards.

Additional background information is attached.

Please let us know a time on Oct. 31 or the morning of Nov.1 that works best.

We appreciate the consideration of our request.

A fourth-generation physician whose paternal grandparents fled Germany in the early 1930s to build a new life in Mexico, Julio Frenk catalyzed his deep gratitude for the kindness of strangers into a lifelong mission to improve the health, education, and well-being of people around the world.

Dr. Frenk became the sixth president of the University of Miami in August of 2015. He also holds academic appointments as Professor of Public Health Sciences at the Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine and as Professor of Health Sector Management and Policy at the School of Business Administration.
Prior to joining the University of Miami, he was the dean of the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health and the T & G Angelopoulos Professor of Public Health and International Development, a joint appointment with the Harvard Kennedy School of Government.
Julio Frenk served as the Minister of Health of Mexico from 2000 to 2006. There he pursued an ambitious agenda to reform the nation's health system and introduced a program of comprehensive universal coverage, known as Seguro Popular, which expanded access to health care for more than 55 million previously uninsured Mexicans.
He was the founding director-general of the National Institute of Public Health in Mexico, one of the leading institutions of its kind in the developing world. He also served as executive director in charge of Evidence and Information for Policy at the World Health Organization and as senior fellow in the global health program of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, among other leadership positions.
Dr. Frenk holds a medical degree from the National University of Mexico, as well as a master of public health and a joint Ph.D. in Medical Care Organization and in Sociology from the University of Michigan. He has received honorary degrees from seven universities.
His scholarly production, which includes over 160 articles in academic journals, as well as many books and book chapters, has been cited more than 15,000 times. In addition, he has written three best-selling novels for youngsters explaining the functions of the human body.
He is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the U.S. National Academy of Medicine, and the National Academy of Medicine of Mexico. He serves on the boards of the United Nations Foundation and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. He has received numerous recognitions, including the Clinton Global Citizen Award for changing the way practitioners and policy makers across the world think about health, the Bouchet Medal for Outstanding Leadership presented by Yale University for promoting diversity in graduate education, and the Welch-Rose Award for Distinguished Service from the Association of Schools and Programs of Public Health.

Passcode: (b)(6)

Dear Kathleen,

I am the President of the National Council for Community and Education Partnerships (NCCEP), the National Association for the GEAR UP program. I am hoping to find a time relatively soon to discuss the recent GEAR UP grant award process, specifically as it pertains to the state grant awards made. I am sure you are aware that the Department awarded a host of State grant awards that ran counter to published guidance that was issued for the competition. In summary, several states were awarded a second concurrent grant when the guidance clearly stated that multiple grants at once was not permissible. The impact of the decision/policy reversal was that some states whose awards were terminating did not receive grants and will be dismantling their impactful low-income student services infrastructure.

We have received an outpouring of concern from our state leadership as a whole about this policy, and deep distress from the states negatively impacted in this competition cycle. We are also aware that the impacted states have mobilized their political representatives to try and rectify the situation. I have had several discussions with your GEAR UP program office leadership and have offered assistance in trying to craft a solution to the issue. We do believe a viable solution exists that would suit all impacted stakeholders and eliminate the issue in the short term, allowing for greater clarity and policy review for future competitions. However, we believe time is of the essence if the Department is considering altering its award slate.

Can you let me know a time for us to either meet in person, or at a minimum by phone, to discuss our thoughts on the issue? Before the meeting, we will also provide a summary of the historical GEAR UP competition policy and the changes and inconsistencies to guidance made in the 2017 competition.

Sincerely,

Ranjit Sidhu

Subject: Email Seeking Guidance

Kathleen,

I wanted to see if you had some time to discuss the attached. On November 27, 2015, in response to a district court opinion, the Department announced that it reversed its earlier position on completion-based and graduation-based compensation, stating that it no longer interprets the law "to proscribe compensation for recruiters that is based upon students' graduation from, or completion of, educational programs." The Department also clarified that it "will not view the references in the regulations to recruiter enrollment activities that may occur "through completion" by a student of an educational program, 34 CFR 668.14(b)(22)(iii)(B) (introduction), and (iii)(B)(2)(ii), as prohibiting graduation-based or completion-based compensation to recruiters." In short, the Department seems to allow bonus payments admissions staff based on graduation or completion.

Since that time, however, the Department hasn't explained what is and is not allowed. This is particularly important because the Department also said:

> [A]lthough compensation based on students' graduation from, or completion of, educational programs is not per se prohibited, the Department reserves the right to take enforcement action against institutions if compensation labeled by an institution as graduation-based or completion-based compensation is merely a guise for enrollment-based compensation, which is prohibited. Compensation that is based upon success in securing enrollments, even if one or more other permissible factors are also considered, remains prohibited.

Attached is a draft policy that I wanted to discuss. It provides for a bonus to admissions personnel if the school achieves a graduation rate for programs after 600 hours in length. If the school meets or exceed the graduation rate threshold, then admissions representatives are provided with a bonus, per graduate they enrolled. This is determined by multiplying the number of graduates the admissions representative is responsible with a set figure (that rises as the school's graduation rate is improved). Then, the admissions representative's annual salary is subtracted from this number.

Given the lack of guidance, we would appreciate the Department looking at this and providing comment so we can better understand the factors that go into play in determining an appropriate bonus structure based on completion. I would be happy to discuss this with you – and the school in question is happy to revise the policy. We want to get it correct, but really need guidance to do so; hopefully reviewing this policy will provide a means for providing such guidance.

Thanks in advance. Let me know if you want to discuss.

Dennis

Hi Jim; thanks so much for the time on Friday. Thank you again for the help in arranging the meeting on JAG with the Secretary.

Also appreciate your willingness to set aside some time to get together with 1) the SRI Education team and 2) the Abt Education teams as both have done a great deal of thinking and developed intriguing ideas on School Choice, Workbased learning at scale and CTE enhancement strategies.

If you could send some times the beginning the week of Oct 30 through November that would work for you (other than Thanksgiving week) we will make the 2 meetings work! I will plan to join them.

They will send some specific ideas in advance of the meeting for sure.

Thanks again!

Dear Kathleen,

Thank you so much for your time yesterday to join us on a call to discuss the GEAR UP state funding issue. We appreciate you and your team's openness to the conversation and providing us the opportunity to share our viewpoint. Our organization's working relationship with ED has long been a distinctly collaborative one, and we look forward to strengthening our working relationship in the future.

Given that you will be deliberating over the next few days on the state funding issue, I just wanted to share some reflections that resulted from yesterday's call for your consideration.

1. There is simply no desire from any stakeholder to make changes to the one-

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

state/one-grant policy for State GEAR UP recipients. Because of the award process and our ongoing work regarding the upcoming reauthorization, we've been able to consult the entire GEAR UP community, key Congressional offices and committees, and the states themselves—all of which want the policy upheld. We fear that OPE policy as it pertains to the decision to award multiple state grants is not aligned with any of the stakeholders involved and we hope you and your colleagues will take the broad consensus into consideration.

2. We have concerns that the decision will substantially weaken OPE's reliability with the grantee community and the public. While we hate to make this observation, we know that when ED succeeds, our GEAR UP community succeeds as well. Beyond the optics of the reversal, if OPE is willing to reverse course on guidance issued related to a foundational topic such as award eligibility, I fear that the grantee community could lose confidence in the clarity of technical and compliance guidance provided by OPE moving forward which ultimately weakens the program? As you know, not everything can be legislated or regulated, therefore ED's technical expertise and credibility is critical for grantees to ensure they are implementing their grants successfully.

3. As a determining factor, ED's desire to ensure that "the funds be used as quickly as possible" is in this context, contrary to the outcome. The applications submitted by the six "early applicants" were submitted with the understanding that they may be considered for an award in 2018 or 2019 if ED elected not to host competitions in that year. Not a single applicant among those six states expected to receive a 2017 award and submitted implementation plans that begin on October 1 of 2018 or 2019 as a result. They are now having to create the infrastructure internal to their agencies, inform their school partners that expectations have been moved up by a year or two, and are trying to cope with launching a grant, while also ensuring that their pre-existing grant is successful as well. In short, funding applicants who were fundamentally unprepared for the award does not appear on face-value, to meet the parameter your colleagues described.

As we shared on our call, we genuinely believe that an optional deferral process would enable a win-win solution. Please know that we stand ready to assist in any way—if we can share any additional insights, or be of any other assistance, please don't hesitate to let me know.

Best,

Ranjit

Dear Colleagues,

Please join me on Thursday, November 16, from 10:00 to 11:00 a.m. (Eastern Time), in Barnard Auditorium for an All Staff meeting and the official kick-off of this year's Combined Federal Campaign (CFC).

This meeting will encourage you to "Show Some Love" and seek out charitable causes that you may identify with and can support as the holiday season approaches. This will also be a good opportunity to meet and hear updates from our new senior staff members throughout the Department.

I look forward to seeing many of you there.

Thanks,
Betsy

Meeting Pace University President Marvin Krislov -- OUS Conference Room 7E307
Hi Paula and Alexandra! We had hoped to make this a drop by for the Secretary, but I'm still unsure of her schedule on November 16. Can I set this for 1:00pm on that date for Jim and Kathleen? Does that work for them? And then If the Secretary is able to drop by we will try!

Hi Jessica,

Pace University sent their update below regarding their meeting request for the Secretary on behalf of their President, Marvin Krislov. November 16th between 1pm and 5pm now works best for him.

If you recall, we discussed this request during our September 6th meeting. You planned to check if the Secretary knows Mr. Krislov. If not, you'll have Jim surrogate.

Thanks!

OUS Tour National Museum of the American Indian -- National Museum of the American Indian Greetings,

To celebrate Native American Heritage Month, I have arranged a tour at the National Museum of the American Indian (NMAI) for the OUS staff. The NMAI cultural guides can accommodate approximately 20 – 25 for this tour. Kevin Gover, Director of NMAI is hoping to greet us depending on his availability and NMAI's Education Director will provide a brief overview of NMAI's new education initiative, Native Knowledge 360.
If you are able to attend please let me know by COB on Monday, November 20th or sooner. The sooner the better so I can provide a count to NMAI.
An email will follow closer to Tuesday, November 21st with information on the time and where to meet.

Thank you

Ron

"Mitsitam" means "Let's eat!" in the Native language of the Delaware and Piscataway peoples. The museum's Mitsitam Native Foods Cafe enhances the museum experience by providing visitors the opportunity to enjoy the indigenous cuisines of the Americas and to explore the history of Native foods. The Cafe features Native foods found throughout the Western Hemisphere, including the Northern Woodlands, South America, the Northwest Coast, Meso America and the Great Plains. Each of the five food stations depict regional lifeways related to cooking techniques, ingredients, and flavors found in both traditional and contemporary dishes. Selections include authentic Native foods such as traditional fry bread and corn totopos as well as contemporary items with a Native American twist—think buffalo burgers! http://www.nmai.si.edu/visit/washington/mitsitam-cafe/

Risk discussion for SP Goal 2, updating management challenge action plan -- WDCFB6-2W240-20 or Call-in Telephone number: (b)(6)
Participant code: (b)(6)

All,

We'd like to have a focused discussion about the risks related to achieving our new Strategic Plan Goal 2. The goal of this meeting is to bring together the discussions about management challenges and enterprise risk (SP Objective 4.2) with the discussions about Strategic Plan implementation strategies and challenges. We have a near-term deadline for updating the Management Challenges action plan for inclusion in the FY 2019 Annual Performance Plan, so that would be the one of the key outcomes of this discussion. I realize you all may not be able to attend, so I encourage you to forward this to others you believe could help in the discussion.

Agenda

1) Discuss key risks to achieving SP Goal 2 objectives

Hi Paula,

A little context: Northeastern's Doctor of Law and Policy program is an executive doctorate program that attracts mid- to senior-level professionals from the U.S. and around the world who work in government, education, the military, non-profit organizations and private industry. Each year, the program holds a residency in Washington, D.C., during which students hear from elected leaders, executive branch officials, judges, advocates, and policy-makers on various topics in law and public policy. Last year, for example, our students visited with U.S. Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas, House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy, and U.S. Archivist David Ferriero, among others.

This year's residency is scheduled to take place from Thursday, December 7th to Saturday, December 9th, and the students would love to have an audience with Mr. Manning. A cohort of 20 students, all of whom are in their first year of the program, would take part. They will be accompanied by myself and Dr. J.D. LaRock, Professor of Practice and current CEO of the Commonwealth Corporation.

This year's residency is connected to a "Current Law and Policy Debates" course that the students are taking this semester. To that end, the topics covered are extremely flexible. A discussion of the organization's mission and goals, Mr. Manning's role, and reflections on major issues in the U.S. political and policy discourse today, would be excellent.

We are hoping to schedule time for a 30-60 minute session with our students, consisting of a short talk, followed by discussion with the students. The students, of course, would be glad to come to your offices; we can also host Mr. Manning at the Mayflower Hotel, where we are staying. Our schedule is pretty tight at this point but we have open availability after 3pm on Friday, December 8th and are open to hosting Mr.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Manning for breakfast/brunch/lunch on Saturday, if he's inclined to join us on the weekend.

In any event, thank you very much for your consideration. I'd be happy to provide any additional information you might need, and look forward to hearing from you.

Meredith

Hi Jessica,

We would be thrilled to have an audience with Secretary DeVos. Currently, the afternoon of Friday, December 8th has the most flexibility but if there is another timeframe that works better for the Secretary, I am happy to do some shuffling. Likewise, if she is amendable to join us for a breakfast/lunch/dinner, we would love to host her.

Dear Jessica,

Thank you for our follow-up conversation today. I am looping in my colleague Meredith Sittmann here -- as I mentioned, she is the assistant director of the Doctor of Law and Policy program at Northeastern and is coordinating our overall schedule.

If Secretary DeVos is able to speak with our group, Meredith will be able to give you the latest state of play with our schedule. Of course, we'll make every effort to accommodate the Secretary's schedule where we can.

Just to confirm the details of our conversation today, we would be very happy with to proceed with a structured discussion focusing on school choice, apprenticeships, and Title IX.

Subject: State Authorization/Financial Responsibility Issue
To: "Smith, Kathleen" <kathleen.smith@ed.gov>

Kathleen:

I am following up on a matter coming out of the issues we all discussed at our last meeting with Keiser University officials and you and Jim Manning. As we discussed, Keiser currently participates in the Title IV programs by utilizing the alternative means for demonstrating financial responsibility - posting a 10% letter of credit and agreeing to be under provisional certification and heightened cash monitoring.

Florida recently passed legislation to join the State Authorization Reciprocity Agreement (SARA) framework for authorization of distance education, after the Southern Regional Educational Board (SREB) reciprocity agreement expired on June 30, 2017. The purpose of SARA is to allow institutions offering distance education to only have to seek authorization from their home state, not from each state that they enroll students from.

In implementing the SARA requirement, Florida and Keiser recently became aware of a SARA policy that does not allow an institution with a composite score below 1.0 to participate in the SARA framework, which is not consistent with the HEA and ED regulations and was not part of the former regional reciprocity agreement.

The net impact of this SARA policy is that assuming the ED State Authorization final regulations for distance education become effective on July 1, 2018, some Title IV-eligible institutions, like Keiser U, would be required to seek individual state authorizations from each state from which they enroll students - a costly, burdensome, and unnecessary use of school resources.

Additionally, the SARA policy uses the Department's financial responsibility compostite score in a way in which is was intended. Moreover, in development of the statute and the regulations both the Congress and the Department acknowledged that scores could fluctuate and therefore provided alternative means for colleges to demonstrate financial responsibility.

To address this matter, I am attaching a discussion draft of a proposed letter from ED to the National Council for State Authorization Reciprocity Agreements (NCSARA) highlighting the inconsistency between the SARA's use of the Department's composite score and the HEA and its implementing regulations, and requesting that they be consistent.

I am available at any time to discuss this matter in greater detail or answer questions you may have.

> Administrative PAYGO: OMB Memorandum M-05-13 codified a budget-neutrality requirement on agency administrative actions affecting mandatory spending; this practice is commonly referred to as "Administrative PAYGO." The policy requires Federal agencies to include offsetting reductions in mandatory spending as a part of any administrative action that would increase mandatory spending. In November 2017, ED announced an administrative action to forgive, for a year after they were filed, all accrued interest on all denied borrower defense claims. In order to determine the amount of mandatory spending that needs to be offset, by December 8th, (b)(5)

Background on IHE Displaced Students;

As background, after Hurricane Katrina Congress passed a 2006 Supplemental Appropriation that provided $10 million for payments to IHEs to help defray costs associated with enrolling displaced students. ED did not specify a maximum or minimum award [NOTE: w(b)(5) (b)(5) , nor a maximum cost per participant. The 99 funded applicants actually requested award amounts ranging from $5,000 to $18.2 million to serve a number of students ranging from 10 to 1,801, and proposed costs per participant ranging from $162 per student to $263,158 per student.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

ED implemented an effective max award "after the fact," capping all awards to ensure a cost per participant maximum of $1,299 per student. This approach required ED to reduce awards below the requested amount for 79 of 99 funded applicants. This undoubtedly led to frustration for funded applicants, who cumulatively requested $56.5 million but were awarded $10 million to serve the same number of participants. At the time, the agency took some real heat for this, and this approach using no max or min could result in similar frustration.

Rationale for Maximum:

- Equity: An explicit cost per participant maximum ensures that all displaced students receive comparable support regardless of the institution they attend. A corresponding maximum award amount ensures that no single institution or small group of institutions claims all of the funding, while still accommodating larger institutions with larger awards. In 2006, even with the cost per participant cap implemented after the fact, 3 of 99 IHEs received over 42% of the funds.
- Transparency: Limit frustration in the field by being upfront about the maximum award and maximum costs per participant.
- Recommended Maximum: $1,500 per student; Max award - no great basis for a number but am thinking that 150 students – along with the possibility of "exception" language for universities that can present unique circumstances to the Secretary that would allow them to serve more displaced students (for example – a university located in Puerto Rico that is open and has the capacity to absorb many of the displaced students while still allowing them to remain on the island).

Rationale for Minimum:

- Economies of Scale—for both ED and the IHEs.
  - Safeguards against ED having to monitor/track an excessive number of small awards.
  - Easier for IHEs to invest in a student support infrastructure tailored to displaced students with minimum number of students served.
- Could be beneficial to displaced students to have a minimum # of displaced student peers.
- Minimum can't be too high as the $1,500 is only for support services and ED must recognize cost of educating students is significant. Additionally, a small minimum ensures that small IHEs can be accommodated.
- Recommended Minimum: $15,000 to serve a minimum of 10 students. This is consistent with the lowest number of participants served in 2006. There would be minimum cost per student.

A college degree remains one of the best tickets for entry into the middle class higher education has grown more important, attainment levels have stagnated that millions of students lack the skills and credentials they need for good jobs some colleges and universities have gotten better results - helping students le graduate more quickly - often without higher costs. The challenge is to find wa these results.

Join us for an invitation-only (non-transferrable) roundtable on Tuesday, Dece where we will release and discuss two new publications authored by James K Bridgeland.

The reports focus on federal and state policies that can leverage the power of evidence to improve student outcomes. Given the House is currently working reauthorization bill, this discussion should be timely and relevant.

Subject: Disaster Relief - Three Month Forbearances Expiring

Hi Kathleen and Alexandra,

In DCL GEN-17-08, servicers and guaranty agencies were instructed to provide three month forbearances to borrowers who were impacted by disasters such as Harvey, Irma and Maria. As we reach the point where those forbearances are ending, I'm wondering if ED has any guidance pending on extending (or allowing for an extension) for borrowers living in areas where things aren't (near) back to normal.

Thank you,

Good morning.

We have reason to believe that a hurricane supplemental, including funds both for Displaced Higher Ed Students and Re-Start Institutional Support to IHEs for disaster-related damage to affected institutions, will be attached to a CR after Dec 22nd.

If this turns out to be the case, the Department will not have a lot of time to prepare and get approval on necessary announcements, so we are asking to meet ASAP to initiate thinking/drafting so that we are ready to hit the ground running.

Note that Congress, of course, may require us to administer both pots of funding in very specific or prescriptive ways, but even if this is the case it will likely be easier and faster if we have some materials already developed that we can simply adapt.

Subject: Scheduling Question (HBCU/Colombia MOU)

Good morning Paula,

I know the holiday is rapidly approaching but are there any times when both Jim and Kathleen would be available next week (Mon-Thu) for a 30-minute meeting with Maureen and me?
If the scheduling can't work, we'll figure something out!

The purpose would be to brief them on a proposed Memorandum of Understanding between ED and the Colombian Ministry of Education to promote engagement between HBCUs and institutions in Colombia.
At this point in time, Secretary DeVos would be the presumed signatory.

(Maureen will also be sending a separate email to them regarding some policy questions and copy you.)

Let me know if any questions come up. Thanks!

Mr. Patterson, I wanted to make sure you had a copy of a letter Congressman Rokita sent yesterday to Secretary DeVos that cc'd Mr. A Wayne Johnson. This letter has to do with the scoring methodology of subordinated debt versus regular debt. I think Mr. Rokita is interested in connecting with Mr. Johnson at some point next week to discuss the issue, and wanted to make sure that you had a copy beforehand to review. Thank you very much.

Improved Borrower Defense Discharge Process Will Aid Defrauded Borrowers, Protect Taxpayers

Clear evaluation criteria will expedite review process, ensure harmed students are treated fairly Department announces action related to more than 20,000 pending claims
December 20, 2017
Contact: Press Office, (202) 401-1576, press@ed.gov

WASHINGTON – After careful review to ensure a fair and efficient process, the U.S. Department of Education (the Department) today unveiled an improved discharge process for borrower defense to repayment (BDR) claims.

"We have been working to get this right for students since day one," said Secretary Betsy DeVos. "No fraud is acceptable, and students deserve relief if the school they attended acted dishonestly. This improved process will allow claims to be adjudicated quickly and harmed students to be treated fairly. It also protects taxpayers from being forced to shoulder massive costs that may be unjustified."

For pending claims, no changes were made to the existing approval criteria. Claims that previously would have been approved will still be approved today. However, rather than taking an "all or nothing" approach to discharge, the improved process will provide tiers of relief to compensate former Corinthian students based on damages incurred.

NEW PROCESS FAIRLY COMPENSATES FOR DAMAGES

Students whose current earnings are less than 50 percent of their peers from a passing gainful employment (GE) program will receive full relief. Students whose earnings are at 50 percent or more of their GE program peers will receive proportionally tiered relief to compensate for the difference and make them whole (Table 1).

CCI Earnings as a Percentage of GE Earnings	Amount of Rel
1% to 49%	100%
50% to 59%	50%
60% to 69%	40%
70% to 79%	30%
80% to 89%	20%
90% and above	10%

In all calculations, rounding is done to the benefit of the student, including:

- Relief is rounded up by tenths. For example, if a student had 59 percent of a passing GE program earnings, the student would receive 50 percent BDR relief.
- The better of mean or median earnings as compared to GE program peers is used to calculate relief.
- If the student was enrolled in multiple programs, the program which yields the most relief is the program used in the calculation.

Additionally, to mitigate the inconvenience for how long it has taken to adjudicate claims, the Department will apply a credit to interest that accrues on loans starting one year after the borrower defense application is filed.

The principle of relief based on value of education received is consistent with the legal authorization of BDR under the Higher Education Act and the existing BDR regulation, 34 CFR 685.206 [C][2], adopted in the Clinton Administration. Similar concepts for partial relief were proposed by the Obama Administration in its October 2016 regulation.

RESPONDS TO CONCERNS RAISED BY

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

INSPECTOR GENERAL

Following an internal review, the Secretary was concerned that there was no standardized process in place. In May, Secretary DeVos requested the Education Inspector General (IG) look into the existing procedures for claim adjudication.

The IG found "weaknesses with FSA's procedures for: 1. documenting the review and approval of legal memoranda establishing categories of borrower defense claims that qualified for discharge; 2. reviewing borrower defense claims; 3. processing claims approved for loan discharge and flagged for denial; and 4. establishing timeframes for claims intake, claims review, loan discharge, and claims denial processes and controls to ensure timeframes are met."

The Department has worked diligently to address the issues cited, yielding the improved discharge process.

ACTION TAKEN TODAY

The Department has approved for discharge 12,900 pending claims submitted by former Corinthian Colleges, Inc. students, and 8,600 pending claims have been denied. This action includes claims that have been received during this administration. Many of the denied claims were identified for denial, but not acted on, by the prior administration.

Borrowers will be notified on a rolling basis as their discharge is finalized. The remaining pending claims will be adjudicated systematically under the newly announced discharge process.

CONTINUING TO IMPROVE BORROWER DEFENSE

The borrower defense to repayment regulation currently is under negotiated rulemaking, which began Nov. 13. As Secretary DeVos stated when she announced the Department's regulatory reset on June 14, 2017, the previous regulatory process yielded a "muddled process that's unfair to students and schools and puts taxpayers on the hook for significant costs." She continued, "It is the Department's aim, and this Administration's commitment, to protect students from predatory practices while also providing clear, fair and balanced rules for colleges and universities to follow."

The negotiators will continue to work toward a new regulation that will treat students, institutions and taxpayers fairly.

Background:

On November 15, 2017, the Department issued an ACS Directive, entitled "Federal Managers' Financial Integrity Act Management/Reporting on Internal Controls" (OCFO: 1-101), which requires all Department of Education (ED) employees to participate in annual internal control training. The purpose of the training is to ensure that employees are knowledgeable of standards for internal control that apply to programmatic, compliance, and financial aspects of ED operations, and the statutory prohibitions against the control and direction of curriculum and programs of instruction.

The training is being offered through a user-friendly and interactive web-based application and will take approximately one hour to complete.
It is located in TMS at: https://connected.ed.gov/Pages/Internalcontroltraining.aspx

Users are advised to avoid attempting the course while using the Aventail VPN, Citrix, or gotowork.ed.gov.

Users may access the course by logging directly into https://tms.ibc.doi.gov after establishing an Internet connection but before starting Aventail VPN, Citrix, or gotowork.ed.gov. You may copy and paste the url into your web browser's address bar.

In addition, users should consider completing the course during times when the network is less busy (for instance, early in the morning).

ED - Diversity and Inclusion C...

"Diversity is the one true thing we all have in common. Celebrate it every day." - Author Unknown

The Diversity and Inclusion Council's mission is to embrace and work to achieve a culture that promotes diversity among employees and supervisors of the Department; to encourage collaboration, flexibility, and fairness; and to leverage unique views throughout the agency so that all individuals are able to participate and contribute to their full potential.

Everyone,

I invite you to join me in continuing our quest to attract, recruit, and retain a diverse and inclusive workforce that represents the people we serve, America's students. The first 2018 D&I Council meeting is scheduled for Thursday, January 18, from 1:30 – 3:00pm.

Under the new charter, each POC has a senior leadership seat at the table, for the POC leader or his/her SES designee. If you are unable to attend, please let me know who will be attending for you. We really need leaders with passion, creativity, and energy, to help us make a difference in 2018!!

Employee and Affinity Group Council Members,

Welcome back! I look forward to working with you as well as we kick off the 2018 season! Let's go!

The agenda, updated charter, and any other prep materials will be added to this invitation by Friday, January 12.

Thanks in advance for your commitment and support,
Denise

2018 session 1 EEPS agenda_1.8...

Thanks for connecting us!

Jim: thank you for your interest in EEPS. Below is the formal invitation. The session would be from 10:40-11:50 AM this upcoming Monday, 1/22. I'm also happy to talk over the phone or through further email to clarify any details. The best number is

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"On behalf of Rick Hess and Mike Petrilli, I'd like to invite you to participate in a private meeting jointly sponsored by the American Enterprise Institute and the Thomas B. Fordham Institute. As part of our Emerging Education Policy Scholars discussion series, this meeting will be held on Monday and Tuesday, January 22nd and 23rd at AEI. We ask that you consider spending one hour with us to lead a discussion entitled "The Executive Branch: What is it like on the inside?" by talking about some of your work in education policy.

Here's a bit of background: our Emerging Education Policy Scholars (EEPS) project is a one and half day discussion series that aims to introduce promising new scholars into the education policy arena. Roughly twenty up-and-coming Ph.D. scholars are selected from an application process and are then invited to Washington to meet with various think-tankers, policymakers, and reformers in an informal setting. Our goal is to increase the understanding of how the realms of policy and scholarly research intersect.

Your session would take place on Monday, January 22 from 10:40am – 11:50am, and you'll only need to join us for that hour. The discussion will be very informal—no slides or powerpoints—and will be mostly a conversation between you and the EEPS moderated by Rick or Mike. We'll give you a few guiding questions (What is it like working on education policy inside the Executive Branch? How can research influence policy?) and about 5 minutes at the beginning to give a bit of background on who you are and what you do, but this will be an open discussion rather than a presentation."

Thank you!

Subject: [EXTERNAL] Bill to Modify Capital Finance Program

Good morning Ja'Ron,
Hope you're doing well. Please see attached bill that I've developed with a consultant to modify the HBCU Capital Finance Act. It would be a wonderful Christmas for HBCUs if this language could be added to the Tax Bill. It does the following:

1. Broadens the program to include all Minority Serving Institutions, changing the program to the Minority Serving Institutions Capital Financing Program. This allows the Hispanic Serving Institutions impacted by the recent Hurricanes "Harvey, Irma, and Maria" to have access to capital to address their infrastructure. [DEW] (b)(5)

(b)(5)

2. Allows for deferral and forbearance and extends the terms to 50 years, providing relief for Stillman and other institutions with similar issues. [DEW] (b)(5)

(b)(5)

3. It provides loan forgiveness for institutions with existing loans suffering from more than 50% destruction by natural disaster - assisting the Katrina impacted institutions. [DEW] (b)(5)

Tuesday

4. It provides for private investment - provides incentives through a tax credit for private industry to partner with HBCUs and MSIs; the goal of the Executive Order; and also gives interest relief for the institutions. This existing program is being used for Charter School infrastructure development and improvements. [DEW] (b)(5)

(b)(5)

Congresswoman Sheila Jackson Lee is seeking bi-partisan co-sponsors with the HBCU caucus. That seems like it will take longer to me; it would be my wish to add it to the Tax bill to generate immediate relief for HBCUs.

Thank you for your assistance.

What is it?

This email is to remind you that the mandatory Cybersecurity and Privacy Awareness (CSPA) Training Course 1: Cybersecurity & Privacy Basics (2018) must be completed by March 2, 2018. This is a general course focusing on CSPA information that addresses current cyber security threats across multiple topic areas. You must complete CSPA Course 1 to retain network access. The training will take approximately 1 hour to complete and a minimum score of 80% is required to pass. Additional information is available on ConnectED: https://connected.ed.gov/cybertraining/Pages/Mandatory-Cybersecurity-and-Privacy-Awareness-Training-Available-On-Line.aspx

How does it impact me?

Users who do not complete mandatory security training by 11:59PM EST on March 2, 2018, will have their ED user network account suspended.
The Web-Based Training for Federal Employees is available on the Talent Management System (TMS).
The Web-Based Training for Contractors and employees who do not have TMS access is available on-line at SecurityTouch@ed.gov.

2:00 PM - 3:00 PM Regulatory Reform Task Force--CONFIRMING DATE, TIME, AND LOCATION OF JANUARY MEETING -- WDCFB6-240-20 (Managed)
Colleagues:

This confirms that we will proceed with the January RRTF meeting on Thursday, January 25 from 2-3. You may have on your calendar another RRTF meeting in Room 6E-251. That is a stale invitation that I will shortly cancel to clean up our calendars. The attached is the correct invite.

At the January 25 meeting, each POC should be prepared to provide the following:

- A brief overview of its preparations to respond to the House oversight letter
- A brief overview of the number, type, and content of the comments received from the public relating to the POC
  - Please pay particular attention to those comments with thoughtful, helpful ideas and policy proposals
  - Please think how your POC might use these comments as a basis for regulatory relief in certain areas

Elizabeth and Hilary will also discuss the Spring 2018 Unified Agenda, and Hilary and Alisa will give us an update on the regulatory review website refresh.

We'll also have an update on the agenda for the February meeting, as well as on continued steps for our review effort.

Thanks,
Bob

Colleagues:

Welcome to the refreshed Regulatory Reform Task Force! Elizabeth, Hilary, and I would like to inform you about a few new developments and to provide several reminders.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Membership. I have attached an updated membership list to take into account recent arrivals and departures. I ask that you not forward this invitation to others without prior approval from Elizabeth and me. Given the lower frequency of the Task Force meetings (see below), we would appreciate you making every effort to attend in person. We realize that there are unavoidable conflicts (negotiated rulemaking, Hill meetings, etc.), but the expectation is that each member will attend monthly meetings of the RRTF. Obviously, you will continue to work with your staffs internally within your POC.

Meetings. The Task Force will meet monthly (fourth Thursdays) (or as needed). Accordingly, I have cancelled the weekly recurring invitation and replaced it with this one. In this manner, we will cut down on the number of cancelled meetings and focus everyone's energies on a single monthly meeting.

Next Steps. With regard to ongoing activity, our next steps are for the agency to complete its response to the House Government & Oversight Committee request for information concerning guidance (ideally, by late January) and for each POC to complete its review of regulatory review comments from the public. At the January 25 meeting, each POC should be prepared to provide the following:

- A brief overview of its response to the oversight letter
- A brief overview of the number, type, and content of the comments received from the public relating to the POC
    - Please pay particular attention to those comments with thoughtful, helpful ideas and policy proposals
    - Please think how your POC might use these comments as a basis for regulatory relief in certain areas

Hilary and Alisa are also working on ways to refresh and renew the Department's Regulatory Reform website and will provide a brief update on that project.

Unified Agenda. I have attached the most recent Unified Agenda . As you know, the Unified Agenda publishes twice a year—generally the Spring Agenda publishes in April and the Fall Agenda in October. As we have discussed previously, if you wish to publish a rule (including a proposed rule or rescission), you must include an entry for it in the most recent agenda. So, if you plan to publish a rule between April and October, you would need to include an entry for it in the Spring Agenda. We will be requesting information from you for the Spring Agenda at the end of February/beginning of March. Please work with your staff to be prepared to respond to these requests. This is a critical matter —the Department's proposed Strategic Plan and related performance metrics with OMB take these items into account.

Please let us know if you have any questions. Many thanks for your work on this important project.

Regards,
Bob

Pre meet for briefing with Ed and WF on:
1) We would like a general update on the status of the Next Generation Financial Services Environment (NextGen) process. Here are a few of our specific questions:

- Market Research responses are due on January 4. How long will FSA take to review the answers and will those responses drastically alter the current vision of the NextGen proposal?
- The "Cyber Security Protection Layer" of NextGen seeks to allow access to multiple providers. How will FSA appropriately limit contractor access to sensitive data and protect borrower's privacy?
- What are the Department's next steps in the process? What is timeline for posting a formal solicitation?

3) We would like a status update on the FAFSA's IRS data retrieval tool.

4) We would like a meeting with Dr. Johnson to learn about his plans for FSA and his intentions for FAFSA simplification he had previously mentioned

Please advise who you need to accompany you to answer these questions. Please note we need to keep the meeting to essential personnel only.

Jim,
Hope all is well. Reaching out to provide some context around the CMS Form to access the Center's website so we can update and have an ongoing process of updating. My understanding from Jim Mould was that the Center's website is a WordPress site (not connected to ED's main site) and thus, we route requests through the contractor helping to support DST. The contractor sent Angel and I the forms so that an admin and editor could be identified within the Center. The admin has a few more capabilities (the contractor recommended that I serve as the admin) and the editor is able to update content, as needed.

Double checked with Jim Mould and Nancy Phipps isn't a part of this process.

With my dual role with OCO, I'll be closely monitoring that what goes on the Center's website is aligned with our overall OCO messaging.

Hi Everyone,

The Ed and Workforce Committee (Majority) has requested a call for a briefing to update them on the PCA contract process and Jim Manning has requested your participation in this discussion. Here are the questions they would like to address:

"We would like an update on the disputed Private Collection Agency contract and the Department's plan to announce a new award under the corrective action.

- Since the injunction was lifted, how many accounts have been placed with small businesses and under the 2016 Award Term Extensions to Alltran and Pioneer? How many have yet to be placed?
- What is the value of the loans in default?
- What is the expected loss in revenue from what would've likely been collected from these loans?
- How many complaints has ED received from borrowers? Is any relief being sought by individuals due to the prolonged negative impact to their credit

Please walk us through where the accounts stand and what we can expect in terms of new complaints from other PCAs.

Wayne – please feel free to designate someone from your team at FSA as you see fit.

Hi Linda. Very nice to speak with you this morning. As promised, I'm following up to confirm that meeting with Wayne at 9am on Thursday, February 1, does indeed work for everyone on our side. Joining me will be Viet Dinh, General Counsel of Strayer Education Inc., Mike Buttry of Capella Education and Dick Senese, president of Capella University.

I much appreciate your assistance and look forward to seeing you next week.

Warm regards,

Brian

As you likely know, my office helps facilitate access for Government Accountability Office (GAO) engagements for the Department. Per below, Melissa Emrey-Arras, Director for GAO's Education, Workforce and Income Security group, has requested a meet and greet with you three for her and Barbara Bovbjerg, Managing Director for Education, Workforce and Income Security. Dianne Naber on my staff will work with you all and GAO to facilitate this request. Please let us know with whom she should coordinate on your schedules. I will plan on joining the meeting as well, if possible, and Joe Conaty will likely also join since he has broad visibility into our work with GAO.

Subject: Meet and greet with ED officials

Hi Tracey,

Happy holidays! I'm reaching out to see if we could set up a friendly meet and greet with some of the Education officials connected to higher ed. Would it be possible to arrange a time for Barbara Bovbjerg, myself, and one of our higher ed Assistant Directors to meet with Dr. Wayne Johnson, Jay Hurt and Michael Dean? (Matt Sessa mentioned that Jay Hurt will be taking over his work when he leaves ED. Matt also said that it would be helpful for us to meet with Michael Dean.)

Would one of the following dates/times work for a meet and greet at Education? (We're happy to meet at your offices—just let us know which ED location is best.)

Just clarifying that we will have an internal pre-meet prep session from 11:30am-12:00noon tomorrow and will then call the hill from 12:00-12:30.

The Ed and Workforce Committee (Majority) has requested a briefing on borrower defense. Here is the request:

We would like an update on borrow defense claims. Some specific questions we have include:

- Does the Department have an exchange agreement with SSA to retrieve aggregate earnings information for borrower defense purposes? If so, please explain. If not, why not?
- How does the Department intend to obtain the individual earnings information of the borrower seeking relief?
- When obtaining earnings information from SSA, how would this process differ from the earnings information retrieved in compliance with the GE rule?

Let's plan to do an internal pre-meet from 11:30 and then call the committee at 11:30-12:00noon.

Thanks and please let me know if you have any questions.

Subject: Audit Initiation Site Visit - FSA Ombudsman Group

Dear Mr. Manning,

This email confirms the arrangements that we made in January 2018, for an initial site visit related to the planned U.S. Department of Education, Office of Inspector General audit of the FSA Ombudsman Group. The objective of the audit is to determine whether the Federal Student Aid Ombudsman Group receives, reviews, and resolves borrower complaints appropriately and timely. We will evaluate Ombudsman Group policies, procedures, and practices in effect for the period October 31, 2016 – December 31, 2017. The audit is authorized by the Inspector General Act of 1978 (5 U.S.C. App. §§ 2 and 4).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We will conduct the audit in accordance with the Government Auditing Standards (2011 Revision), published by the Comptroller General of the United States.

- Government Auditing Standards, paragraph 6.07 states that planning is a continuous process throughout the audit, and auditors might need to adjust the audit objectives, scope, and methodology as work is being completed. Thus, the purpose of the audit might be modified during our review. We will promptly inform you of any significant modifications.
- Government Auditing Standards, paragraph 6.12 states that, as part of the audit, auditors should communicate with those charged with governance, that is, those responsible for overseeing the strategic direction of your organization and your organization's fulfillment of its obligations related to accountability. Thus, the U.S. Department of Education's Office of the Under Secretary is copied on this notification.
- Government Auditing Standards, paragraph 7.03 states that auditors must issue audit reports communicating the results of each completed performance audit. Unless otherwise restricted, the final report will be available to the public and will contain any comments on a draft audit report that you provide.

The initial site visit meeting is scheduled for 9:00 am on February 12, 2018, at your offices. We will begin our work immediately following the meeting. During our visit, we will need access to a private work area for five auditors, with telephone and internet access, if possible.

Below is a list of Federal Student Aid Ombudsman Group staff we would like to interview from Monday, February 12, 2018 – Thursday, February 15, 2018. Included on the interview list are three Senture contractors.

1. Joyce DeMoss – Ombudsman
2. Corwin Jennings – Operations Officer
3. John Barth – Knowledge Manager
4. Thaddeus Bartkowiak – Senior Team Lead Advisor
5. Vander Cherry – Clerical Assistant
6. John Drombosky – Knowledge Management
7. Shavon Holland – COR/SSO/Tech Support
8. Linda Johnson – Assistant Dispute Management Specialist
9. Linda Clarke – Dispute Management Oversight Lead
10. Senture Contractor- Program Manager/Supervisor
11. Senture Contractor- Research Specialist
12. Contractor- Program Manager – Information (Intake) Specialist

Our goal is to limit the duration of the interviews to no more than one hour. Please provide the interview schedule no later than Thursday, February 1, 2018. Let us know if you have any questions or concerns.

CONFIRMED: Call with Ed & Workforce (Majority) to discuss Borrower Defense -- OLCA conference room and (b)(6)

Hi Everyone,

Confirming our call with the Ed and Workforce Committee (Majority) staff for Monday to discuss their questions about borrower defense:

ADDITIONAL QUESTIONS FROM ED & WORKFORCE RE: BORROWER DEFENSE (RECEIVED 2/6/18):

1. The GE rule requires institutions to report data to the Secretary on students who completed or withdrew from a GE program. The Secretary takes this data and creates a list of students who completed the program to, eventually, be sent to the Social Security Administration (SSA) for earnings information. Only the data of students who have received federal financial assistance for enrolling in a GE program can be used according to the rule.
    a. How does the Department justify using the exchange agreement with the SSA for aggregate earnings data for GE purposes as legal ground to obtain this information for borrower defense purposes?
    b. The GE rule only allows for data to be collected on students enrolling in GE programs. Given that the borrower defense process applies to all students and not students solely in GE programs, how does the Department justify collecting data on students outside of GE programs for the purposes of borrower defense?
    c. What authority does the Department have to utilize data obtained from the information sharing agreement between ED and SSA for GE for the purpose of calculating partial relief for borrower defense?

2. The Department indicated that it would award students relief based on a percentage structure comparing cohorts of students to other cohorts at varying institutions. When determining who in the cohort will fall into the various percentage categories, how does the Department intend to do this without a student's personally identifiable information being revealed, especially if the cohort is small?

3. Given the calculation for interest to be credited to the borrower on loans starting one year after the borrower defense application has been filed, will this credit be applied to all existing applications? What will be the calculation used by the Department to determine the amount of credit to be applied to the accrued interest?

We would like an update on borrow defense claims. Some specific questions we have include:

- Does the Department have an exchange agreement with SSA to retrieve aggregate earnings information for borrower defense purposes? If so, please explain. If not, why not?
- How does the Department intend to obtain the individual earnings information of the borrower seeking relief?
- When obtaining earnings information from SSA, how would this process differ from the earnings information retrieved in compliance with the GE rule?

Subject: Meeting with Jim Preston?

Jim Preston will be in DC on Friday and was wondering if you might have time free for him to come by to meet. I know he has some issues he'd like to raise with you including the federal preemption issue, the current state of affairs in the world of guaranty agencies, and some items that seem to be inhibiting us on the state grant side of the house.

Is there any chance that you would have time on Friday, Februray 2nd at 1:30 or 2:00?

If that does not work, maybe we could figure something out over next few weeks.

Hope all is well!

Thank you

Scott

This meeting is to discuss the CDR waiver language in the new budget law and steps moving forward.

In addition to discussing the language included in the final budget agreement last week and its ramifications, we'd also like to discuss the below request for technical assistance on the call tomorrow. Senator Hoeven's office has amended the TA we provided last week that would have included United Tribes Technical College in the scope of the waiver authority in the language in the CR. As you can see below, they amended it to (1) work for a potential omnibus spending bill as opposed to a CR, and (2) include the eligibility of TCUs, as opposed to the Perkins section 117 recipients we discussed the other day. I will include this on the calendar invite, but wanted to make everyone separately aware. Thank you.

SEC. 162. For the purpose of carrying out section 435(a)(2) of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (HEA) (20 U.S.C. 1085(a)(2)), during the Fiscal Years of 2018 and 2019 the Secretary of Education may waive the requirement under section 435(a)(5)(A)(ii) of the HEA (20 U.S.C. 1085(a)(5)(A)(ii)) for —

(a) an institution of higher education that offers an associate degree, is a public institution, and is located in an economically distressed county, defined as a county that ranks in the lowest 5 percent of all counties in the United States based on a national index of county economic status~~,~~; or

(b) an institution that is a Tribal College or University, as defined under HEA section 316 (b)(3).

: Provided, That this section shall apply to an institution of higher education that otherwise would be ineligible to participate in a program under part A of title IV of the HEA on or after the date of enactment of this Act due to the application of section 435(a)(2) of the HEA.

It's the official return of the policy committee! These meetings will occur bi-weekly on Thursday for up to 90 minutes. Please do not forward this invitation. If you are unable to attend and would like to nominate a surrogate, please email Ebony directly.

General Format:

30 Minutes – Policy Idea Discussion
30 Minutes – Policy Decisions
30 Minutes (if needed) – Fire Drills (last minute, unexpected issues that are time sensitive)

Discussion and Decision items need to be submitted 48 hours in advance. That means no later than EOD on Tuesdays before the Thursday meeting. Those should be sent to Ebony with a CC to Martha Davis. If you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to reach out. Thanks!

See you all Thursday!

Hello all,

Wayne stopped by this morning and asked me to convene an internal meeting to discuss where we are with FAFSA 3.0 and to determine next steps. People's schedules are tight especially with the holiday weekend. However, this time next week appears to work for most folks.

Thanks,

2:00 PM - 3:00 PM Exit conference for a GAO study about (b)(5) - Conference call
I am writing to invite you to an exit conference for a GAO study about (b)(5) (b)(5) FSA is the lead office on the study. The meeting will be held at 2:00 PM on February 22 by conference call.

A Statement of Facts is attached. In the event people want to provide written comments, GAO indicates it would need to receive them by February 22 in order to be able to use them to alter the draft report prior to sending it to us. If you want to provide written comments, please get those comments to Kwaku Appiah and cc: Jim Houser by COB February 14 so we will have time to clear them.

Regulatory Reform Task Force -- Secretary's Conference Room
Colleagues:

Welcome to the refreshed Regulatory Reform Task Force! Elizabeth, Hilary, and I would like to inform you about a few new developments and to provide several reminders.

Membership. I have attached an updated membership list to take into account recent arrivals and departures. I ask that you not forward this invitation to others without prior approval from Elizabeth and me. Given the lower frequency of the Task Force meetings (see below), we would appreciate you making every effort to attend in person. We realize that there are unavoidable conflicts (negotiated rulemaking, Hill meet ngs, etc.), but the expectation is that each member will attend monthly meetings of the RRTF. Obviously, you will continue to work with your staffs internally within your POC.

Meetings. The Task Force will meet monthly (fourth Thursdays) (or as needed). Accordingly, I have cancelled the weekly recurring invitation and replaced it with this one. In this manner, we will cut down on the number of cancelled meetings and focus everyone's energies on a single monthly meeting.

Next Steps. With regard to ongoing activity, our next steps are for the agency to complete its response to the House Government & Oversight Committee request for information concerning guidance (ideally, by late January) and for each POC to complete its review of regulatory review comments from the public. At the January 25 meeting, each POC should be prepared to provide the following:

- A brief overview of its response to the oversight letter

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- A brief overview of the number, type, and content of the comments received from the public relating to the POC
  - Please pay particular attention to those comments with thoughtful, helpful ideas and policy proposals
  - Please think how your POC might use these comments as a basis for regulatory relief in certain areas

Hilary and Alisa are also working on ways to refresh and renew the Department's Regulatory Reform website and will provide a brief update on that project.

Unified Agenda. I have attached the most recent Unified Agenda . As you know, the Unified Agenda publishes twice a year—generally the Spring Agenda publishes in April and the Fall Agenda in October. As we have discussed previously, if you wish to publish a rule (including a proposed rule or rescission), you must include an entry for it in the most recent agenda. So, if you plan to publish a rule between April and October, you would need to include an entry for it in the Spring Agenda. We will be requesting information from you for the Spring Agenda at the end of February/beginning of March. Please work with your staff to be prepared to respond to these requests. This is a critical matter —the Department's proposed Strategic Plan and related performance metrics with OMB take these items into account.

Please let us know if you have any questions. Many thanks for your work on this important project.

Regards,
Bob

- Cohort Default Rate flexibility: We have language in the CR to provide some additional flexibility to IHEs in certain circumstances. Can we talk about what kind of flexibility the Secretary has now to waive CDR penalties, and how often the Secretary has waived penalties or provided any kind of regulatory relief? Also, the United Tribes Technical College also has a CDR issue. The CR language allows the Secretary to waive the 70% program completion requirement for the purposes of meeting the exceptional mitigating circumstances definition. My understanding is that is that Southeast Kentucky Community and Technical College meets all of the other requirements for exceptional mitigating circumstances, is that correct? Does UTTC satisfy all of the other requirements as well?

Kathleen,

I hope you are well.

Steve Townsend, who I worked with on a lot of pension issues during his time on HELP, spoke very highly of you and shared your contact information with me.

On behalf of Fidelity Investments, we wanted to request the opportunity to meet with you to discuss work the company has been doing to help with student loan debt. Specifically, Fidelity has established the Student Debt Employer Contribution program to assist employers in making after-tax contributions towards participants loans (press released attached). We would also like the share with you some of the technical challenges we have experienced in our work on student loans with loan servicers and Department as well.

Our group will include some folks from Boston, but we are certainly flexible in terms of meeting times. Please let us know when might be best for you.

We look forward to the opportunity to meet with you to discuss these important issues.

Hope this message finds you both well. I am following up on Carrie Coxen's note from late last week regarding a potential meeting with Kathleen Smith and Jim Manning for the Chancellor of the Texas State University System, along with 7 institution Presidents from within the system. Attached is a formal request with all of the information needed. However, if you need any clarification, just let me know.

Thank you for your assistance.

I hope this message finds you well. I believe you were originally corresponding with Jessica Newman who is now on maternity leave. We wanted to follow up on the request for the Delegation from the Texas State University System for March 14th or 15th. Unfortunately, due to conflicts in her schedule the Secretary is not able to meet with the group at this time. We would love to have you meet with Kathleen Smith, Senior Advisor to the Assistant Secretary in the Office of Postsecondary Education and Jim Manning, the Chief Operating Officer of Federal Student Aid. I have Alexandra Pena and Paula Hill on this email. Please reach out to Alexandra and Paula directly to schedule a meeting.

Regulatory Reform Task Force -- Secretary's Conference Room

Final ED Agenda Entries_110920...

lleagues:

Welcome to the refreshed Regulatory Reform Task Force! Elizabeth, Hilary, and I would like to inform you about a few new developments and to provide several reminders.

Membership. I have attached an updated membership list to take into account recent arrivals and departures. I ask that you not forward this invitation to others without prior approval from Elizabeth and me. Given the lower frequency of the Task Force meetings (see below), we would appreciate you making every effort to attend in person. We realize that there are unavoidable conflicts (negotiated rulemaking, Hill meetings, etc.), but the expectation is that each member will attend monthly meetings of the RRTF. Obviously, you will continue to work with your staffs internally within your POC.

Meetings. The Task Force will meet monthly (fourth Thursdays) (or as needed). Accordingly, I have cancelled the weekly recurring invitation and replaced it with this one. In this manner, we will cut down on the number of cancelled meetings and focus everyone's energies on a single monthly meeting.

Next Steps. With regard to ongoing activity, our next steps are for the agency to complete its response to the House Government & Oversight Committee request for information concerning guidance (ideally, by late January) and for each POC to complete its review of regulatory review comments from the public. At the January 25 meeting, each POC should be prepared to provide the following:

- A brief overview of its response to the oversight letter
- A brief overview of the number, type, and content of the comments received from the public relating to the POC
    - Please pay particular attention to those comments with thoughtful, helpful ideas and policy proposals
    - Please think how your POC might use these comments as a basis for regulatory relief in certain areas

Hilary and Alisa are also working on ways to refresh and renew the Department's Regulatory Reform website and will provide a brief update on that project.

Unified Agenda. I have attached the most recent Unified Agenda . As you know, the Unified Agenda publishes twice a year—generally the Spring Agenda publishes in April and the Fall Agenda in October. As we have discussed previously, if you wish to publish a rule (including a proposed rule or rescission), you must include an entry for it in the most recent agenda. So, if you plan to publish a rule between April and October, you would need to include an entry for it in the Spring Agenda. We will be requesting information from you for the Spring Agenda at the end of February/beginning of March. Please work with your staff to be prepared to respond to these requests. This is a critical matter —the Department's proposed Strategic Plan and related performance metrics with OMB take these items into account.

Please let us know if you have any questions. Many thanks for your work on this important project.

Regards,
Bob

C lleagues,

I realize that this mail list may not reflect recent personnel changes and appreciate any efforts you can make to ensure that the invitation is extended to the correct people. The purpose of this meeting will be to prepare for the quarterly performance review on March 28th with the Deputy Secretary. We especially need the objective leaders prepared to report progress on the milestones. We will use a part of this meeting to introduce our new goal leader – Frank Brogan – to the goal two leaders and the information we will be presenting to the PIO on the 28th. Thank you for making the necessary adjustments to attend this meeting.

032918 - FSA Payment Card le...

Hi Team,

This internal pre-meet will be to discuss questions from the hill about the payment vehicle in advance of hill briefings next week.

Attached are two letters with questions from various Senate offices and below are questions from the Education and Workforce Committee to facilitate our discussion.

QUESTIONS FROM ED AND WORKFORCE:

Process

1. How long will the pilot be?
2. FSA stated in the pre-solicitation notice that in order to load the payment card with loan refunds, the institution would be responsible for this task and communicate with students about the fund status as they currently do. Can you explain the relationship the institution will have with the program manager and all the parties involved?

3. When providing the assessment of the pilot program, what metrics will FSA use to determine its success? Will it simply be based on the number of students that take advantage of the program? Also, what is the likelihood that this program would not continue to move forward given the results of the assessment?
4. FSA indicated that the program manager(s) selected for the pilot program may be able to expand beyond the pilot phase with the approval of FSA under the same terms and conditions as contracted for under the pilot program. Is it the expectation that the program manager(s) selected for the pilot will be the only ones providing the services if the pilot is extended? What is the likelihood that additional program managers would be selected and would their terms and conditions mirror those of the program manager(s) already in operation?

Oversight

1. It is our understanding that the payment card program will not charge any fees to the student or the institution. How does FSA plan to provide proper oversight to ensure that hidden fees are indeed not being charged? Is it the intention that fees will not be charged as long as a borrower is enrolled at an institution? Considering the nature of the desired long-term financial relationship, will there ever be fees passed along to the borrower?

Data Security

1. The pre-solicitation notice states that "all data associated with the FSA Payment Card Program belongs solely to FSA." Given this statement, what will the data sharing agreement between FSA and the program managers regarding the borrower's data include? More specifically, does FSA plan to obtain data when a borrower enters into new financial relationships with the program manager? If so, what is the reason and rational for accessing that data?
2. It is mentioned in the pre-solicitation notice that the payment card program would be highly restricted to cross marketing without the consent of the borrower. Is it the intention of FSA to require program managers to require borrower to consent to each type of marketing practice or have a blanket "one size fits all" consent structure for the marketing of various products?
3. To protect against fraud, a majority of financial institutions have enabled additional card security measures to include CHIP. Can you explain the level of security that will be placed on the payment card?

Exceeding FSA's Role

1. A large number of the desired additional program functionalities would extend well beyond allowing borrowers to receive loan refunds. In particular, the ability of borrowers to set up various financial accounts, participate in rewards programs, and transfer and receive funds from peers are functions that consumers have access to at commercial banks. Given the FSA's role in administering the student loan program, what authority does FSA have to partner with the financial sector in this capacity?
2. Future borrowers may have the ability to mix funds, so their account could contain federal student aid, money from friends and family, and paychecks earned from work. Would the counseling feature prohibit borrowers from using the dollars not associated with federal aid on non-education purposes? Will FSA have access to the data that shows where they money is coming from, how often they are getting additional funds, and how much they are getting? How will FSA draw a distinction from federal and non-federal sources?

Friday

Please let me know if you have any questions and see you tomorrow!

-Scott

9:00 AM - 3:30 PM Udall Foundation Meeting -- Udall Foundation Office, 130 S Scott Avenue, Tucson, AZ

Dear Trustees and Trustee Reps:

Thank you all for your responses to the Doodle Polls for the next Board meeting. It is very helpful to our efforts to try to find a date that works for as many of us as possible. This process is always a bit like working multiple Rubik's Cubes blindfolded. It became even more complicated this time by the likelihood that we will have Tadd Johnson and Lisa Johnson Billy with us for the first time at the meeting. Among other considerations, that meant that we needed to try to choose a date when they both could arrive a few days early so that we will have an opportunity to help them get up to speed on the work of the staff, the enabling legislation, the status of the work of the IG, ethics requirements and related matters.

We would like to try to maintain the momentum we have established over the past two years as we hopefully complete the verification of the internal controls with the IG and start working with Congress on amendments to the enabling legislation, among other things.

The meeting date that works best for most of us and for Lisa and Tadd is April 11th. For those who can't make it for entire meeting that day, we hope you will be able to join us by the video link for at least part of the day. We regret that there will be a few of us who cannot make it at all. There just was not a date that worked for everyone.

We do expect that the meeting will last a full day, 9:00 AM to approximately 3:30 PM. It will be held in Tucson, but we will have the usual videoconference/telephone options for those who cannot travel to Tucson for the meeting. We will have an informal Board dinner the evening of the 10th so that those of you who are able to travel to Tucson will have an opportunity to visit with Lisa and Tadd.

On a related matter, our initial round of meetings with members of the House and Senate to explore the feasibility of amending the enabling legislation went well. We hope to have a first draft of amendments to share with everyone in the next several weeks as this process gets underway.

We hope that each of you and your families have a wonderful holiday season and that the new year gets off to a good start for you.

Under Secretary Manning,

Good afternoon, and I hope you are well.

I am writing on behalf of Dr. Michael Lomax, president and CEO of the UNCF.

We are hopeful we can schedule a meeting with you this week concerning the HBCU Capital Finance Program. As you know, this program received a $10 million increase (to have a $30 million total) in the FY 2018 omnibus appropriations bill, and Dr. Lomax would like to meet with you at your earliest convenience to discuss it. Would you have a Wednesday afternoon available?

Thank you.

Best,
Lodriguez

FY18_ALL_STAFF...

In the event you are inclined to provide written comments to GAO on the statement of fact, please prepare them in advance of the exit conference. GAO often provides us with a short amount of time to provide written comments after an exit conference, often just two days, and we would likely need time to clear those comments.

Thanks and have a nice weekend!

I am writing to invite you to an exit conference for a GAO study about Public Service Loan Forgiveness. FSA has been the lead office on the study. The meeting will be held by conference call. GAO indicates that the Statement of Fact is not yet ready, but they plan to send it to us prior to the exit conference. I will add it to the meeting invite when I receive it.

Here is our call information:

Dial-in Number: (b)(6)

Participant Access Code:

Please do not place the call on hold if you participate. The result of that is the Department of Education's "muzak" starts to play, disrupting the phone call. That can cause us to need to hang up and start the call again using a new call number and passcode. Please keep in mind that if you need to take an incoming phone call, you can hang up on the conference call, take the other call, and dial back in to the conference call.

Colleagues:

Welcome to the refreshed Regulatory Reform Task Force! Elizabeth, Hilary, and I would like to inform you about a few new developments and to provide several reminders.

Membership. I have attached an updated membership list to take into account recent arrivals and departures. I ask that you not forward this invitation to others without prior approval from Elizabeth and me. Given the lower frequency of the Task Force meetings (see below), we would appreciate you making every effort to attend in person. We realize that there are unavoidable conflicts (negotiated rulemaking, Hill meetings, etc.), but the expectation is that each member will attend monthly meetings of the RRTF. Obviously, you will continue to work with your staffs internally within your POC.

Meetings. The Task Force will meet monthly (fourth Thursdays) (or as needed). Accordingly, I have cancelled the weekly recurring invitation and replaced it with this one. In this manner, we will cut down on the number of cancelled meetings and focus everyone's energies on a single monthly meeting.

Next Steps. With regard to ongoing activity, our next steps are for the agency to complete its response to the House Government & Oversight Committee request for information concerning guidance (ideally, by late January) and for each POC to complete its review of regulatory review comments from the public. At the January 25 meeting, each POC should be prepared to provide the following:

- A brief overview of its response to the oversight letter

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- A brief overview of the number, type, and content of the comments received from the public relating to the POC
  - Please pay particular attention to those comments with thoughtful, helpful ideas and policy proposals
  - Please think how your POC might use these comments as a basis for regulatory relief in certain areas

Hilary and Alisa are also working on ways to refresh and renew the Department's Regulatory Reform website and will provide a brief update on that project.

Unified Agenda. I have attached the most recent Unified Agenda . As you know, the Unified Agenda publishes twice a year—generally the Spring Agenda publishes in April and the Fall Agenda in October. As we have discussed previously, if you wish to publish a rule (including a proposed rule or rescission), you must include an entry for it in the most recent agenda. So, if you plan to publish a rule between April and October, you would need to include an entry for it in the Spring Agenda. We will be requesting information from you for the Spring Agenda at the end of February/beginning of March. Please work with your staff to be prepared to respond to these requests. This is a critical matter —the Department's proposed Strategic Plan and related performance metrics with OMB take these items into account.

Please let us know if you have any questions. Many thanks for your work on this important project.

Regards,
Bob

Dear Team,

As you know, May 6-12 marks the annual celebration of Public Service Recognition Week, a time to pause and honor the great work of public servants. Of course, this same week is also Teacher Appreciation Week.

It is no coincidence – indeed, it is appropriate – that both professions are recognized on the same week. Every teacher, in every school, performs a public service by educating America's youth. So too does each employee at the Department, in every office, help support students' success. Our mission – serving students – is the same.

As part of the Department's work to recognize your efforts, please join me, department leaders and your colleagues for a Walk and Roll Appreciation Stroll on Tuesday, May 8. Enjoy the warm weather while taking in the spring blooms during this 30-minute walk on the National Mall. We'll gather in the Maryland Avenue lobby (west), LBJ Building, at 9:30 am and reconvene after the walk for healthy snacks and conversation.

9:30 am – Welcoming Remarks
9:35 am – Walk Kickoff
10:10 am – Light Refreshments

If you require a reasonable accommodation to participate in this event, beyond sign-language interpretation services, please contact Okhee Shim (OM) by phone at (202) 453-6957 or email Okhee.Shim@ed.gov.

I remain humbled and grateful to be surrounded by so many dedicated public servants here at the Department and look forward to our continued work on behalf of America's students.

Sincerely,

Betsy

As you may be aware, Mr. Manning serves on our board. At our April board meeting, Mr. Manning expressed a desire to have a follow-up telephone conversation to learn more about our work on that project. I am reaching out to you to see if you would be able to help set that up. Since I only joined the Foundation staff last month, I would like to include my colleague Melanie Knapp, who has years of experience with this project. Both Melanie and I have a number of available windows in common the week of May 14, and I am wondering if any of these would work for Mr. Manning. (We are in the Pacific time zone, but times mentioned below have been converted to Eastern time.)

Re: American Oversight v. U.S. Department of Commerce, et al. – Productions II & III
Civil Action No.: 1:18-cv-00534-KBJ
FOIA Request No.: 18-00235-F

Dear Ms. Kaiser Creighton, Esquire:

As per our conversation today, enclosed please find a resubmission of one (1) CD (Production II) that is in response to the above-captioned FOIA request/case that was sent to a UPS facility at your former address on August 22, 2018.

1. Simmons (996 pages)
2. Lee (1,158 pages)
3. Johnson (461 pages)
4. Manning (521 pages)

Additionally, I have enclosed a second CD (Production III) which provides two more calendars responsive to your FOIA request.

1. Kent Talbert (ODS) (73 pages)
2. Adam Kissel (OPE) (835 pages)

With the addition of these six (6) calendars, you will have received 13 of 14 calendars responsive to your request. The outstanding calendar is that of Jason Botel which the agency has advised you it will be able to provide on or before Friday, October 19, 2018. Subject: Morning Introduction (HBCU Endowment)

Good morning –

It was a pleasure to meet you this morning. I hope your meeting with the HBCU team and Stillman College went well. Please let me know if you have any follow up questions and I will make sure that I follow up with Dr. Josephine Hamilton as well.

If you have time in the next couple of weeks, and would like to, I'd enjoy an opportunity to talk to you about the endowment activity in Title III/V as well as other work that I am involved in (e.g., SharePoint, IT infrastructure) within the Institutional Program Development Division of Institutional Service. I have had a vast range of jobs in my time here (e.g., program officer, confidential assistant, project manager… to name a few) and I am happy to share my experiences.

I hope you had a productive meeting this morning and have a wonderful rest of the day.

Subject: Signatures for Cap Financing Loan Closing Documents - Tuskegee University

Hello Paula,

I write as a reminder that we are looking to secure Kathleen Smith's signature on loan documents related to the upcoming closing for Tuskegee University. The documents, forms of which are attached, have been placed on OPE letterhead, and hard copies are currently making their way through HEP's clearance process. As mentioned previously, the form of these documents have been reviewed, negotiated and approved by the general counsels of Departments of Education and Treasury and cannot change.

Once Kathleen receives and executes the documents by noon on Wednesday August 2nd, we will then secure the legal opinion of OGC and move to finalize closing with the rest of the financing team.

Thank you again for your attention to this matter.

Hello Paula:

Will Kathleen be available on November August 2 before 2:00pm to sign loan documents (Letters of Credit and Secretary's Certificates) for the HBCU Capital Financing Program?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Kathleen is the only individual with legal authority to sign the Letter of Credit and the Secretary's Certificate as she is the acting Assistant Secretary for OPE. These documents are provided by the U.S. Treasury, and I have not yet received them as we are finalizing the terms of the loan. However, I am expecting these documents from Treasury during the week of July 24.

The form of these documents have been reviewed and negotiated by the general counsels of Departments Education and Treasury and cannot change with the exception of the following items—

- Name of the HBCU,
- Loan amount,
- Date of Loan closing, and
- Year loan was made and the of loan number associated based on the calendar year.

Thanks

Please come and join us for a Summer BBQ on the LBJ Plaza on August 9, 2017, from 11:30am – 1:00pm. We invite employees to come together in an informal setting and connect, chat, have fun and, of course, EAT!

Our cafeteria will be moving its grill to the LBJ Plaza and will be cooking up some of your favorite summer foods, such as hamburgers, hotdogs, chicken and BBQ roasted salmon. Meal tickets can be purchased the day of the event in the cafeteria (cash and credit card) and outside on the Plaza (cash only). A meal ticket will include a main dish, two sides and a drink, and will include tax. During the event, the cafeteria will have light service only; the salad bar and Subway will be open. All other stations will be closed because you will want to be OUTSIDE!

Summer BBQ Menu

- Option 1 - $9 BBQ roasted salmon
- Option 2 - $8 Choice of BBQ pulled pork sandwich; sausage, peppers and onions; cheeseburger or hamburger
- Option 3 - $7 Choice of veggie burger or two hot dogs

All options include choice of two sides: coleslaw; potato or macaroni salad; vegetarian baked beans; sliced watermelon; or brownie. Canned soda or bottled water is included with the meal.

Hello All,

For those of you who I have not yet met, my name is Cody Reynolds and I lead the Intergovernmental Affairs team with Adam Honeysett in OCO. In that role, I also help coordinate interagency activities and facilitate discussions across departments. One of the major topics of interagency cooperation I have come across so far relates to the work around financial and economic literacy.

As you may know, the Department is an agency member of the Financial Literacy Education Commission, otherwise known as FLEC. The Commission meets quarterly, but subgroups and planning groups meet more regularly. The purpose for setting this meeting, and for inviting those listed here, is to convene a Financial/Economic Literacy Working group that could brainstorm priorities and approaches for the Department.

To me, the goal of the meeting would be to threefold:

(1) Convene all internal ED parties interested in Financial Literacy issues and bring everyone to speed on FLEC and the Department's current activities
(2) Begin drafting a list of priorities for the Department going forward
(3) Create a list of actionable next steps

This is only intended to be the first of many steps on this issue but I'd like to get the ball rolling.

Thank you for reading this invitation and I hope you all can attend, even if only for part of the meeting. If anyone has any questions please feel free to reach out to me at any time. Additionally, if you feel any other Department members should be present at this meeting, please feel free to forward the invite.

-Cody

This document from Margo Anderson is a good start—maybe the first thing we will do is see how closely the chart tracks reality in HEP, and then we can drill down one level to additional steps.

The reason to meet tomorrow is that the grants-review working group is meeting first thing in the morning on Monday.

Dear Colleagues,

Please see the below request (with guidance attached) from Deputy CFO Tim Soltis asking each principal office to develop and submit an internal control assurance letter by September 29, 2017. The Secretary's ability to claim that controls are adequate and effective for the Department is contingent on the ability of each principal office to provide such an assurance. Please plan to attend this meeting to discuss OPE's 2017 Federal Managers' Financial Integrity Act (FMFIA) letter. Further information and materials will follow shortly.

As always, you are welcome to give me a call with more immediate questions.

Thank you,
Janie

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Colleagues,

It is time once again for all Principal Offices to begin the process of completing their Federal Manager's Financial Integrity Act (FMFIA) assurance letters. These letters are an essential part of the Department of Education's Internal Control Program. Please see the attached memorandum and template for more information about the form and content of the assurance letter. Your signed assurance letters are due back to OCFO by September 29, 2017.

We respectfully request that you ensure your submissions are made to Ellen Safranek, Acting Director, Financial Improvement Operations (FIO) on or before the due date. Timely receipt of your letters is critical because we use them, along with other relevant information (including audit reports) to prepare and support the Annual Statement of Assurance that must be signed by the Secretary and included in our FY2017 Agency Financial Report.

Ellen's team will be reaching out in the near future to meet individually with each office to further explain the annual assurance process, answer any questions you may have, and to provide any other support we can to assist you in completing your assurance letter by the due date. In the meantime, if you have any questions or concerns or would like any additional information about the FMFIA requirements and/or the purpose of an assurance letter, please reach out to Ellen Safranek, April Bolton-Smith or the FIO representative assigned to your office (listed in the attachment).

If any of your contacts have changed or we have missed anybody in our distribution, kindly forward this email on to them and cc your FIO representative. Thank You.

Submission 2016:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Quick Facts: Federal Manager's Financial Integrity Act (FMFIA)

- The Federal Managers' Financial Integrity Act of 1982 (FMFIA) requires management to establish, maintain, evaluate, improve, and report on the Department's internal control and financial systems.

- To satisfy the requirement of the FMFIA, the Secretary must sign an annual statement of assurance detailing whether there is reasonable assurance the Department's internal control system is achieving its intended objectives related to efficient/effective operations, legal compliance, and reporting. The annual statement of assurance is included in our published Agency Financial Report. The Secretary determines the content of her assurance statement by evaluating letters submitted by the heads of each principal office (PO) and other materials.

- Guidance for implementing FMFIA is provided by Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-123. A revision of OMB Circular A-123 was issued on July 15, 2016. The Circular is now titled Management's Responsibility for Enterprise Risk Management and Internal Control (Circular A-123).

- The annual assurance process is coordinated by the Financial Improvement Operations (FIO) office, a component of the Office of the Chief Financial Officer (OCFO). Each POC's letter of assurance is directed to OCFO's Director of Financial Improvement Operations.

- New internal controls requirements this year include assessing the 5 Components and 17 Principles for internal control, as outlined in the Government Accountability Office's (GAO) Standards for Internal Control in the Federal Government (known as the Green Book). Another new requirement is that Assistant Secretaries must electronically sign their FMFIA assurance letters.

- OPE's internal FMFIA process includes each Division Director preparing a letter of assurance to the Assistant Secretary, who considers these assurances essential to his/her assurance that OPE's internal controls are adequate.

Key Terminology

Significant Deficiency: A significant deficiency is a deficiency or combination of deficiencies that, in management's judgment, could adversely affect the organization's ability to meet its internal control objectives. These include findings in Office of Inspector General and Government Accountability audits.

Material Weakness: A material weakness is a reportable condition which the Secretary determines to be significant enough to report outside the Department. These are very rare and include instances of:

- significant impairment to the fulfillment of the Department's or principal office's mission;
- depriving the public of needed services;
- violating statutory or regulatory requirements;
- significantly weakening safeguards against waste, loss, unauthorized use or misappropriate of funds, property or other assets;
- conflicts of interest; OR
- a condition that merits the attention of the Secretary, the Executive Office of the President, or the relevant Congressional oversight committee or are of a nature that omission from the report could reflect adversely on the integrity of the Department.

Other Challenges and Improvements: The assurance letter should highlight any examples of specific internal control risks, challenges, or improvements that have been made which may impact the efficiency and effectiveness of operations, but do not rise to the level of a significant deficiencies. These examples should be included to illustrate the strength of controls that support the assurance or to further detail the significant deficiencies noted in the front of the letter. For example, management may want to include noteworthy audit or review findings or actions taken to resolve such findings. Such examples often relate to a specific business process.

FY 2017 A-123 Entity-Level Assessment

Examples of Evidence that could be used to Support Review Criteria

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

ENTITY LEVEL ASSESSMENT

Assessment Factor	Indication of Controls	Examples of Evidence to Support Factor
Section 1 – Control Environment
1 – Demonstrate Commitment to Integrity and Ethical Values
a) Tone at the top.	Management demonstrates the importance of integrity and ethical values through their directives, attitudes, and behavior.	- A visible copy of the Code of Ethics in common work spaces - A copy of an email message to staff communicating the importance of integrity and ethical values - A copy of an email message to staff reminding staff to attend all required ethics and internal controls training
b) Standards of conduct.	Management establishes standards of conduct to communicate expectations concerning integrity and ethical values.	- A copy of a staff meeting agenda, showing an item addressing integrity and ethical values - A copy of an email message to staff communicating the importance of integrity and ethical values - A copy of the office's guiding principles
c) Adherence to standards of conduct.	Management establishes processes to evaluate performance against the Department's expected standards of conduct and evaluates adherence to the standards of conduct.	- A copy of written guidance or correspondence to staff communicating how standards of conduct will be evaluated - A copy of the current year's Ethics training completion status for the office's staff
2 – Exercise Oversight Responsibility
a) Oversight structure.	There is an oversight body that oversees operations, provides constructive feedback to management, and informs decision-making to ensure that objectives are met and in alignment with the Department's integrity and ethical values.	- A copy of an organizational chart - A copy of a staffing plan
b) Oversight for the internal control system.	The oversight body oversees management's design, implementation, and operation of the internal control system, including the control environment, risk assessment, control activities, information and communication, and monitoring.	- A copy of a document that outlines duties of the oversight body - A copy of a flow chart or other organizational chart that demonstrates the responsibilities of the oversight body - FMFIA letter submitted by the Asst. Secretary that addresses deficiencies and remediation activities - Corrective Action Plans (CAPS) are developed and resolved according to required timelines

Assessment Factor	Indication of Controls	Examples of Evidence to Support Factor
c) Input for remediation and deficiencies.	The oversight body provides input to management's plans for remediation of deficiencies in internal controls, and is responsible for overseeing the remediation of deficiencies.	- A copy of a document that outlines the duties of the oversight body - A copy of a flow chart or other organizational chart that demonstrates the responsibilities of the oversight body
3 – Establish Structure, Responsibility, and Authority
a) Organizational structure.	Management establishes an organizational structure that is appropriate to plan, execute, control, and assess its ability to achieve its objectives. Lines of reporting are clear and defined at all levels so that communication can flow down, across, up, and around.	- A copy of an organizational chart - A copy of a staffing plan
b) Assignment of responsibility and delegation of authority.	Management assigns responsibilities and delegates authority to key roles throughout the office.	- A copy of an organizational chart - A copy of a staffing plan - Copies of written delegation memos or letters - A copy of personnel policies, handbooks, etc., documenting key roles and delegation authority
c) Documentation of the internal control system.	Management develops and maintains documents of its internal control system so that the components of internal control can be designed, implemented, and operate effectively.	- Copies of office-wide policies, handbooks, standard operation procedures, etc.
4 – Demonstrate Commitment to Competence
a) Expectations of competence.	Management establishes responsibilities and expectations that are clearly defined in writing and communicated as appropriate.	- A copy of guidance shared with managers and/or staff regarding REACH expectations - A copy of a staff meeting agenda at the POC or subdivision level, showing an item addressing performance standards and competency - Results of 360 or leadership competency assessments - Copies of standardized position descriptions

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Assessment Factor	Indication of Controls	Examples of Evidence to Support Factor
b) Recruitment, development, and retention of individuals	Management recruits, develops, and retains competent personnel to achieve desired objectives.	- Number of employees within the office who received an award for their performance during the most recent rating period - Number of employees with an IDP - Number of employees within the office who requested and received some form of training - Copies of certificates of training - Staffing trends or analyses showing turnover by various categories (years of service, grade level, performance rating) - Grade distribution of current employees - List of hiring authorities used to bring on new staff - Participation in job fairs, PMF recruiting events, etc.
c) Succession and contingency plans and preparation.	Management defines succession plans to address the need to replace competent personnel over the long term, as well as contingency plans to address the need to respond to sudden personnel changes that could compromise the internal control system.	- A copy of a strategic plan that includes specific strategies aimed at the potential impact of an increase in retirements or employees leaving their jobs for other reasons - A copy a Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) that addresses the potential impact of a large number of employees expected to leave or retire in a given period of time - Copies of documented policies, procedures and related manuals aimed at succession planning or staffing - Copy of the staffing plan - Number of employees enrolled in leadership development programs
5 – Enforce Accountability
a) Enforcement of accountability.	Management holds personnel accountable for performing internal control responsibilities through mechanisms such as performance appraisals and disciplinary actions.	- The percentage of employees within the office terminated when performance was consistently below standards or there was a serious violation of policy - Copy of an e-mail message communicating to employees that employment can be terminated when there is a serious violation of policy - A copy of a REACH plan showing a supervisor's input on growth areas of the employee's REACH ratings. - A summation of how well the employees in the office performed overall and areas where improvement is needed based on performance appraisals conducted by supervisors

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Assessment Factor	Indication of Controls	Examples of Evidence to Support Factor
b) Consideration of excessive pressures.	Management evaluates pressure on personnel and reduces or rebalances workloads when necessary.	- A copy of a workload analysis or FTE analysis - Documentation showing how work was restructured or rebalanced based on a workload analysis
Section 2 – Risk Assessment
6 – Define Objectives and Risk Tolerances
a) Definition of objectives.	Management defines objectives in specific and measurable terms to enable the design of internal control for related risks.	- A plan or summary document describing how the office considers risk in its internal operations or functions - A copy of guidance or a policy issued on how to conduct a risk review
b) Definitions of risk tolerances.	Management defines the acceptable level of variation in performance relative to the achievement of objectives.
7 – Identify, Analyze, and Respond to Risks
a) Identification of risks.	Management has a process for analyzing risks, including both inherent and residual risk, and considers internal and external risk factors.	- A plan or summary document describing how the office identifies risk in its internal operations or functions - A copy of guidance or a policy issued on how to conduct a risk review - A sampling of risk review results
b) Analysis of risks.	Management has a process to estimate the significance of the identified risks and their effect on achieving the defined objectives.
c) Response to risks.	Management has specific actions to respond to the analyzed risk.	- Examples of how management responded to an identified risk (e.g., copy of conditions placed on GANS, changes to internal policies or procedures, etc.)
8 – Assess Fraud Risk
a) Types of fraud.	Management considers the types of fraud that can occur (e.g., fraudulent financial reporting, misappropriation of assets, corruption), as well as other forms of misconduct (such as waste and abuse).	- A copy of a risk assessment or analysis that identifies the various ways that fraud and misconduct can occur - Other documentation showing risk identification (i.e., asset reconciliation exercises, travel system audits, etc.) - A copy of an internal audit plan that incorporates the results of a fraud risk assessment - Results of data-analytic activities that identify possible fraud (i.e., system edit checks to ensure data are accurate before payments are made, data matching to verify self-reported data, data mining to identify suspicious activities or transactions, etc.)
b) Fraud risk factors.	Management considers fraud risk factors (incentive/pressure, opportunity, and attitude/rationalization) and uses this information to identify fraud risk.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Assessment Factor	Indication of Controls	Examples of Evidence to Support Factor
c) Response to fraud risks.	Management performs a risk analysis to identify fraud risk and responds to fraud risk so that they are effectively mitigated.	- Documentation showing that management maintains an incident investigation and remediation system that includes a tracking mechanism to allow management to report on material fraud events - Copies of referrals made to the OIG for further investigation - A copy of a staff meeting agenda, showing an item addressing fraud prevention/awareness or employee integrity
9 – Identify, Analyze, and Respond to Change
a) Identification of change.	Management identifies significant changes to internal and external conditions that have already occurred or are expected to occur and that could significantly impact the internal control system.	- Example of a change to a Standard Operating Procedure (SOP), process, or other operational activity that was made because of a change to internal conditions (i.e., new legal or regulatory requirements, new program or activity, etc.)
b) Analysis of and response to change.	Management analyzes and responds to identified changes and related risks in order to maintain an effective internal control system.
Section 3 – Control Activities
10 – Design Control Activities
a) Response to objectives and risk.	Management designs policies, procedures, techniques, and mechanisms in response to the program office's objectives and risks to achieve an effective internal control system.	- A description of the control activities used by the office (i.e., physical control over assets, segregation of duties, access restrictions to resource/records, etc.) - A copy of the office's A-123 control testing results - A copy of the office's FMFIA assurance statement
b) Design of appropriate types of control activities.	Management designs appropriate types of control activities (i.e., management of human capital, physical control over vulnerable assets, access restrictions to records, etc.) for its internal control system.
c) Design of control activities at various levels.	Management designs control activities for appropriate coverage of objectives and risks.
d) Segregation of duties.	Management considers segregation of duties in designing control activity responsibilities to help prevent fraud, waste, and abuse in the internal control system.	- Examples of how duties and functions (e.g. G5 processing, travel approval, purchasing, etc.) are separated within the office - Copy of a policy that demonstrates how a certain function or duty is separated in an effort to reduce the risk of fraud or error - Examples of access restrictions that have been implemented within the office

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Assessment Factor	Indication of Controls	Examples of Evidence to Support Factor
11 – Design Activities for the Information System
a) Design of the entity's information system.	Management designs the office's information system and the use of information technology to respond to the office's objectives and risk.	- Up-to-date list of systems within the PO - Copy of a POC-level Information Assurance Operation plan
b) Design of appropriate types of control activities.	Management designs appropriate types of general control activities (e.g., security management, physical access, contingency planning, etc.) and application control activities (controls over processing, input, output, etc.) in the information system.	- Copy of Memo that formally appoints PO Information System Security Officer (ISSO) - List of ISO and ISSO assigned for each system - Status or results of Security Authorization (SA) process for all PO systems - Documentation that employees and contractors have completed required IT training (listing of completers, copies of completion certificates)
c) Design of information technology infrastructure.	Management designs control activities over the information technology infrastructure to support the completeness, accuracy, and validity of information processing by information technology.	- Copies of data completion checks or reports on system deficiencies
d) Design of security management.	Management designs control activities (e.g., access rights to data) for security management of the office's information system for appropriate access by internal and external sources.	- Documentation assigning responsibility for security functions, including system access based on role and background clearance level - Documentation showing that IT system or major application users have received required training (including copy of ISSO's required training) - Documentation showing that the PO ensures that a security self-assessment is completed for each system at least annually that is consistent with the Security Authorization requirements
e) Design of information technology acquisition, development, and maintenance.	Management designs control activities over the acquisition, development, and maintenance of information technology.	- Copy of a risk analysis for system security weaknesses - Documentation showing how cybersecurity is addressed in IT-related procurements and contracts - Documentation showing that security patches for all IT systems are installed within the timeframe of the ISVM message published by the EDCIRC Coordinator and are documented in accordance with the Configuration Management plan

12 – Implement Control Activities
a) Documentation of responsibilities through policies.	Policies exist that document the control activities utilized by the office.	- Electronic file, Sharepoint site, or other repository that contains policies related to the office's operational processes and internal controls
b) Periodic review of control activities.	Management periodically reviews the control activities for effectiveness.	- Copies of reconciliation exercises - Results of data verification checks - Copies of updated policies or procedures
Section 4 – Information and Communication
13 – Use Quality Information
a) Identification of information requirements.	Management identifies the information required to support the internal control system.	- Examples of information sources or data used to inform the internal control system and overall operations - Results of data verification or reliability checks of the information sources or data - Examples (documents, reports, etc.) of how management has used information to inform decisions and evaluate the office's performance in achieving key operational objectives and addressing risks
b) Relevant data from reliable sources.	Management obtains the relevant data from reliable internal and external sources in a timely manner.
c) Data processed into quality information.	Management processes the obtained data and uses it to inform the internal control system.
14 – Communicate Internally
a) Communication throughout the entity.	Management communicates information throughout the entity using established reporting lines, ensuring that communication flows to all levels of the organization (down, across, up, and around).	- Description of the process used to disseminate critical information throughout the office - Copies of emails or other forms of correspondence tailored for and targeted at different levels of the organization (e.g., senior and executive leadership, directors/managers, and staff) - Examples of communication that reinforces to employees his/her role in ensuring that internal control responsibilities are taken seriously - Description of the process employees may use to report improprieties or concerns regarding operational processes and any communication to employees describing this process
b) Appropriate methods of communication.	Management selects the appropriate method for communicating internally after considering the relevant factors (i.e., audience, nature of the information, etc.).
15 – Communicate Externally
a) Communication with external parties.	Management communicates with, and obtains quality information from, external parties (i.e., contractors, grantees, general public, etc.) using established reporting lines.	- Examples of communication modes used to communicate with external parties - Sample communications (emails, hard copy correspondence,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

b) Appropriate methods of communication.	Management selects the appropriate method for communicating externally after considering the relevant factors (i.e., audience, nature of the information, cost, etc.).	notes from a face-to-face meeting) received by external parties that was used to inform matters relating to risk or other issues impacting the effective operation of internal control - A sample communication to an external party informing the party of Whistleblower protections and Ethics or IG Hotlines - Examples of communication modes used to communicate information to various groups external to the Department (e.g., Members of Congress, media, grantees, etc.)
Section 5 – Monitoring
16 – Perform Monitoring Activities
a) Establishment of a baseline.	Management assesses the current state of the internal control system, compared against management's design of the internal control system.	- An analysis of the current state of the internal control system - Copies of self-assessments of operational processes or systems - Reconciliation reports - A copy of a report from an outside evaluator or auditor on an operational process or system - Copies of internal audit, IG, or GAO reports of internal operations/systems - Documentation showing how the results of the ongoing monitoring of internal control issues was used to determine effectiveness of the system and to correct deficiencies - Copies of a Corrective Action Plan
b) Internal control system monitoring.	Management monitors the internal control system through on-going monitoring and periodic separate evaluations (e.g., self-assessments, audits).
c) Evaluation of results.	Management evaluates and documents the results of on-going monitoring and separate evaluations to identify internal control issues.
17 – Evaluate Issues and Remediate Deficiencies
a) Reporting of issues.	Personnel identify internal control issues and report the issues through established reporting lines on a timely basis.	- Example of instances where an employee communicated a suggestion or concern to his or her supervisor and this information was then communicated to the next level of management - A copy of a meeting agenda or other forum where staff members were encouraged to communicate ideas directly to upper management - Results of Employee Viewpoint Survey on questions related to reporting fraud, waste, abuse and retaliation - A copy of communication to staff regarding Whistleblower Protections and/or the No FEAR Act - A copy of communication to staff regarding how to contact the IG hotline or steps to take if the employee suspects fraud, waste, or abuse

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

b) Evaluation of issues.	Management evaluates and documents internal control issues and determines appropriate corrective actions for deficiencies.	- Copies of self-assessments of internal operations/systems - Reconciliation reports - A copy of a report from an outside evaluator or auditor on an operational process or system - Copies of internal audit, IG, or GAO reports of internal operations/systems
c) Corrective actions.	Management completes and documents corrective actions to remediate internal control deficiencies on a timely basis.	- Copies of Corrective Action Plans - Evidence that the deficiencies identified in the Corrective Action Plan have been remediated

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

THE CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

July 14, 2017

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEAD OF EACH PRINCIPAL OFFICE

FROM: Tim Soltis

Deputy Chief Financial Officer delegated the authority to perform the duties and functions of the Chief Financial Officer

SUBJECT: Statement of Assurance Process

The Federal Managers' Financial Integrity Act of 1982 (FMFIA) requires management to establish, maintain, evaluate, improve, and report on the Department's internal control and financial systems. Guidance for implementing FMFIA is provided by Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-123. A revision of OMB Circular A-123 was issued on July 15, 2016. The Circular is now titled Management's Responsibility for Enterprise Risk Management and Internal Control (Circular A-123).

To satisfy the requirement of the FMFIA, the Secretary must sign an annual statement of assurance detailing whether there is reasonable assurance the Department's internal control system is achieving its intended objectives related to efficient/effective operations, legal compliance, and reporting. The annual statement of assurance is included in our published Agency Financial Report. The Secretary determines the content of her assurance statement by evaluating letters submitted by the heads of each principal office (PO) and other materials.

To conform to the revised Circular A-123, the evaluation of internal controls must address the 5 Components and 17 Principles for internal control, as outlined in the Government Accountability Office's (GAO) Standards for Internal Control in the Federal Government (known as the Green Book). Tools to help you perform and report on your assessment are included in this Guidance.

Your Statement of Assurance letter must be signed electronically and submitted to Ellen Safranek, Acting Director, FIO, by September 29, 2017.

Principal office assurance letters must follow the format prescribed in the attached FY17 Assurance Template. Guidance is provided in a second document, FY17 Assurance Letter Guidance, to assist you with completing the template. The guidance parallels the template, giving suggestions and providing resources on a section-by section basis.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Deficiencies that are related to the Management Challenges identified by the Office of the Inspector General (OIG) in the report, FY 2017 Management Challenges, must be identified in the Statement of Assurance. The five challenges areas are:

- Improper Payments,
- Information Technology Security,
- Oversight and Monitoring,
- Data Quality and Reporting, and
- Information Technology System Development and Implementation.

A SharePoint site houses all the documents in this guidance package plus links to other helpful resources. The site can be reached at this link: FMFIA SharePoint site. Information specific to each POC there includes:

- Previous years' FMFIA letters
- Lists of open audit findings
- Lists of Notices of Finding and Recommendation (NFRs)
- Catalogs of financial controls.

The annual assurance process is coordinated by the Financial Improvement Operations (FIO) office, a component of the Office of the Chief Financial Officer. A FIO team member has been assigned to support each principal office with this requirement. The FIO team member supporting your office, as well as the designated Internal Control Contact for your office, is listed on the following page.

This letter provides the [Name of Principal Office] fiscal year (FY) 2017 Federal Managers' Financial Integrity Act (FMFIA) assurance statement and summarizes noteworthy internal control monitoring and management improvement efforts in support of that assurance.

Section I – Summary Assurances

I certify that [except for the significant deficiency(ies), proposed material weakness(es), and/or financial system non-conformance(s) identified below] my office maintains adequate and effective internal control over its operations and reporting. This assurance includes compliance with applicable laws and regulations, particularly those for which my office has primary responsibility for implementation.

My office [has/has not] identified material weaknesses in FY 2017. [Material Weaknesses were identified. They are described later in this letter.]

My office [has/has not] identified significant deficiencies in FY 2017. [Significant deficiencies are outstanding or were identified. They are described later in this letter.]

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Section II – Supporting Assurances

I also provide reasonable assurance that:

- The control objectives outlined in the GAO Green Book, as implemented by OMB A-123 have been achieved;
- Program operations are efficiently and effectively carried out in accordance with applicable laws and management policy;
- Except as noted in this letter, we are compliant with applicable laws and regulations;
- Records management systems create, preserve, maintain, use, and dispose of Federal records wherever they reside in compliance with the requirements of the Federal Records Act of 1950, as amended, and applicable National Archives and Records Administration regulations, and to ensure access to information by Department officials and the public, as appropriate;
- Purchase card transactions in FY 2017 were executed in compliance with the Government Charge Card Abuse Prevention Act of 2012;
- Financial systems (if applicable) conform to the principles, standards, and related requirements prescribed by the Comptroller General;
- Key financial controls are in place to prevent financial misstatements;
- Key controls are in place to support non-financial reports;
- Financial transactions are conducted in compliance with applicable laws and regulations; and
- Funds, property, and other assets are safeguarded against waste, loss, unauthorized use, or misappropriation.

Section III - Evaluation of Internal Controls

Internal controls of my office's processes and operations have been evaluated relative to the 5 Components and 17 Principles outlined in the Government Accountability Office's (GAO) Standards for Internal Control in the Federal Government (known as the Green Book).

[INSTRUCTION: In addition to the above mandatory items, this section of your letter should summarize and describe the processes within your office that enable you to make the assurance statement (see detailed guidance for more information). In developing this section of your letter, you should focus on the general process and the extent of management involvement. We encourage you to discuss all of the following areas, as applicable:

- Participation in Department-wide A-123 reviews;
- Internal management or operational reviews conducted within your office;
- Recent external reviews such as GAO or OIG audits or programmatic evaluations; and
- Other processes within your office for evaluating internal control.]

Section V- Discussion of Material Weaknesses and Significant Deficiencies

[INSTRUCTION: If there are any outstanding or new significant deficiencies, weaknesses or non-conformances, you must list them below, identify the responsible manager(s), and describe the source (e.g., A-123, OIG, GAO, etc.) and nature of the finding as well as corrective actions and target correction dates. To further support the assurance provided in this letter, I also want to discuss the following internal control issues (risks, challenges, or improvements) encountered this year:

[INSTRUCTION: The final section of your letter should be devoted to specific challenges and accomplishments related to internal control. This is your opportunity to summarize any specific management improvements your office has implemented to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of operations or address known management challenges or areas of risk. If you are unable to reasonably assure to any of the above mandatory items, please discuss those matters in this section. Also include a description of activities you are undertaking to close out issues identified in FMFIA assurance letters from previous years. Describe any internal control-related accomplishments or improvements that also will be discussed in your office's OPR (the assurance letter should not duplicate the OPR). You are encouraged to discuss any or all of the following areas, as applicable, as well as any other related items (you may also choose to integrate this discussion in the second section of your letter):

- Resolving any significant internal or external audit or review findings;
- Making operational changes to enhance programmatic outcomes in response to significant evaluation findings;
- Taking action to identify, prevent, and recover improper payments; and
- Developing and implementing grantee risk monitoring plans.]

FY 2017 ASSURANCE LETTER GUIDANCE

Each assurance letter ("Letter") follows a simple format. You have been provided with a template to ensure that the required assurances are addressed. The template has six sections:

Section I	Overall Assurance
Section II	Supporting Assurances
Section III	Tables of Evaluations of Internal Controls
Section IV	Discussion of Internal Control Monitoring Processes
Section V	Summary of Internal Control Material Weaknesses and Significant Deficiencies
Section VI	Other Challenges and Improvements

Section I – Summary Assurance

The first section of each assurance letter must contain a statement signed by the head of each Principal Office (PO) asserting, with reasonable assurance, that his or her office has adequate and effective internal controls over its operations and that the office is operating in compliance with applicable laws and regulations as of September 30, 2017. If such assurance cannot be provided, the head of each PO must describe thoroughly why it cannot be provided and the actions being taken to address the problems. All significant deficiencies, material weaknesses, and non-conformances must be listed and described in detail. This includes significant deficiencies identified through internal control reviews conducted in partnership with OCFO; external audits conducted by OIG, GAO, or other auditors; as well as deficiencies identified through day-to-day management oversight or other more formal reviews conducted within your office.

In arriving at this statement, management must evaluate internal controls relative to each of the 17 principles set forth in the Green Book and using guidance found in Circular A-123.

Your assurance must take one of the following forms:

- unmodified statement of assurance (no material weaknesses or lack of compliance reported);
- modified statement of assurance, considering the exceptions explicitly noted (one or more material weaknesses or lack of compliance reported); or
- statement of no assurance (no processes in place or pervasive material weaknesses).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Section II – Supporting Assurances

The Summary Assurance made in Section I is supported by the assurances listed in Section II of the Template. The head of each PO must also provide reasonable assurance that, as of June 30, 2017, internal controls over financial reporting were in place and operating effectively.

A control matrix listing the key financial controls for which your office is responsible can be obtained from the FMFIA SharePoint site.

Section III - Evaluation of Internal Controls

The revised A-123 Circular, issued on July 15, 2016, requires that internal controls be evaluated against the 5 Components and 17 Principles outlined in the Green Book. To satisfy this requirement, the third section must contain a table showing a summary of the assessment of internal controls relative to the 17 principles of internal control.

Financial Improvement Operations (FIO) has developed an Entity Level Assessment tool for you to use. This tool can be found in Appendix A. Guidance for use of the tool is provided in Appendix B.

If material weaknesses and/or significant deficiencies exist, they should be described in Section V of your Letter

Section IV – Discussion of the Internal Control Monitoring Process

This section of the letter should describe the internal control monitoring processes that enabled management to make their statement of reasonable assurance.

Risk identification and assessment is an important component of strong internal control. For an internal control program to be effective, management should identify the inherent risk in each documented business process. Inherent risk is the risk to an entity prior to considering management's response to the risk. Some inherent risk will likely be applicable to each business process within a PO. Inherent risk is often revealed by asking questions like:

- What can go wrong?
- How could we fail?
- How do we know whether we are achieving our objectives?
- On what information do we rely most heavily?
- What is our greatest legal exposure?
- Does past experience highlight any areas of particular concern (e.g., audit findings, fraud, etc.)?

Once the inherent risk to a business process has been identified, management should describe the methods (i.e., control activities) currently in place to manage them. Control activities are the actions management establishes through policies and procedures to achieve objectives and respond to risks in the internal control system, which includes the entity's information system.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The Department's annual statement of assurance process mandates that management report those significant internal control deficiencies for which reasonable assurance cannot be provided. This information should be provided in Section V of your letter.

Management determines how to conduct and report on their internal control monitoring—that is, the processes of internal and external monitoring, audits, and evaluations that produced those results (the second section of the letter). Management in each office is afforded latitude in deciding how to build, maintain, and monitor internal controls and report on their assessment of the controls. Each PO is accountable for the process established in their office and the accuracy of the assurance letters.

Management within each PO must use discretion to determine how they will develop the rubric to support their statement of assurance. You may use any processes that align with the requirements of A-123.

To assist management in organizing and presenting internal control monitoring efforts and results, FIO has designed a five-step guide that can be found in Appendix C. You are encouraged to use this tool to complete your assessment. This guide is a useful tool for management that can be used year-round and is not just limited to use when developing your assurance letter.

The major steps involved are:

1. Identify all Assessable Units
2. Detail the Operating Environment for Each Unit
3. Prioritize and Document Business Processes
4. Identify Risks & Describe Control Activities
5. Evaluation

This five-step process above should generate a thorough, logically organized description of the internal control evaluation conducted for each significant business process within an assessable unit. Applying the five-step process to each assessable unit should provide management with an organized method of presenting the results of the internal control monitoring associated with every significant business process within their PO.

Section V – Discussion of Identified Material Weaknesses and Significant Deficiencies

You should use the following information to determine the level at which each deficiency is reported. Material Weaknesses and Significant Deficiencies must be reported. Management may use its own discretion in deciding whether or not to report Control Deficiencies.

In ascending order of severity, these three categories are defined below.

Control Deficiency

A control deficiency exists when a control necessary to achieve desired outcome does not exist, or is not operating as intended. A control deficiency can be categorized as design deficiency or an operating deficiency.

- A design deficiency exists when a control necessary to reduce or eliminate potential risk is missing, or an existing control is not properly designed so that even if the control operates as designed, the established standards for reducing or eliminating potential risks is not always met.

- An operating deficiency exists when a properly designed control does not operate as designed, or when the person performing the control is not qualified or properly skilled to perform the control effectively.

Significant Deficiency

A significant deficiency is a deficiency or combination of deficiencies that, in management's judgment, could adversely affect the organization's ability to meet its internal control objectives.

Material Weakness

A material weakness is a reportable condition which the Secretary determines to be significant enough to report outside the Department. A principal office may propose a material weakness based on the following criteria:

- it significantly impairs the fulfillment of the Department's or principal office's mission;
- it deprives the public of needed services;
- it violates statutory or regulatory requirements;
- it significantly weakens safeguards against waste, loss, unauthorized use or misappropriation of funds, property or other assets;
- it results in a conflict of interest; OR
- it merits the attention of the Secretary, the Executive Office of the President, or the relevant Congressional oversight committee, or are of a nature that omission from the report could reflect adversely on the actual or perceived management integrity of the Department.

For each Significant Deficiency or Material Weakness, fill in the summary chart found on the Template.

A detailed description of the deficiency and the corresponding corrective action(s) should follow each summary chart.

Section VI - Other Challenges and Improvements

In the final section of the assurance letter, management should highlight any examples of specific internal control risks, challenges, or improvements that have been made which they believe may impact the efficiency and effectiveness of their operations, but do not rise to the level of a significant deficiencies. These examples should be included to illustrate the strength of controls that support the assurance or to further detail the significant deficiencies noted in the front of the letter. For example, management may want to include noteworthy audit or review findings or actions taken to resolve such findings. Such examples often relate to a specific business process and, as a result, it may be preferable to integrate them into Section IV of the assurance letter, where that business process is discussed.

In addition, management should include any over-arching internal control-related challenges they are working to address, such as the management challenges cited by the OIG in their annual Management Challenges Report. When discussing these challenges, management should describe specific control activities (i.e., actions) to provide the Secretary and senior leadership with a better understanding of how the challenges are being addressed.

Lastly, assurance letters should not duplicate Organizational Performance Review (OPR) submissions. Whereas an OPR submission focuses primarily on accomplishments, an assurance letter focuses on management's internal control monitoring processes and related challenges.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

ENTITY LEVEL ASSESSMENT

Principle	Indication of Controls	Evidence to Support Factor
Component 1 – Control Environment
1 – Demonstrate Commitment to Integrity and Ethical Values
a) Tone at the top.	Management demonstrates the importance of integrity and ethical values through their directives, attitudes, and behavior.
b) Standards of conduct.	Management establishes standards of conduct to communicate expectations concerning integrity and ethical values.
c) Adherence to standards of conduct.	Management establishes processes to evaluate performance against the Department's expected standards of conduct and evaluates adherence to the standards of conduct.
2 – Exercise Oversight Responsibility
a) Oversight structure.	There is an oversight body that oversees operations, provides constructive feedback to management, and informs decision-making to ensure that objectives are met and in alignment with the Department's integrity and ethical values.
b) Oversight for the internal control system.	The oversight body oversees management's design, implementation, and operation of the internal control system, including the control environment, risk assessment, control activities, information and communication, and monitoring.
c) Input for remediation and deficiencies.	The oversight body provides input to management's plans for remediation of deficiencies in internal controls, and is responsible for overseeing the remediation of deficiencies.
3 – Establish Structure, Responsibility, and Authority
a) Organizational structure.	Management establishes an organizational structure that is appropriate to plan, execute, control, and assess its ability to achieve its objectives. Lines of reporting are clear and defined at all levels so that communication can flow down, across, up, and around.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Principle	Indication of Controls	Evidence to Support Factor
b) Assignment of responsibility and delegation of authority.	Management assigns responsibilities and delegates authority to key roles throughout the office.
c) Documentation of the internal control system.	Management develops and maintains documents of its internal control system so that the components of internal control can be designed, implemented, and operate effectively.
4 – Demonstrate Commitment to Competence
a) Expectations of competence.	Management establishes responsibilities and expectations that are clearly defined in writing and communicated as appropriate.
b) Recruitment, development, and retention of individuals	Management recruits, develops, and retains competent personnel to achieve desired objectives.
c) Succession and contingency plans and preparation.	Management defines succession plans to address the need to replace competent personnel over the long term, as well as contingency plans to address the need to respond to sudden personnel changes that could compromise the internal control system.
5 – Enforce Accountability
a) Enforcement of accountability.	Management holds personnel accountable for performing internal control responsibilities through mechanisms such as performance appraisals and disciplinary actions.
b) Consideration of excessive pressures.	Management evaluates pressure on personnel and reduces or rebalances workloads when necessary .
Component – Risk Assessment
6 – Define Objectives and Risk Tolerances
a) Definition of objectives.	Management defines objectives in specific and measurable terms to enable the design of internal control for related risks.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Principle	Indication of Controls	Evidence to Support Factor
b) Definitions of risk tolerances.	Management defines the acceptable level of variation in performance relative to the achievement of objectives.
7 – Identify, Analyze, and Respond to Risks
a) Identification of risks.	Management has a process for analyzing risks, including both inherent and residual risk, and considers internal and external risk factors.
b) Analysis of risks.	Management has a process to estimate the significance of the identified risks and their effect on achieving the defined objectives.
c) Response to risks.	Management has specific actions to respond to the analyzed risk.
8 – Assess Fraud Risk
a) Types of fraud.	Management considers the types of fraud that can occur (e.g., fraudulent financial reporting, misappropriation of assets, corruption), as well as other forms of misconduct (such as waste and abuse).
b) Fraud risk factors.	Management considers fraud risk factors (incentive/pressure, opportunity, and attitude/rationalization) and uses this information to identify fraud risk.
c) Response to fraud risks.	Management performs a risk analysis to identify fraud risk and responds to fraud risk so that they are effectively mitigated.
9 – Identify, Analyze, and Respond to Change
a) Identification of change.	Management identifies significant changes to internal and external conditions that have already occurred or are expected to occur and that could significantly impact the internal control system.
b) Analysis of and response to change.	Management analyzes and responds to identified changes and related risks in order to maintain an effective internal control system.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Principle	Indication of Controls	Evidence to Support Factor
Component 3 – Control Activities
10 – Design Control Activities
a) Response to objectives and risk.	Management designs policies, procedures, techniques, and mechanisms in response to the program office's objectives and risks to achieve an effective internal control system.
b) Design of appropriate types of control activities.	Management designs appropriate types of control activities (i.e., management of human capital, physical control over vulnerable assets, access restrictions to records, etc.) for its internal control system.
c) Design of control activities at various levels.	Management designs control activities for appropriate coverage of objectives and risks.
d) Segregation of duties.	Management considers segregation of duties in designing control activity responsibilities to help prevent fraud, waste, and abuse in the internal control system.
11 – Design Activities for the Information System
a) Design of the entity's information system.	Management designs the office's information system and the use of information technology to respond to the office's objectives and risk.
b) Design of appropriate types of control activities.	Management designs appropriate types of general control activities (e.g., security management, physical access, contingency planning, etc.) and application control activities (controls over processing, input, output, etc.) in the information system.
c) Design of information technology infrastructure.	Management designs control activities over the information technology infrastructure to support the completeness, accuracy, and validity of information processing by information technology.
d) Design of security management.	Management designs control activities (e.g., access rights to data) for security management of the office's information system for appropriate access by internal and external sources.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Principle	Indication of Controls	Evidence to Support Factor
e) Design of information technology acquisition, development, and maintenance.	Management designs control activities over the acquisition, development, and maintenance of information technology.
12 – Implement Control Activities
a) Documentation of responsibilities through policies.	Policies exist that document the control activities utilized by the office.
b) Periodic review of control activities.	Management periodically reviews the control activities for effectiveness.
Component 4 - Information and Communication
13 – Use Quality Information
a) Identification of information requirements.	Management identifies the information required to support the internal control system.
b) Relevant data from reliable sources.	Management obtains the relevant data from reliable internal and external sources in a timely manner.
c) Data processed into quality information.	Management processes the obtained data and uses it to inform the internal control system.
14 – Communicate Internally
a) Communication throughout the entity.	Management communicates information throughout the entity using established reporting lines, ensuring that communication flows to all levels of the organization (down, across, up, and around).
b) Appropriate methods of communication.	Management selects the appropriate method for communicating internally after considering the relevant factors (i.e., audience, nature of the information, etc.).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Principle	Indication of Controls	Evidence to Support Factor
15 – Communicate Externally
a) Communication with external parties.	Management communicates with, and obtains quality information from, external parties (i.e., contractors, grantees, general public, etc.) using established reporting lines.
b) Appropriate methods of communication.	Management selects the appropriate method for communicating externally after considering the relevant factors (i.e., audience, nature of the information, cost, etc.).
Component 5 – Monitoring
16 – Perform Monitoring Activities
a) Establishment of a baseline.	Management assesses the current state of the internal control system, compared against management's design of the internal control system.
b) Internal control system monitoring.	Management monitors the internal control system through on-going monitoring and periodic separate evaluations (e.g., self-assessments, audits).
c) Evaluation of results.	Management evaluates and documents the results of on-going monitoring and separate evaluations to identify internal control issues.
17 – Evaluate Issues and Remediate Deficiencies
a) Reporting of issues.	Personnel identify internal control issues and report the issues through established reporting lines on a timely basis.
b) Evaluation of issues.	Management evaluates and documents internal control issues and determines appropriate corrective actions for deficiencies.
c) Corrective actions.	Management completes and documents corrective actions to remediate internal control deficiencies on a timely basis.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

ENTITY LEVEL ASSESSMENT

Principle	Indication of Controls	Examples of Evidence to Support Principle
Component 1 – Control Environment
1 – Demonstrate Commitment to Integrity and Ethical Values
d) Tone at the top.	Management demonstrates the importance of integrity and ethical values through their directives, attitudes, and behavior.	- A visible copy of the Code of Ethics in common work spaces - A copy of an email message to staff communicating the importance of integrity and ethical values - A copy of an email message to staff reminding staff to attend all required ethics and internal controls training
e) Standards of conduct.	Management establishes standards of conduct to communicate expectations concerning integrity and ethical values.	- A copy of a staff meeting agenda, showing an item addressing integrity and ethical values - A copy of an email message to staff communicating the importance of integrity and ethical values - A copy of the office's guiding principles
f) Adherence to standards of conduct.	Management establishes processes to evaluate performance against the Department's expected standards of conduct and evaluates adherence to the standards of conduct.	- A copy of written guidance or correspondence to staff communicating how standards of conduct will be evaluated - A copy of the current year's Ethics training completion status for the office's staff
d) Oversight structure.	There is an oversight body that oversees operations, provides constructive feedback to management, and informs decision-making to ensure that objectives are met and in alignment with the Department's integrity and ethical values.	- A copy of an organizational chart - A copy of a staffing plan
e) Oversight for the internal control system.	The oversight body oversees management's design, implementation, and operation of the internal control system, including the control environment, risk assessment, control activities, information and communication, and monitoring.	- A copy of a document that outlines duties of the oversight body - A copy of a flow chart or other organizational chart that demonstrates the responsibilities of the oversight body - FMFIA letter submitted by the Asst. Secretary that addresses deficiencies and remediation activities - Corrective Action Plans (CAPS) are developed and resolved according to required timelines

Principle	Indication of Controls	Examples of Evidence to Support Principle
f) Input for remediation and deficiencies.	The oversight body provides input to management's plans for remediation of deficiencies in internal controls, and is responsible for overseeing the remediation of deficiencies.	- A copy of a document that outlines the duties of the oversight body - A copy of a flow chart or other organizational chart that demonstrates the responsibilities of the oversight body
3 – Establish Structure, Responsibility, and Authority
d) Organizational structure.	Management establishes an organizational structure that is appropriate to plan, execute, control, and assess its ability to achieve its objectives. Lines of reporting are clear and defined at all levels so that communication can flow down, across, up, and around.	- A copy of an organizational chart - A copy of a staffing plan
e) Assignment of responsibility and delegation of authority.	Management assigns responsibilities and delegates authority to key roles throughout the office.	- A copy of an organizational chart - A copy of a staffing plan - Copies of written delegation memos or letters - A copy of personnel policies, handbooks, etc., documenting key roles and delegation authority
f) Documentation of the internal control system.	Management develops and maintains documents of its internal control system so that the components of internal control can be designed, implemented, and operate effectively.	- Copies of office-wide policies, handbooks, standard operation procedures, etc.
4 – Demonstrate Commitment to Competence
d) Expectations of competence.	Management establishes responsibilities and expectations that are clearly defined in writing and communicated as appropriate.	- A copy of guidance shared with managers and/or staff regarding REACH expectations - A copy of a staff meeting agenda at the POC or subdivision level, showing an item addressing performance standards and competency - Results of 360 or leadership competency assessments - Copies of standardized position descriptions

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Principle	Indication of Controls	Examples of Evidence to Support Principle
e) Recruitment, development, and retention of individuals	Management recruits, develops, and retains competent personnel to achieve desired objectives.	- Number of employees within the office who received an award for their performance during the most recent rating period - Number of employees with an IDP - Number of employees within the office who requested and received some form of training - Copies of certificates of training - Staffing trends or analyses showing turnover by various categories (years of service, grade level, performance rating) - Grade distribution of current employees - List of hiring authorities used to bring on new staff - Participation in job fairs, PMF recruiting events, etc.
f) Succession and contingency plans and preparation.	Management defines succession plans to address the need to replace competent personnel over the long term, as well as contingency plans to address the need to respond to sudden personnel changes that could compromise the internal control system.	- A copy of a strategic plan that includes specific strategies aimed at the potential impact of an increase in retirements or employees leaving their jobs for other reasons - A copy a Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) that addresses the potential impact of a large number of employees expected to leave or retire in a given period of time - Copies of documented policies, procedures and related manuals aimed at succession planning or staffing - Copy of the staffing plan - Number of employees enrolled in leadership development programs
c) Enforcement of accountability.	Management holds personnel accountable for performing internal control responsibilities through mechanisms such as performance appraisals and disciplinary actions.	- The percentage of employees within the office terminated when performance was consistently below standards or there was a serious violation of policy - Copy of an e-mail message communicating to employees that employment can be terminated when there is a serious violation of policy - A copy of a REACH plan showing a supervisor's input on growth areas of the employee's REACH ratings. - A summation of how well the employees in the office performed overall and areas where improvement is needed based on performance appraisals conducted by supervisors

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Principle	Indication of Controls	Examples of Evidence to Support Principle
d) Consideration of excessive pressures.	Management evaluates pressure on personnel and reduces or rebalances workloads when necessary.	- A copy of a workload analysis or FTE analysis - Documentation showing how work was restructured or rebalanced based on a workload analysis
Component 2 – Risk Assessment
6 – Define Objectives and Risk Tolerances
c) Definition of objectives.	Management defines objectives in specific and measurable terms to enable the design of internal control for related risks.	- A plan or summary document describing how the office considers risk in its internal operations or functions - A copy of guidance or a policy issued on how to conduct a risk review
d) Definitions of risk tolerances.	Management defines the acceptable level of variation in performance relative to the achievement of objectives.
7 – Identify, Analyze, and Respond to Risks
d) Identification of risks.	Management has a process for analyzing risks, including both inherent and residual risk, and considers internal and external risk factors.	- A plan or summary document describing how the office identifies risk in its internal operations or functions - A copy of guidance or a policy issued on how to conduct a risk review - A sampling of risk review results
e) Analysis of risks.	Management has a process to estimate the significance of the identified risks and their effect on achieving the defined objectives.
f) Response to risks.	Management has specific actions to respond to the analyzed risk.	- Examples of how management responded to an identified risk (e.g., copy of conditions placed on GANS, changes to internal policies or procedures, etc.)
8 – Assess Fraud Risk
d) Types of fraud.	Management considers the types of fraud that can occur (e.g., fraudulent financial reporting, misappropriation of assets, corruption), as well as other forms of misconduct (such as waste and abuse).	- A copy of a risk assessment or analysis that identifies the various ways that fraud and misconduct can occur - Other documentation showing risk identification (i.e., asset reconciliation exercises, travel system audits, etc.) - A copy of an internal audit plan that incorporates the results of a fraud risk assessment - Results of data-analytic activities that identify possible fraud (i.e., system edit checks to ensure data are accurate before payments are made, data matching to verify self-reported data, data mining to identify suspicious activities or transactions, etc.)
e) Fraud risk factors.	Management considers fraud risk factors (incentive/pressure, opportunity, and attitude/rationalization) and uses this information to identify fraud risk.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Principle	Indication of Controls	Examples of Evidence to Support Principle
f) Response to fraud risks.	Management performs a risk analysis to identify fraud risk and responds to fraud risk so that they are effectively mitigated.	- Documentation showing that management maintains an incident investigation and remediation system that includes a tracking mechanism to allow management to report on material fraud events - Copies of referrals made to the OIG for further investigation - A copy of a staff meeting agenda, showing an item addressing fraud prevention/awareness or employee integrity
9 – Identify, Analyze, and Respond to Change
c) Identification of change.	Management identifies significant changes to internal and external conditions that have already occurred or are expected to occur and that could significantly impact the internal control system.	- Example of a change to a Standard Operating Procedure (SOP), process, or other operational activity that was made because of a change to internal conditions (i.e., new legal or regulatory requirements, new program or activity, etc.)
d) Analysis of and response to change.	Management analyzes and responds to identified changes and related risks in order to maintain an effective internal control system.
Component 3 – Control Activities
10 – Design Control Activities
e) Response to objectives and risk.	Management designs policies, procedures, techniques, and mechanisms in response to the program office's objectives and risks to achieve an effective internal control system.	- A description of the control activities used by the office (i.e., physical control over assets, segregation of duties, access restrictions to resource/records, etc.) - A copy of the office's A-123 control testing results - A copy of the office's FMFIA assurance statement
f) Design of appropriate types of control activities.	Management designs appropriate types of control activities (i.e., management of human capital, physical control over vulnerable assets, access restrictions to records, etc.) for its internal control system.
g) Design of control activities at various levels.	Management designs control activities for appropriate coverage of objectives and risks.
h) Segregation of duties.	Management considers segregation of duties in designing control activity responsibilities to help prevent fraud, waste, and abuse in the internal control system.	- Examples of how duties and functions (e.g. G5 processing, travel approval, purchasing, etc.) are separated within the office - Copy of a policy that demonstrates how a certain function or duty is separated in an effort to reduce the risk of fraud or error - Examples of access restrictions that have been implemented within the office

11 – Design Activities for the Information System
f) Design of the entity's information system.	Management designs the office's information system and the use of information technology to respond to the office's objectives and risk.	- Up-to-date list of systems within the PO - Copy of a POC-level Information Assurance Operation plan
g) Design of appropriate types of control activities.	Management designs appropriate types of general control activities (e.g., security management, physical access, contingency planning, etc.) and application control activities (controls over processing, input, output, etc.) in the information system.	- Copy of Memo that formally appoints PO Information System Security Officer (ISSO) - List of ISO and ISSO assigned for each system - Status or results of Security Authorization (SA) process for all PO systems - Documentation that employees and contractors have completed required IT training (listing of completers, copies of completion certificates)
h) Design of information technology infrastructure.	Management designs control activities over the information technology infrastructure to support the completeness, accuracy, and validity of information processing by information technology.	- Copies of data completion checks or reports on system deficiencies
i) Design of security management.	Management designs control activities (e.g., access rights to data) for security management of the office's information system for appropriate access by internal and external sources.	- Documentation assigning responsibility for security functions, including system access based on role and background clearance level - Documentation showing that IT system or major application users have received required training (including copy of ISSO's required training) - Documentation showing that the PO ensures that a security self-assessment is completed for each system at least annually that is consistent with the Security Authorization requirements
j) Design of information technology acquisition, development, and maintenance.	Management designs control activities over the acquisition, development, and maintenance of information technology.	- Copy of a risk analysis for system security weaknesses - Documentation showing how cybersecurity is addressed in IT-related procurements and contracts - Documentation showing that security patches for all IT systems are installed within the timeframe of the ISVM message published by the EDCIRC Coordinator and are documented in accordance with the Configuration Management plan

12 – Implement Control Activities
c) Documentation of responsibilities through policies.	Policies exist that document the control activities utilized by the office.	- Electronic file, Sharepoint site, or other repository that contains policies related to the office's operational processes and internal controls
d) Periodic review of control activities.	Management periodically reviews the control activities for effectiveness.	- Copies of reconciliation exercises - Results of data verification checks - Copies of updated policies or procedures
13 – Use Quality Information
d) Identification of information requirements.	Management identifies the information required to support the internal control system.	- Examples of information sources or data used to inform the internal control system and overall operations - Results of data verification or reliability checks of the information sources or data - Examples (documents, reports, etc.) of how management has used information to inform decisions and evaluate the office's performance in achieving key operational objectives and addressing risks
e) Relevant data from reliable sources.	Management obtains the relevant data from reliable internal and external sources in a timely manner.
f) Data processed into quality information.	Management processes the obtained data and uses it to inform the internal control system.
14 – Communicate Internally
c) Communication throughout the entity.	Management communicates information throughout the entity using established reporting lines, ensuring that communication flows to all levels of the organization (down, across, up, and around).	- Description of the process used to disseminate critical information throughout the office - Copies of emails or other forms of correspondence tailored for and targeted at different levels of the organization (e.g., senior and executive leadership, directors/managers, and staff) - Examples of communication that reinforces to employees his/her role in ensuring that internal control responsibilities are taken seriously - Description of the process employees may use to report improprieties or concerns regarding operational processes and any communication to employees describing this process
d) Appropriate methods of communication.	Management selects the appropriate method for communicating internally after considering the relevant factors (i.e., audience, nature of the information, etc.) .

15 – Communicate Externally
c) Communication with external parties.	Management communicates with, and obtains quality information from, external parties (i.e., contractors, grantees, general public, etc.) using established reporting lines.	- Examples of communication modes used to communicate with external parties - Sample communications (emails, hard copy correspondence, notes from a face-to-face meeting) received by external parties that was used to inform matters relating to risk or other issues impacting the effective operation of internal control - A sample communication to an external party informing the party of Whistleblower protections and Ethics or IG Hotlines - Examples of communication modes used to communicate information to various groups external to the Department (e.g., Members of Congress, media, grantees, etc.)
d) Appropriate methods of communication.	Management selects the appropriate method for communicating externally after considering the relevant factors (i.e., audience, nature of the information, cost, etc.).
Component 5 – Monitoring
16 – Perform Monitoring Activities
d) Establishment of a baseline.	Management assesses the current state of the internal control system, compared against management's design of the internal control system.	- An analysis of the current state of the internal control system - Copies of self-assessments of operational processes or systems - Reconciliation reports - A copy of a report from an outside evaluator or auditor on an operational process or system - Copies of internal audit, IG, or GAO reports of internal operations/systems - Documentation showing how the results of the ongoing monitoring of internal control issues was used to determine effectiveness of the system and to correct deficiencies - Copies of a Corrective Action Plan
e) Internal control system monitoring.	Management monitors the internal control system through on-going monitoring and periodic separate evaluations (e.g., self-assessments, audits).
f) Evaluation of results.	Management evaluates and documents the results of on-going monitoring and separate evaluations to identify internal control issues.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

17 – Evaluate Issues and Remediate Deficiencies
d) Reporting of issues.	Personnel identify internal control issues and report the issues through established reporting lines on a timely basis.	- Example of instances where an employee communicated a suggestion or concern to his or her supervisor and this information was then communicated to the next level of management - A copy of a meeting agenda or other forum where staff members were encouraged to communicate ideas directly to upper management - Results of Employee Viewpoint Survey on questions related to reporting fraud, waste, abuse and retaliation - A copy of communication to staff regarding Whistleblower Protections and/or the No FEAR Act - A copy of communication to staff regarding how to contact the IG hotline or steps to take if the employee suspects fraud, waste, or abuse
e) Evaluation of issues.	Management evaluates and documents internal control issues and determines appropriate corrective actions for deficiencies.	- Copies of self-assessments of internal operations/systems - Reconciliation reports - A copy of a report from an outside evaluator or auditor on an operational process or system - Copies of internal audit, IG, or GAO reports of internal operations/systems
f) Corrective actions.	Management completes and documents corrective actions to remediate internal control deficiencies on a timely basis.	- Copies of Corrective Action Plans - Evidence that the deficiencies identified in the Corrective Action Plan have been remediated

APPENDIX C: FIVE STEP GUIDE TO IDENTIFYING AND DOCUMENTING INTERNAL CONTROLS

Part I – The Five Step Guide

FIO has designed the following five-step guide. A fillable form was also created to capture the results of each step in the guide. A blank version of the form, as well as an example, can be found in Parts II and III of this document. You are strongly encouraged to use this tool to complete your assessment. Note that this guide is a useful tool for management that can be used year-round and is not just limited to use when developing your assurance letter.

1. Identify All Assessable Units

   At the outset of establishing an effective internal control program, management should identify the assessable units that together comprise the entire PO. In most cases, the assessable units within a PO are those entities identified on a PO's organizational chart. For example, there are five assessable units within OCFO:

   i. Executive Office;
   ii. Financial Improvement Operations;
   iii. Contracts and Acquisitions Management;
   iv. Financial Management Operations; and
   v. Enterprise Procurement Initiatives.

   Management within these five assessable units is responsible for carrying out the mission and responsibilities of OCFO. At a minimum, each PO has two assessable units: an Executive Office and a "Core Business Process" office.

2. Detail the Operating Environment

   After having identified the assessable units, management should detail the operating environment for each. The operating environment for an assessable unit consists of its mission, responsibilities, organizational structure, and goals and objectives (short- and long-term). Detailing the operating environment for each assessable unit within a PO provides management with a more granular view of numerous aspects of the overall control environment of the PO. This is important because, as stated in the GAO Green Book, the "control environment is the foundation [of a PO's] internal control system."[1]

3. Prioritize and Document Business Processes

   The volume and complexity of documenting activities performed throughout a PO can be daunting. To simplify the task of documenting and monitoring internal controls, management should identify the activities performed by each assessable unit and group [1] U.S. Government Accountability Office, "Standards for Internal Control in the Federal Government," available at https://www.gao.gov/products/GAO-14-704G .

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

them into common business processes or sub-processes. FIO can provide assistance in this area. A business process is a group of interrelated activities or tasks that achieve a specific result in support of an organization's objectives. Breaking down complex or large business processes into sub-processes might become necessary to effectively convey the various risks and/or control activities associated with the process. For example, Executive Office business processes can be broken into the sub-processes listed in Part IV.

Some very large assessable units engage in such a multitude of activities that documenting each business process can be difficult. There are several available contract vehicles at the Department that can provide you with process documentation services, which can be a very cost-effective alternative to documenting processes in-house. Please contact your FIO POC if you wish to explore this option further.

Business process documentation should be thorough, but not so detailed as to overwhelm a reader. To make efficient use of resources, documentation should focus on high-level activities, rather than on every activity within a process. A good rule of thumb is that the more essential a business process is to achieving an assessable unit's goals and objectives, the more critical it is for that process to be documented. In some cases, existing documentation, such as step-by-step procedures, can often be condensed into a few sentences describing the process. The goal is to convey enough information about each business process that the risks and controls are easily recognizable.

4. Identify Risks & Describe Control Activities

For an internal control program to be effective, management should identify the inherent risk in each documented business process. Inherent risk is the risk to an entity prior to considering management's response to the risk. Some inherent risk will likely be applicable to each business process within a PO. It may be helpful to identify this "cross-office" inherent risk first before focusing on the inherent risk applicable to a particular business process. Inherent risk is often revealed by asking questions like:

i. What can go wrong?
ii. How could we fail?
iii. How do we know whether we are achieving our objectives?
iv. On what information do we most rely?
v. What is our greatest legal exposure?
vi. Does past experience highlight any areas of particular concern (e.g., audit findings, fraud, etc.)?

Once the inherent risk to a business process has been identified, management should describe the methods (i.e., control activities) currently in place to manage them. Control activities are the actions management establishes through policies and procedures to achieve objectives and respond to risks in the internal control system, which includes the entity's information system. Control activities occur at all levels and functions. They include a wide range of activities such as training, procedures, approvals, authorizations, verifications, reconciliations, performance reviews, segregated duties, security measures, and the creation and maintenance of appropriate documentation. Typically, a control activity has the following characteristics:

i. It addresses the risk in question
ii. It is mandatory (i.e., addressed in policies and procedures)
iii. It is currently in operation (e.g., has occurred within the last 12 months)

5. Evaluation

Once the risks and control activities within each business process have been identified, management should describe their internal control monitoring processes—including day-to-day oversight and the periodic internal reviews or evaluations conducted. Management should take into account pertinent open external audits, actions taken as a result of audits and evaluations, and any noteworthy internal control accomplishments (such as on-going or completed corrective action plans). The evaluations may change from year to year, just as the risks and controls may change over time. The goal of the description is to convey the most recent actions management took to ensure the control activities associated with each business process are: (1) effectively designed, (2) operating as intended, and (3) effectively mitigating the applicable risks. If the evaluation reveals that the control activities for a particular process do not satisfy one or more of these three conditions, management should describe the severity of the problem and actions being undertaken to resolve the issue(s). Guidance for determining the materiality of deficiencies can be found in Part V: Guidelines for Assessing Materiality.

Operating Environment: FIO is responsible for managing the Department's indirect cost, post-audit, and internal control activities. FIO is comprised of three groups: (1) the Post Audit Group (PAG), (2) the Indirect Cost Group (ICG), and (3) the Internal Control and Operations Group (ICOG). Each group's Director is responsible for providing day-to-day oversight of the group's activities. PAG develops and implements Department policies related to audit follow-up, oversees the Department's external audit resolution operations, and resolves discretionary and formula grant audits for the Department. ICG develops and implements indirect cost policy and negotiates indirect cost rates with grantees for which the Department is the cognizant Federal agency. ICOG coordinates non-FSA improper payment risk assessments, oversees the internal audit resolution process, and manages the Department's internal control program.

FIO's goals and objectives for FY 2017 include…

Significant Business Processes

Business Processes	Process Owner	Process Documentation
1) Post-Audit Activities [Business Process 1]	PAG	Description: PAG is responsible for helping POs resolve audits by ensuring auditor recommendations are acted upon and expectations and requirements met in a timely manner.
a) Audit Follow-up [Sub-Process 1.1]	PAG Team Leaders	Description: When an A-133 audit results in findings, Audit Resolution Specialists in PAG assist POs address the recommendations and findings of the audit.
		Inherent Risks: A primary risk to the process arises when audit findings are not resolved within the six-month timeframe required by the Uniform Guidance (formerly OMB Circular A-133). Resolution delays negatively impact customer satisfaction and could result in the Department losing the ability to recover sustained questioned costs due to statute of limitations issues applicable to certain programs. Additionally, public perception of the Department could suffer as the status of audits and the timeliness in which A-133 audits are closed is reported to Congress semi-annually.
		Control Activities: In order to manage these risks, management has enacted the following control activities: regularly monitoring the status of audits through the audit accountability and resolution tracking system (AARTS); maintaining up-to-date Post-Audit Handbook policies that list the requirements imposed upon POs; delivering audit follow-up training for Department staff; automatically notifying POs of

Business Processes	Process Owner	Process Documentation
		upcoming audit matters through AARTS; and preparing and distributing a monthly report to POs that identifies the status of audits for each office.
		Evaluation: Upon evaluating these control activities, 32 unresolved A-133 audits were uncovered that were an average of 402 days overdue for resolution, far beyond the six month limit. It appears that monitoring of the AARTS system did not translate into action, nor did the tool in AARTS make up for deficiencies in staffing. In fact, among 23 of the 32 audits judgmentally selected for further inspection, 61% saw little to no audit resolution activity within the six months after issuance, due to insufficient accountability and monitoring of POs, as well as POs prioritizing other activities. Additionally, audit resolution specialists in PAG cited delays on those 23 audits due to the request and review of additional information from the auditee, suggesting a breakdown in coordination. There were also issues discovered related to the Post-Audit Handbook requirements. Some A-133 audits saw multiple administrative stays despite not meeting the requirements outlined in the Handbook. Notably, many of those stays were granted despite not meeting the documentation requirements. These issues indicate the Handbook is not an effective control in and of itself. Finally, the monthly report on audit status appears for information purposes only as POs are not required to respond or take action. The above findings suggest a significant deficiency in the A-133 audit follow-up process; current control activities are not sufficiently compensating for the risks inherent to the audit follow-up process. Management plans to enact the following control activities to improve its internal control: (1) eliminate the use of administrative stays; (2) change the process owner from PAG Team Leaders to the PAG Director to elevate monitoring and oversight; (3) convene quarterly meetings with PO officials to discuss reasons for overdue audits and plans for resolution; and (4) create internal and external audit resolution dashboards to help management in each PO monitor audit resolution progress. FIO management believes that once implemented, the above control activities will sufficiently manage the risks to the audit follow-up process.

Part V: Guidelines for Determining the Materiality of Deficiencies

I. Control Deficiency

A control deficiency exists when a control necessary to achieve desired outcome does not exist, or is not operating as intended. A control deficiency can be categorized as design deficiency or an operating deficiency.

- A design deficiency exists when a control necessary to reduce or eliminate potential risk is missing, or an existing control is not properly designed so that even if the control operates as designed, the established standards for reducing or eliminating potential risks is not always met.
- An operating deficiency exists when a properly designed control does not operate as designed, or when the person performing the control is not qualified or properly skilled to perform the control effectively.

II. Significant Deficiency

A significant deficiency is a deficiency or combination of deficiencies that, in management's judgment, could adversely affect the organization's ability to meet its internal control objectives.

III. Material Weakness

A material weakness is a reportable condition which the Secretary determines to be significant enough to report outside the Department. A principal office may propose a material weakness based on the following criteria:

- it significantly impairs the fulfillment of the Department's or principal office's mission;
- it deprives the public of needed services;
- it violates statutory or regulatory requirements;
- it significantly weakens safeguards against waste, loss, unauthorized use or misappropriation of funds, property or other assets;
- it results in a conflict of interest; OR
- it merits the attention of the Secretary, the Executive Office of the President, or the relevant Congressional oversight committee, or are of a nature that omission from the report could reflect adversely on the actual or perceived management integrity of the Department.

MEMORANDUM

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20202- _____

DATE: September 15, 2016

TO: Lynn B. Mahaffie
Deputy Assistant Secretary for Policy, Planning and Innovation
Delegated the Duties of Assistant Secretary for Postsecondary Education

FROM: Linda Byrd-Johnson, Ph.D.
Senior Director, Student Service
Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary for Higher Education Programs

SUBJECT: FY 2016 Federal Managers' Financial Integrity Act Assurance Letter

This letter provides the Higher Education Programs (HEP) fiscal year (FY) 2016 Federal Managers' Financial Integrity Act (FMFIA) assurance statement and summarizes noteworthy internal control and management improvement efforts in support of that assurance.

I certify, based on the information known to me, that my office maintains adequate and effective internal control over its operations and reporting. This assurance includes compliance with applicable laws and regulations, particularly those for which my office has primary responsibility for implementation.

Significant Deficiencies
My office has not identified significant deficiencies in FY 2016. In FY 2016, my office has resolved a significant deficiency identified in FY 2014. The Office of the Inspector General (OIG) issued a draft audit report in July 2014, and the final audit report on September 30, 2014 entitled, "Office of Postsecondary Education Duplication of Effort with Discretionary Grants" (ED-OIG/A06N0002). Three recommendations were made to the Acting Assistant Secretary for Postsecondary Education. The audit was resolved on November 24, 2014. To date, the Office of Postsecondary Education (OPE) successfully completed all seven corrective action items. The audit closure memorandum is dated April 14, 2016.

Material Weaknesses
My office has not identified material weaknesses in FY 2016.

Internal Operation Controls
This letter certifies that HEP maintains adequate and effective internal controls over its operations and is in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The internal controls provide reasonable assurance that:

- Program operations are efficiently and effectively carried out in accordance with applicable laws and management policy;
- Records management systems create, preserve, maintain, use, and dispose of Federal records wherever they reside in compliance with the requirements of the Federal Records

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Act of 1950, as amended, and applicable National Archives and Records Administration regulations, and ensure access to information by Department officials and the public, as appropriate;
- Purchase card transactions in FY 2016 were executed in compliance with the Government Charge Card Abuse Prevention Act of 2012;
- Key financial controls are in place to prevent financial misstatements;
- Key controls are in place to support non-financial reports;
- Financial transactions are conducted in compliance with applicable laws and regulations; and
- Funds, property, and other assets are safeguarded against waste, loss, unauthorized use, or misappropriation.

In support of the assurance provided in this letter, I would like to discuss the following internal control evaluation and monitoring processes within my office:

FY 2016 Grantee Risk Management Process

The Uniform Guidance issued by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) was adopted by the U.S. Department of Education in December 2014 and applies to new and continuation awards issued on or after December 26, 2014. According to Section 200.205(b), "For competitive grants or cooperative agreements, the Federal awarding agency must have in place a framework for evaluating the risks posed by applicants before they receive Federal awards." While the Uniform Guidance lists various factors that an agency may consider in conducting this assessment (e.g., financial stability, history of performance, audit findings), the specific details of implementation are left to agency discretion.

The HEP grantee risk management process in FY 2016 consisted of reviews of all new and non-competing continuation grant slates. The methodology, which includes the steps below, is consistent with the process used in FY 2015:

- Develop a single list of entities identified as having potential risk factors to be used during the review of FY 2016 slates. This list includes institutions that meet one or more of the following criteria:
  - Entities flagged as red in Decision Support System Entity Risk Review (DSS ERR) reports produced by Risk Management Service,
  - Entities with missing A-133 audits as indicated in DSS ERR reports,
  - Grantees included in the ED High Risk Report,
  - Grantees flagged as red in G5, signifying noncompliance with program requirements and/or indications of risk based on the knowledge and experience of program specialists responsible for monitoring grants, and
  - Institutions classified as "no longer accredited" or "with serious issues" by the Adverse Actions Report, which captures information about changes in accreditation status.

- HEP program offices submit award slates, including DUNS numbers, to the Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary for review prior to entering a slate into clearance.

- Each slate is checked to determine: 1) whether all entities proposed for funding were included in the original risk assessment described above, and 2) whether this risk assessment indicated any potential risk factors for those entities included in the slate.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- For those entities not included in the original risk assessment, an assessment is conducted at the time of the slate review to determine whether any of the potential risk factors exist.

- The Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary provides program offices with language to include in their slate memos indicating whether any grantees on the slate match those on the list of entities having potential risk factors.

This approach captures the factors that have been deemed most critical in identifying grantees as having potential risk factors and applies that information in a way that does not hinder the timely completion of the grant award process. HEP plans to continue to update the list each year, as it did in FY 2016.

Additional Internal Control Evaluation and Monitoring Processes

HEP has also worked to develop and maintain other processes for evaluating and improving internal controls and financial systems in our area. To further support the assurance in this letter, below are a few additional on-going and recent efforts.

- HEP continues conducting virtual and on-site visits to verify grantee compliance. Using both approaches to site visits has been beneficial and additional visits are anticipated in FY 2017. Additionally, regarding site visits, HEP intends to develop a monitoring plan for conducting site visits that will be used across all programs to assist in prioritizing grantees to be visited based on established risk factors. We expect that this on-going monitoring will allow early detection of possible problems, allow us to better identify grantees that may need assistance via an in-person or virtual visit, and ensure that we have a greater presence in the grantee community. Previously, we developed a monitoring guide. It is our expectation that the monitoring plan will be more specific and detailed in the instructions provided to program staff.

- In an effort to assist with timely, efficient, and effective implementation of the FY 2017 grant cycle, HEP initiated early discussions with reviewing offices. Budget Service, the Office of the General Counsel (OGC), and the Office of Planning, Evaluation and Policy Development (OPEPD), as well as OPE leaders, were invited to participate in early planning discussions. The positive results of these early meetings have already been reflected in the earlier clearance of Notices Inviting Applications (NIAs), as well as longer planned competition open periods for FY 2017 HEP program competitions. Ultimately, we expect these early discussions will yield improvements in the quality of applications received by HEP, as well as better workload management in FY 2017.

- In FY 2016, HEP continued the process of vetting NIAs through OGC, OPEPD, and other involved offices prior to sending them to the Division of Regulatory Services (DRS). Additionally, when matters needing to be resolved surfaced during the review, HEP worked with these offices to resolve all matters before returning NIAs to DRS to continue moving through the review process. Using this process, we continued to see a decrease in the number of times HEP NIAs had to be circulated for review. The result of this effort has been having notices of competitions announced to the public earlier. It also contributed to our increased open periods in HEP grant competitions.

Internal Control Issue
To further support the assurance provided in this letter, I also want to discuss the following internal control issue.

In FY 2016, OPE, including HEP, transitioned from a paper-based clearance process to the use of electronic workflows in Microsoft SharePoint. In particular, HEP utilized electronic workflows for grant slates and control correspondence. While this process was largely successful and represented a significant modernization of OPE's and HEP's operations, there were some challenges related to this transition, including:

- ensuring that the system design matched the current version of the clearance process, which changed throughout the year due to changes in personnel and routing configurations,
- acclimating staff to a new system after many years using the prior process (this was addressed by offering numerous training sessions and one-on-one desk-side support), and
- coordinating OPE's use of SharePoint with the Department's clearance process, which remained the same as it has been in past years.

HEP is continuing to work through the challenges of this new process, including adapting to elements beyond our control. One example is the recent migration from SharePoint 2010 to 2013, which was scheduled to happen over the Labor Day holiday weekend. While the majority of the migration was successful, there was a significant issue that has resulted (to date) in the OPE clearance workflows no longer being functional. Although we appreciate and acknowledge the work of assigned contractors and Department personnel in resolving the issue, since September 6th we have been unable to transmit documents for review and approval using OPE's clearance workflows. Still, during this time, we adjusted our procedures and have continued to move forward without any significant delays in our approval process. We remain optimistic about utilizing electronic workflows. It is our expectation that when fully utilized, they will represent an improvement to both the proficiency and efficiency of our work process.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide information regarding HEP's internal controls and management processes. To the best of my knowledge, the controls that HEP has in place provide reasonable assurance that we are operating in accordance with the Federal Managers' Financial Integrity Act.
